Marshall Cool To Russian Bid For Reparation

Rebukes Molotov For Accusations

MOSCOW, March 18 (AP) — Secretary of State George C. Marshall coldly rejected today Russia's bid for $10,000,000 reparations from Germany and rebuked the Soviet for charges that included a declaration that $10,000,000,000 in reparations have been removed from the Western Zones.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin joined Marshall in rebuking Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at a session of the Foreign Ministers Council and said flatly that the Russian diplomat's declarations "are not true."

In outlining the United States position on reparations, Marshall said:

"We will not follow the retreat of Mr. Molotov from Berlin (Potsdam) to Yalta."

Refers To Yalta Plan

The American Secretary was referring to Molotov's claim yesterday that the United States had agreed at Yalta to $10,000,000,000 reparations to the Soviet Union. No reparations figures were included in the subsequent Potsdam agreement.

The charge that $10,000,000,000 in reparations have been removed from the Western Zones has been made by the Soviet Press before and repeatedly denied by the British and Americans.

There was a noticeable cooling off in the atmosphere surrounding the council today. The coolness among the Big Four Representatives developed after French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault made a statement on France's position on economic unity.

Bidault, renewing France's demand for separation of the Ruhr, Rhineland and Saar from Germany, told the council that allied controls must be retained over Germany long after the peace settlement is concluded and the present occupation ends.

Molotov declared that the United States and Britain had taken all the gold and German assets in the west as well as patents and scientific information as reparation.

He also charged that France, Britain and America had taken reparations from current production in the form of lumber and coal, and that all these, "according to newspaper reports," amounted to over $10,000,000,000.

Bevin replied immediately that he had "read these charges in the Soviet press and had a good laugh over them."

The British Foreign Secretary added that, while he agreed with Marshall that recriminations should be avoided, he had to answer Molotov's charges because "they are not true."

Marshall then took up the fight and added that information had been placed in pamphlets of "which the Soviet Union had received the largest number."

As to the gold, Marshal said that the United States had never claimed ownership of it and that it was being held for distribution by the Interallied Reparations Agency in Brussels. Furthermore, he said, Hungary's gold already had been returned.

Referring to export of lumber and coal, Marshall said that all money that had been received had been "ploughed back" into Germany.

France also denied receiving any reparations from current German production and said that coal had been paid for in dollars which support the German economy.

Molotov at this point said his information on patents was based on a public statement of John Green, an executive secretary in the United States Department of Commerce.

At this suggestion, Marshall immediately produced a letter written by Green to the State Department in February of this year. Green was quoted as requesting Marshall to ask the Russians to make available scientific data that they had obtained from the Germans in the same manner as had the United States.

Wallace To Visit England

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP) — Henry A. Wallace said tonight he would fly to England April 7 to discuss with British leaders "ways of strengthening the United Nations and aiding an international program of reconstruction."

ADMITS 'DAHLIA' SLAYING— Chief of Detectives Leonard Murphy, St. Louis, Mo., police force, said a man identified as Melvin R. Bailey, (above) volunteered a story of killing Elizabeth Short, known in Los Angeles, Calif., as the Black Dahlia, last January.

Plan For United Military Forces Under Senate Fire

Forrestal Defends Truman's Program

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — President Truman's plan for unification of the nation's Armed Forces came under hot Senatorial fire today, while Navy Secretary Forrestal staunchly defended it as a "working co-partnership" for national defense.

Forrestal said the proposed bill "should prevent us from ever again coming face to face with a war for which we are unwarned or militarily unprepared."

Makes Appeal

Testifying as the first of a series of high government officials to appear before the Senate Armed Service Committee, Forrestal appealed to the lawmakers not to alter the plan, because, he said, any changes might wreck its "balance."

"It provides for the co-ordination of the three armed services," he said, "but what is to me even more important than that, it provides for the integration of foreign policy with national policy."

Senators Bridges (R-NH) and Byrd (D-Va) bombarded Forrestal with critical questions, demanding to know "why you have changed your position" since a year ago.

Recalling Forrestal's role in leading a solid opposition of Navy chiefs to a merger than last year, both Bridges and Byrd told him bluntly they were certain he "was right then."

Explains Opposition

Forrestal said he opposed last year's merger bill because he believed it would "destroy the navy" and endanger its Marine Corps and air power.

Bridges asked why some future single secretary of national defense —as provided by the Truman plan— might not do just that under his powers as a "super deluxe individual".

Maybe A Kingship

LONDON, March 18 (AP) — The London Gazette announced tonight that Prince Philip of Greece—whose name has often been linked romantically with Princess Elizabeth, heir presumptive to the throne — has been granted British citizenship under the name of Lieut. Philip Mountbatten.

California Police 'Not Yet Convinced'

ST. LOUIS, March 18 (AP)—Chief of Detectives Leonard Murphy said a 23-year-old youth being questioned for auto theft today suddenly volunteered a detailed story of killing Elizabeth Short—"The Black Dahlia"—in Los Angeles last January.

Chief Murphy said the youth, booked as Melvin R. Bailey, of Lemay, Mo., a St. Louis suburb, signed a statement giving details of the crime just before 7 p. m. (CST).

Murphy said Bailey, a tall, slender and taciturn young man with long, thick, dark brown hair, told of "cutting her up" with his commando knife the night of January 12 after a round of drinking in a Los Angeles bar, because she refused to go east with him.

Bailey was arrested on a highway near St. Louis February 12, with a male companion, for questioning about some stolen automobiles. They had a gun, and Murphy said Bailey told him they had "planned some holdups."

Traveled By Bus

He said he had come to St. Louis by bus from San Francisco just a few days after the killing.

He said he never knew the 22-year-old girl as "The Black Dahlia" —only as Elizabeth, Bet, and Blackie. Murphy said Bailey told of hauling the body around in a stolen car for a while after the slaying, in a "sparsely settled" part of Los Angles, and then of dumping it in a vacant lot and going on to Long Beach and changing into the clean clothes of a friend.

The girl's body was found cut in two. The case soon brought on a series of crank notes and false "confessions."

In Los Angeles Police Captain Jack Donahoe, after talking with Chief Murphy, said there were "certain discrepancies" in the story and he was not entirely convinced.

Chief Murphy said Bailey gave the following account:

Story Doesn't Jibe

He lived at Lemay, Mo., a St. Louis suburb, and said he had been in the Army, the Air Force and the Marines. (Here, Murphy said, the story did not jibe and was being checked further).

On January 12 he stole a 1938 sedan and that night he picked up Miss Short, took her to a bar, drove around with her a while and then took her to his room at the Palm Beach Hotel.

Later they went to the Seven Seas Cocktail Bar and met two soldiers. He drank coffee and took a drug with it.

The girl said she wanted to visit relatives at Springfield, Mo. He agreed to take her, but she changed her mind and refused to go.

They drove to a sparsely settled part of Los Angeles and there, he said, "I got out my commando knife and cut her up."

ODT Studies Shortage Of Rail Freight Cars

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — Industrial and railroad representatives were reported today to be working with the Office of Defense Transportation toward solution of the freight car shortage.

Warren C. Kendall, chairman of the Car Service Division of the Association of American Railroads, described the program to the Interstate Commerce Commission which is investigating the shortage.

Asserting that the only "lasting cure" for the situation is "an increase in the supply of cars," Kendall said "a task force of industrial and railroad representatives have been selected to work with the ODT in securing this result."

Navy Squadron To Visit Greek, Turkish Waters

Acheson Asks Speed To Halt Communism

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — The Navy today disclosed orders for a United States task force to visit Greek and Turkish waters—including the strategic Dardanelles—while the State Department called for speed on the Truman program to halt the spread of Communism.

A navy announcement, which spoke of "training purposes," said the 27,000-ton air craft carrier Leyte would depart from Quonset Point, R. I., early next month.

An official amplified this to say the Leyte would be the flagship of a group of warships including three light cruisers and six destroyers. A preliminary report from London named the cruisers as the Providence, Portsmouth and Dayton. Two destroyers will escort the Leyte across the Atlantic.

Navy Remains Quiet

There was not a word from the Navy to link the cruise with President Truman's request for aid to Greece and Turkey in resisting Communism. There were plenty of words elsewhere, however, with these major developments:

1. Dean Acheson, Undersecretary of State, said that Congressional speed is of great importance, that disaster may result in Greece if there is a substantial gap between the end of British aid and the start of American. He compared Greece to a runner who has been tripped and is falling.

2. Rep. Eaton (R-NJ), chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, introduced the bill to provide $400,000 for Greek and Turkish aid. It carried a strict stipulation that American military missions sent to help must be limited in number and serve only as advisors.

3. Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told the Senate that "bipartisan foreign policy would die" if Democratic or Republican lawmakers working in this field should follow "the political dictates of any party managers."

He thus rejected a suggestion by Gael Sullivan, Executive director of the Democratic National Committee, that Republican and Democratic party leaders join in a statement endorsing Mr. Truman on the Greek-Turkish program. Vandenberg recalled at the same time his statement that "we have no safe alternative but to uphold the President's hands."

Britain Quits March 31

Great Britain, which has been aiding the Greek Government in its hunger and fighting with border guerrillas, plans to end its economic aid March 31. Acheson said he does not mean that disaster will come if the United States does not begin aid April 1—but that it will come if the aid is delayed a substantial period.

He put it another way in a news conference discussion: if it becomes known that the United States is not ready to move in to help, consequences will follow which would make it infinitely more costly to put Greece back on her feet.

Acheson saw no conflict of policy in helping Hungary and Poland as well. He said Hungary does not have a Communist government and that as for Poland, there is danger of the people starving.

Old Car Owners Must Wait For New Tags

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP)—The State Department of Motor Vehicles today announced it is making 1947 license tags available to new Maryland residents and those acquiring new cars, but the plates are not yet ready for others.

"We're working day and night on it," said Commissioner W. Lee Elgin, "but we can't say yet when the new application forms will be ready."

The delay in distributing new license plates for Maryland cars stems from the General Assembly's action in rearranging license fees.

Under the new rates, drivers of cars weighing under 3,700 pounds will pay a $10 license fee and a $5 property tax for a total of $15. The fee on heavier cars is $15, with an $8 property tax boostnig the total to $23.

Taft Predicts Welfare Costs Of One Billion

More Homes Needed He Tells Committee

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today forecast an eventual $1,000,000,000-a-year federal budget for social welfare—education, health and housing —and declared the shortage of homes is a problem crying for attention.

Testifying before the Senate Banking Committee, Taft declared "we are going to have to do something soon" to get more homes.

Senator Robertson (D-Va) asked Taft if he would be willing to increase the national debt, now totalling $262,000,000,000, to take care of the Housing problem.

Wouldn't Hike Debt

"No," Taft replied firmly, "I would not."

Nevertheless, he said, the housing situation is a national problem and "nothing is closer to the welfare of the people."

"The government has done no job at all in the past," he said, "and private industry has never provided the necessary housing for lowest income groups."

Taft asserted that the emergency program set up by Congress last year to encourage production of scarce building materials has been "a complete failure."

"The justification for public housing is that we have to eliminate the disgraceful type of housing in which the lowest income families live," he said.

Taft was joined in his testimony by Senators Wagner (D-NY) and Ellender (D-La), co-sponsors of the Wagner - Ellender - Taft bill which sets up a goal of 15,000,000 new dwellings by 1958. Some of this construction would be public housing, built with the aid of federal money.

Stressing the need for public housing, Ellender cited industry opposition and declared:

Attitude Disturbing

"I find such an attitude very disturbing. In effect, it is a recommendation for the condemnation indefinitely of millions of our citizenry, through no fault of their own, to lives of squalor and disease."

Raymond M. Foley, national housing administrator, told the committee that while the W-E-T bill is "not perfect, I believe it would make it possible for this nation to start forward now with the kind of a housing program which has long been needed."

Taft estimated the housing program would ultimately cost $150,000,000 a year. He linked this outlay with proposed educational and health - assistance programs each costing $250,000,000 annually, and declared:

"It would not be too much to raise this to $1,000,000,000 a year when we have a federal budget of between $25,000,000,000 and $30,000,000,000 a year."

English Rivers Continue Rise

LONDON, March 18 (AP) — Rain and melting snow from Britain's worst winter in 50 years heightened the menace of flooded rivers tonight, driving additional thousands from their homes and inundating widening sections of at least 30 of England's 40 counties.

Fresh troops and volunteers were mobilized to rescue marooned families.

The Thames still was rising, and officials said there was no indication when a crest would be reached. Weather bureau observers reported all rivers in Lincolnshire on the East Coast and in three Midland Counties were past flood stage and still rising.

Two persons were drowned—an 11-year-old who was swept away in the River Trent and a householder whose rowboat capsized near Chertsey in the Thames Valley. Fifteen persons were killed by a hurricane which swept over England Sunday night and yesterday.

Union President Wounded, Wife Is Killed In Chicago

Believe Killer Thought Crowley Was Driving

CHICAGO, March 18 (AP) — A gunman, who apparently didn't bother to learn who was at the wheel of the car he stalked, shot and seriously wounded the president of the tempestous Chicago Bartenders Union early today and killed his wife.

Mrs. Elizabeth Crowley, 44, wife of James Crowley, 44, Union Local President, was slain by five shotgun volleys fired through the left front window of the Crowley car, where she sat at the wheel. Her husband, seated beside her, was struck in the left side and arm by six buckshot pellets.

Police Capt. George Barnes of the police labor detail said the assassin apparently assumed Crowley was in the driver's seat.

The couple had driven in front of their South Side home when the killer stepped to the car and opened fire. Crowley staggered from the car and called police from his apartment before he collapsed.

Police said Crowley told them "I haven't the slightest idea who wants to kill me."

Crowley was elected president of the AFL Union on January 6, 1941, after a court order placed it in receivership following charges it was dominated by remnants of the Al Capone Syndicate. The organization, which also had been dropped by the American Federation of Labor and the State Labor Federation, subsequently was discharged from receivership and reinstated as Local 278 of the AFL Bartenders and Beverage Dispensers Union.

Police Commissioner John C. Prendergast said he believed "inter-union troubles" were responsible for the shooting.

New Unemployment Bill Is Expected

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 18—(AP) —A bill to tighten up Maryland's unemployment compensation laws is expected to arrive on the House floor Thursday with a favorable report, a member of the Banking, Insurance and Social Security Committee said today.

At a committee hearing on the bill, Delegate Robinson (D-Balto 4th) called some of the changes contemplated in the system of administering benefits "punitive," while Senator Carter (D-Balto Third), a backer of the measure, decried too much reliance on social legislation as an "unhealthy policy."

Although some amendments are being suggested for the bill, most of the proponents expect it to be reported in almost the same form as originally drawn by the Legislative Council.

William S. Wilson, representing the Baltimore Association of Commerce, joined Carter in advocating the bill, while Stephen C. Cromwell, director of the unemployment compensation fund, told the committee $23,000,000 was paid in benefits last year, at an average of $18.79 a week.

Senate Delays Sales Tax Bill Until Tonight

Lane Makes Plea For Its Passage

ANNAPOLIS, March 18 (AP)—The Maryland Senate, with Governor Lane's supplemental budget bill newly placed before it, postponed again tonight its showdown battle on the two per cent sales tax bill.

Lane submitted at the afternoon session a supplemental budget calling for $28,365,290 in general fund appropriations for the next two years, thus making the budget total $119,420,833 from general funds.

He asked in addition $23,482,131 in special fund appropriations, to increase the total in that category to $99,835,331, or overall proposed state expenditures for 1948-49 to $219,256,165.

The two per cent sales levy, which Lane tied closely to the supplemental budget in his message, was scheduled as a special order of business at 9 p. m.

Delayed By Debate

It was delayed by a long debate which ended in passage of a bill to bar leasing of oyster beds in the Chesapeake Bay.

When the sales tax was called up, Senator George (D-Queen Anne's) moved for postponement until tomorrow night to allow further study of the supplemental budget.

This obviously was a tactical move, apparently in the hope that more support could be mustered for the tottering sales levy.

The 11-member Republican minority is on record as opposed to the bill and in favor of a substitute calling for large increases in personal and corporate income taxes, increases in beer and amusement taxes and levies on tobacco and soft drinks.

The minority said its plan would raise $25,000,000 a year, the amount Lane said was needed.

The Governor informed the General Assembly that his supplemental requests were contingent upon a number of revenue bills—including the highly controversial sales tax. It was doubtful, however, whether the sales tax would be voted into law.

Senator Kimble (R-Allegany), minority leader, said he had 15 votes against the sales tax, enough to defeat it.

"We've got the votes and they know we have."

All day Democrats were being called into Governor Lane's office in an apparent effort to solidify them in favor of the tax.

But privately administration forces had their doubts. Six prominent Democratic stalwarts admitted that they were uncertain about the sales tax. Several were definitely opposed in a personal way but party pressures might cause them to change their minds.

Senate President Byrnes (D-Balto Fifth) and Senator George (D-Queen Anne's) who had been chosen by the administration to carry on the fight for the sales tax, said they were not certain of what would happen tonight.

Both said a graduated income tax had been discussed as a substitute and that Attorney General Hall Hammond had expressed the opinion that it could be made law without a constitutional amendment.

The original income tax law required such an amendment. But Hammond warned there would probably be test cases brought against a graduated tax.

Bill To Be Presented

An administration spokesman said a bill calling for an amendment to the constitution specifically authorizing a graduated income tax would be presented within the next few days.

"If such an authorization were on the books now," he said, "perhaps all this to do about a sales tax wouldn't have been necessary."

In his message to the assembly, the Governor pleaded for passage of the sales tax law, declaring, "I have carefully considered the objections made to the passage of the bill imposing a two per cent sales tax, and I have also studied the recommendations made by the minority Senators in their resolutions submitted yesterday to the Senate of Maryland.

"I do not think it advisable to adopt any of these alternative proposals. I am convinced, as I inform-

Rebels Advance, Press Declares

ASUNCION, Paraguay, March 18 —(AP)—The Government of President Higinio Morinigo declared today that all of Paraguay was in a state of war.

This announcement came after government sources claimed that a number of soldiers had deserted the insurgent forces and surrendered to government troops operating between Asuncion, the capital, and Concepcion, the rebel stronghold.

Reports Denied

Reports that some infantry, artillery and naval units had refused duty when ordered to fight the insurrectionists were denied by the informants. They added that they had received word that food was becoming scarce in the territory held by the rebels.

Earlier, government sources had contended that many rebel units were under no command and others were holding their officers prisoner for opposing the "Communist ideologies" of the revolt.

Rebels Advance

Brazilian Press dispatches pictured the rebels as meeting with considerable success in the fighting. One account from the Brazilian town of Ponta Pora said that insurgent troops had gained control of the entire Paraguayan side of the Paraguayan-Brazilian border by capturing the towns of Bella Vista, Pedro Juan Caballero and Capitan Bado. The Paraguayan Government has conceded that the rebels have taken Bella Vista and Captain Bado as well as the upper Paraguay River stronghold of Pena Hermosa.

Reports received by the Brazilian War Ministry said that many refugees who fled into Brazil when the revolution broke out 12 days ago now are returning to Paraguay at the invitation of the insurgents. According to these accounts, the refugees, on crossing the border back into Paraguay, shouted: "Viva revolution!"

Rescued From Gulf

TAMPA, Fla., March 18 (AP)—A last chance flare today attracted an Army plane which rescued two exposure-blackened Virginians who had been adrift 11 days in the stormy Gulf of Mexico.

The two men, W. Horace Blanchard, 32, of Newport News, Va., and Charles King, 18, of Hampton, Va., told a story of long hours of exposure and hunger as they tossed about in their 22-foot cabin cruiser.

Navy Starts Pacific Search For Ft. Dearborn Crewmen

HONOLULU, March 18 (AP) — The Cruiser Tucson and 19 destroyers steamed out of Pearl Harbor today and sped north to search the Pacific for any survivors from the broken tanker, Fort Dearborn.

The gray warships were alerted last night by Adm. Louis E. Denfeld's Pacific Fleet Headquarters. Shortly after dawn they began moving out the Pearl Harbor channel to begin one of the greatest peacetime manhunts in Pacific maritime history.

With them were other ships of the Pacific Fleet which are returning to the west coast after a week's vacation following the United States Navy's first postwar maneuvers in this ocean.

But outside of the harbor, 20 fast fighting ships set their course around Oahu and headed Northwest. There was a slender chance that 12 or 13 men from the Dearborn still were alive in a lifeboat launched into the stormy seas six days ago.

The 20 warships joined long range military airplanes in the search. The aircraft began scanning thousands of miles of the Central Pacific after the tanker broke in two last Wednesday 1,100 miles Northwest of Oahu.

Meantime, 32 survivors—all of the remainder of the crew—were enroute to Honolulu or San Francisco aboard two rescue vessels. Two of them, in a dramatic 700-mile radio conversation with Associated Press correspondent Douglas Lovelace, said terror drove the missing men to lower a lifeboat and leap overside immediately after the midnight tanker tragedy.

The two, Chief Engineer John R. Dobbins, Long Beach, Calif., and Boatswain Hans Hansen, Richmond, Ind., said none of the survivors knows whether the lifeboat swamped in the heavy seas or was launched successfully.

Legality Of Lewis' Mine Foremen's Union Is Challenged By Operators

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—Two coal operatior challenged today the legality of the National Labor Relations Board's recognition of John L. Lewis' union for mine foremen.

And basing their arguments on the Supreme Court decision in the Lewis-United Mine Workers' contempt case, the companies attorneys asked the NLRB to withdraw its certification of the foremen's union.

The companies involved are the Ford Collieries of Curtisville, Pa., and the Buckeye Coal Company of Nemacolin, Pa., and Youngstown, Ohio.

Their attorneys contended the Supreme Court ruled the miners are not employes of the operators now, but are employes of the government, which seized the mines last May and has been operating them since.

"Since the National Labor Relations Act does not apply where the government is the employer," the attorneys told NLRB, "the board has no jurisdiction x x x."

Terms of the contract signed by Secretary of Interior Krug with Lewis to put the mines back in operation last May called for settlement of the controversy over unionization of supervisory workers by following NLRB decisions and procedures.

The union involved is the United Clerical, Technical and Supervisory Employes Union, a branch of the United Mine Workers' District 50.

After holding elections, NLRB certified the union as agent for 33 bosses and supervisors at Ford Collieries and 47 at the Buckeye Workings.

Senator O'Conor Proposes Study To End Tax Dollar Competition

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—A bipartisan study aimed at eliminating competition for the tax dollar among federal, state and local governments was proposed today by Senator O'Conor (D-Md).

He introduced legislation to establish a ten-man commission which would make recommendation to the President and Congress "with respect to integration and co-ordination of the tax structure of this country."

O'Conor said he believed such a study would benefit all classes of government and reduce overall taxation.

He added in a statement:

"Through this multiplicity of taxation we have come very close to killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. It is high time that ways and means be found to provide the taxpayers of the land with badly needed relief."

The commission would be instructed to report by January 31, 1948 with particular emphasis on:

1. Duplication and overlapping of taxes imposed by federal, state and local governments.

2 Conflicts which have arisen in the process of relating the tax laws of federal, state and local governments to one another.

3. Overlapping of the administration of federal, state and local government tax laws.

4 The nature and importance of tax immunities among federal, state and local governments.

Rebukes Molotov For Accusations

MOSCOW, March 18 (AP) — Secretary of State George C. Marshall coldly rejected today Russia's bid for $10,000,000 reparations from Germany and rebuked the Soviet for charges that included a declaration that $10,000,000,000 in reparations have been removed from the Western Zones.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin joined Marshall in rebuking Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at a session of the Foreign Ministers Council and said flatly that the Russian diplomat's declarations "are not true."

In outlining the United States position on reparations, Marshall said:

"We will not follow the retreat of Mr. Molotov from Berlin (Potsdam) to Yalta."

Refers To Yalta Plan

The American Secretary was referring to Molotov's claim yesterday that the United States had agreed at Yalta to $10,000,000,000 reparations to the Soviet Union. No reparations figures were included in the subsequent Potsdam agreement.

The charge that $10,000,000,000 in reparations have been removed from the Western Zones has been made by the Soviet Press before and repeatedly denied by the British and Americans.

There was a noticeable cooling off in the atmosphere surrounding the council today. The coolness among the Big Four Representatives developed after French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault made a statement on France's position on economic unity.

Bidault, renewing France's demand for separation of the Ruhr, Rhineland and Saar from Germany, told the council that allied controls must be retained over Germany long after the peace settlement is concluded and the present occupation ends.

Molotov declared that the United States and Britain had taken all the gold and German assets in the west as well as patents and scientific information as reparation.

He also charged that France, Britain and America had taken reparations from current production in the form of lumber and coal, and that all these, "according to newspaper reports," amounted to over $10,000,000,000.

Bevin replied immediately that he had "read these charges in the Soviet press and had a good laugh over them."

The British Foreign Secretary added that, while he agreed with Marshall that recriminations should be avoided, he had to answer Molotov's charges because "they are not true."

Marshall then took up the fight and added that information had been placed in pamphlets of "which the Soviet Union had received the largest number."

As to the gold, Marshal said that the United States had never claimed ownership of it and that it was being held for distribution by the Interallied Reparations Agency in Brussels. Furthermore, he said, Hungary's gold already had been returned.

Referring to export of lumber and coal, Marshall said that all money that had been received had been "ploughed back" into Germany.

France also denied receiving any reparations from current German production and said that coal had been paid for in dollars which support the German economy.

Molotov at this point said his information on patents was based on a public statement of John Green, an executive secretary in the United States Department of Commerce.

At this suggestion, Marshall immediately produced a letter written by Green to the State Department in February of this year. Green was quoted as requesting Marshall to ask the Russians to make available scientific data that they had obtained from the Germans in the same manner as had the United States.

LONDON, March 18 (AP) — The London Gazette announced tonight that Prince Philip of Greece—whose name has often been linked romantically with Princess Elizabeth, heir presumptive to the throne — has been granted British citizenship under the name of Lieut. Philip Mountbatten.

California Police 'Not Yet Convinced'

ST. LOUIS, March 18 (AP)—Chief of Detectives Leonard Murphy said a 23-year-old youth being questioned for auto theft today suddenly volunteered a detailed story of killing Elizabeth Short—"The Black Dahlia"—in Los Angeles last January.

Chief Murphy said the youth, booked as Melvin R. Bailey, of Lemay, Mo., a St. Louis suburb, signed a statement giving details of the crime just before 7 p. m. (CST).

Murphy said Bailey, a tall, slender and taciturn young man with long, thick, dark brown hair, told of "cutting her up" with his commando knife the night of January 12 after a round of drinking in a Los Angeles bar, because she refused to go east with him.

Bailey was arrested on a highway near St. Louis February 12, with a male companion, for questioning about some stolen automobiles. They had a gun, and Murphy said Bailey told him they had "planned some holdups."

Traveled By Bus

He said he had come to St. Louis by bus from San Francisco just a few days after the killing.

He said he never knew the 22-year-old girl as "The Black Dahlia" —only as Elizabeth, Bet, and Blackie. Murphy said Bailey told of hauling the body around in a stolen car for a while after the slaying, in a "sparsely settled" part of Los Angles, and then of dumping it in a vacant lot and going on to Long Beach and changing into the clean clothes of a friend.

The girl's body was found cut in two. The case soon brought on a series of crank notes and false "confessions."

In Los Angeles Police Captain Jack Donahoe, after talking with Chief Murphy, said there were "certain discrepancies" in the story and he was not entirely convinced.

Chief Murphy said Bailey gave the following account:

Story Doesn't Jibe

He lived at Lemay, Mo., a St. Louis suburb, and said he had been in the Army, the Air Force and the Marines. (Here, Murphy said, the story did not jibe and was being checked further).

On January 12 he stole a 1938 sedan and that night he picked up Miss Short, took her to a bar, drove around with her a while and then took her to his room at the Palm Beach Hotel.

Later they went to the Seven Seas Cocktail Bar and met two soldiers. He drank coffee and took a drug with it.

The girl said she wanted to visit relatives at Springfield, Mo. He agreed to take her, but she changed her mind and refused to go.

They drove to a sparsely settled part of Los Angeles and there, he said, "I got out my commando knife and cut her up."

ODT Studies Shortage Of Rail Freight Cars

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — Industrial and railroad representatives were reported today to be working with the Office of Defense Transportation toward solution of the freight car shortage.

Warren C. Kendall, chairman of the Car Service Division of the Association of American Railroads, described the program to the Interstate Commerce Commission which is investigating the shortage.

Asserting that the only "lasting cure" for the situation is "an increase in the supply of cars," Kendall said "a task force of industrial and railroad representatives have been selected to work with the ODT in securing this result."

Navy Squadron To Visit Greek, Turkish Waters

Acheson Asks Speed To Halt Communism

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — The Navy today disclosed orders for a United States task force to visit Greek and Turkish waters—including the strategic Dardanelles—while the State Department called for speed on the Truman program to halt the spread of Communism.

A navy announcement, which spoke of "training purposes," said the 27,000-ton air craft carrier Leyte would depart from Quonset Point, R. I., early next month.

An official amplified this to say the Leyte would be the flagship of a group of warships including three light cruisers and six destroyers. A preliminary report from London named the cruisers as the Providence, Portsmouth and Dayton. Two destroyers will escort the Leyte across the Atlantic.

Navy Remains Quiet

There was not a word from the Navy to link the cruise with President Truman's request for aid to Greece and Turkey in resisting Communism. There were plenty of words elsewhere, however, with these major developments:

1. Dean Acheson, Undersecretary of State, said that Congressional speed is of great importance, that disaster may result in Greece if there is a substantial gap between the end of British aid and the start of American. He compared Greece to a runner who has been tripped and is falling.

2. Rep. Eaton (R-NJ), chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, introduced the bill to provide $400,000 for Greek and Turkish aid. It carried a strict stipulation that American military missions sent to help must be limited in number and serve only as advisors.

3. Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told the Senate that "bipartisan foreign policy would die" if Democratic or Republican lawmakers working in this field should follow "the political dictates of any party managers."

He thus rejected a suggestion by Gael Sullivan, Executive director of the Democratic National Committee, that Republican and Democratic party leaders join in a statement endorsing Mr. Truman on the Greek-Turkish program. Vandenberg recalled at the same time his statement that "we have no safe alternative but to uphold the President's hands."

Britain Quits March 31

Great Britain, which has been aiding the Greek Government in its hunger and fighting with border guerrillas, plans to end its economic aid March 31. Acheson said he does not mean that disaster will come if the United States does not begin aid April 1—but that it will come if the aid is delayed a substantial period.

He put it another way in a news conference discussion: if it becomes known that the United States is not ready to move in to help, consequences will follow which would make it infinitely more costly to put Greece back on her feet.

Acheson saw no conflict of policy in helping Hungary and Poland as well. He said Hungary does not have a Communist government and that as for Poland, there is danger of the people starving.

Old Car Owners Must Wait For New Tags

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP)—The State Department of Motor Vehicles today announced it is making 1947 license tags available to new Maryland residents and those acquiring new cars, but the plates are not yet ready for others.

"We're working day and night on it," said Commissioner W. Lee Elgin, "but we can't say yet when the new application forms will be ready."

The delay in distributing new license plates for Maryland cars stems from the General Assembly's action in rearranging license fees.

Under the new rates, drivers of cars weighing under 3,700 pounds will pay a $10 license fee and a $5 property tax for a total of $15. The fee on heavier cars is $15, with an $8 property tax boostnig the total to $23.

Taft Predicts Welfare Costs Of One Billion

More Homes Needed He Tells Committee

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today forecast an eventual $1,000,000,000-a-year federal budget for social welfare—education, health and housing —and declared the shortage of homes is a problem crying for attention.

Testifying before the Senate Banking Committee, Taft declared "we are going to have to do something soon" to get more homes.

Senator Robertson (D-Va) asked Taft if he would be willing to increase the national debt, now totalling $262,000,000,000, to take care of the Housing problem.

Wouldn't Hike Debt

"No," Taft replied firmly, "I would not."

Nevertheless, he said, the housing situation is a national problem and "nothing is closer to the welfare of the people."

"The government has done no job at all in the past," he said, "and private industry has never provided the necessary housing for lowest income groups."

Taft asserted that the emergency program set up by Congress last year to encourage production of scarce building materials has been "a complete failure."

"The justification for public housing is that we have to eliminate the disgraceful type of housing in which the lowest income families live," he said.

Taft was joined in his testimony by Senators Wagner (D-NY) and Ellender (D-La), co-sponsors of the Wagner - Ellender - Taft bill which sets up a goal of 15,000,000 new dwellings by 1958. Some of this construction would be public housing, built with the aid of federal money.

Stressing the need for public housing, Ellender cited industry opposition and declared:

Attitude Disturbing

"I find such an attitude very disturbing. In effect, it is a recommendation for the condemnation indefinitely of millions of our citizenry, through no fault of their own, to lives of squalor and disease."

Raymond M. Foley, national housing administrator, told the committee that while the W-E-T bill is "not perfect, I believe it would make it possible for this nation to start forward now with the kind of a housing program which has long been needed."

Taft estimated the housing program would ultimately cost $150,000,000 a year. He linked this outlay with proposed educational and health - assistance programs each costing $250,000,000 annually, and declared:

"It would not be too much to raise this to $1,000,000,000 a year when we have a federal budget of between $25,000,000,000 and $30,000,000,000 a year."

English Rivers Continue Rise

LONDON, March 18 (AP) — Rain and melting snow from Britain's worst winter in 50 years heightened the menace of flooded rivers tonight, driving additional thousands from their homes and inundating widening sections of at least 30 of England's 40 counties.

Fresh troops and volunteers were mobilized to rescue marooned families.

The Thames still was rising, and officials said there was no indication when a crest would be reached. Weather bureau observers reported all rivers in Lincolnshire on the East Coast and in three Midland Counties were past flood stage and still rising.

Two persons were drowned—an 11-year-old who was swept away in the River Trent and a householder whose rowboat capsized near Chertsey in the Thames Valley. Fifteen persons were killed by a hurricane which swept over England Sunday night and yesterday.

SLAIN YOUTH'S FUNERAL— Schoolmates serve as pallbearers for Bobby Wahrman, 8, third grade pupil of Albany, N. Y., found hanging naked from a tree Saturday. A 14-year-old playmate, Carl De Flumer, is charged with first degree murder. Above classmates carry Bobby's body from Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church after Solemn Requiem Mass.

Union President Wounded, Wife Is Killed In Chicago

Believe Killer Thought Crowley Was Driving

CHICAGO, March 18 (AP) — A gunman, who apparently didn't bother to learn who was at the wheel of the car he stalked, shot and seriously wounded the president of the tempestous Chicago Bartenders Union early today and killed his wife.

Mrs. Elizabeth Crowley, 44, wife of James Crowley, 44, Union Local President, was slain by five shotgun volleys fired through the left front window of the Crowley car, where she sat at the wheel. Her husband, seated beside her, was struck in the left side and arm by six buckshot pellets.

Police Capt. George Barnes of the police labor detail said the assassin apparently assumed Crowley was in the driver's seat.

The couple had driven in front of their South Side home when the killer stepped to the car and opened fire. Crowley staggered from the car and called police from his apartment before he collapsed.

Police said Crowley told them "I haven't the slightest idea who wants to kill me."

Crowley was elected president of the AFL Union on January 6, 1941, after a court order placed it in receivership following charges it was dominated by remnants of the Al Capone Syndicate. The organization, which also had been dropped by the American Federation of Labor and the State Labor Federation, subsequently was discharged from receivership and reinstated as Local 278 of the AFL Bartenders and Beverage Dispensers Union.

Police Commissioner John C. Prendergast said he believed "inter-union troubles" were responsible for the shooting.

New Unemployment Bill Is Expected

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 18—(AP) —A bill to tighten up Maryland's unemployment compensation laws is expected to arrive on the House floor Thursday with a favorable report, a member of the Banking, Insurance and Social Security Committee said today.

At a committee hearing on the bill, Delegate Robinson (D-Balto 4th) called some of the changes contemplated in the system of administering benefits "punitive," while Senator Carter (D-Balto Third), a backer of the measure, decried too much reliance on social legislation as an "unhealthy policy."

Although some amendments are being suggested for the bill, most of the proponents expect it to be reported in almost the same form as originally drawn by the Legislative Council.

William S. Wilson, representing the Baltimore Association of Commerce, joined Carter in advocating the bill, while Stephen C. Cromwell, director of the unemployment compensation fund, told the committee $23,000,000 was paid in benefits last year, at an average of $18.79 a week.

Rebels Advance, Press Declares

ASUNCION, Paraguay, March 18 —(AP)—The Government of President Higinio Morinigo declared today that all of Paraguay was in a state of war.

This announcement came after government sources claimed that a number of soldiers had deserted the insurgent forces and surrendered to government troops operating between Asuncion, the capital, and Concepcion, the rebel stronghold.

Reports Denied

Reports that some infantry, artillery and naval units had refused duty when ordered to fight the insurrectionists were denied by the informants. They added that they had received word that food was becoming scarce in the territory held by the rebels.

Earlier, government sources had contended that many rebel units were under no command and others were holding their officers prisoner for opposing the "Communist ideologies" of the revolt.

Rebels Advance

Brazilian Press dispatches pictured the rebels as meeting with considerable success in the fighting. One account from the Brazilian town of Ponta Pora said that insurgent troops had gained control of the entire Paraguayan side of the Paraguayan-Brazilian border by capturing the towns of Bella Vista, Pedro Juan Caballero and Capitan Bado. The Paraguayan Government has conceded that the rebels have taken Bella Vista and Captain Bado as well as the upper Paraguay River stronghold of Pena Hermosa.

Reports received by the Brazilian War Ministry said that many refugees who fled into Brazil when the revolution broke out 12 days ago now are returning to Paraguay at the invitation of the insurgents. According to these accounts, the refugees, on crossing the border back into Paraguay, shouted: "Viva revolution!"

Rescued From Gulf

TAMPA, Fla., March 18 (AP)—A last chance flare today attracted an Army plane which rescued two exposure-blackened Virginians who had been adrift 11 days in the stormy Gulf of Mexico.

The two men, W. Horace Blanchard, 32, of Newport News, Va., and Charles King, 18, of Hampton, Va., told a story of long hours of exposure and hunger as they tossed about in their 22-foot cabin cruiser.

Senate Delays Sales Tax Bill Until Tonight

Lane Makes Plea For Its Passage

ANNAPOLIS, March 18 (AP)—The Maryland Senate, with Governor Lane's supplemental budget bill newly placed before it, postponed again tonight its showdown battle on the two per cent sales tax bill.

Lane submitted at the afternoon session a supplemental budget calling for $28,365,290 in general fund appropriations for the next two years, thus making the budget total $119,420,833 from general funds.

He asked in addition $23,482,131 in special fund appropriations, to increase the total in that category to $99,835,331, or overall proposed state expenditures for 1948-49 to $219,256,165.

The two per cent sales levy, which Lane tied closely to the supplemental budget in his message, was scheduled as a special order of business at 9 p. m.

Delayed By Debate

It was delayed by a long debate which ended in passage of a bill to bar leasing of oyster beds in the Chesapeake Bay.

When the sales tax was called up, Senator George (D-Queen Anne's) moved for postponement until tomorrow night to allow further study of the supplemental budget.

This obviously was a tactical move, apparently in the hope that more support could be mustered for the tottering sales levy.

The 11-member Republican minority is on record as opposed to the bill and in favor of a substitute calling for large increases in personal and corporate income taxes, increases in beer and amusement taxes and levies on tobacco and soft drinks.

The minority said its plan would raise $25,000,000 a year, the amount Lane said was needed.

The Governor informed the General Assembly that his supplemental requests were contingent upon a number of revenue bills—including the highly controversial sales tax. It was doubtful, however, whether the sales tax would be voted into law.

Senator Kimble (R-Allegany), minority leader, said he had 15 votes against the sales tax, enough to defeat it.

"We've got the votes and they know we have."

All day Democrats were being called into Governor Lane's office in an apparent effort to solidify them in favor of the tax.

But privately administration forces had their doubts. Six prominent Democratic stalwarts admitted that they were uncertain about the sales tax. Several were definitely opposed in a personal way but party pressures might cause them to change their minds.

Senate President Byrnes (D-Balto Fifth) and Senator George (D-Queen Anne's) who had been chosen by the administration to carry on the fight for the sales tax, said they were not certain of what would happen tonight.

Both said a graduated income tax had been discussed as a substitute and that Attorney General Hall Hammond had expressed the opinion that it could be made law without a constitutional amendment.

The original income tax law required such an amendment. But Hammond warned there would probably be test cases brought against a graduated tax.

Bill To Be Presented

An administration spokesman said a bill calling for an amendment to the constitution specifically authorizing a graduated income tax would be presented within the next few days.

"If such an authorization were on the books now," he said, "perhaps all this to do about a sales tax wouldn't have been necessary."

In his message to the assembly, the Governor pleaded for passage of the sales tax law, declaring, "I have carefully considered the objections made to the passage of the bill imposing a two per cent sales tax, and I have also studied the recommendations made by the minority Senators in their resolutions submitted yesterday to the Senate of Maryland.

"I do not think it advisable to adopt any of these alternative proposals. I am convinced, as I informe-

Navy Starts Pacific Search For Ft. Dearborn Crewmen

HONOLULU, March 18 (AP) — The Cruiser Tucson and 19 destroyers steamed out of Pearl Harbor today and sped north to search the Pacific for any survivors from the broken tanker, Fort Dearborn.

The gray warships were alerted last night by Adm. Louis E. Denfeld's Pacific Fleet Headquarters. Shortly after dawn they began moving out the Pearl Harbor channel to begin one of the greatest peacetime manhunts in Pacific maritime history.

With them were other ships of the Pacific Fleet which are returning to the west coast after a week's vacation following the United States Navy's first postwar maneuvers in this ocean.

But outside of the harbor, 20 fast fighting ships set their course around Oahu and headed Northwest. There was a slender chance that 12 or 13 men from the Dearborn still were alive in a lifeboat launched into the stormy seas six days ago.

The 20 warships joined long range military airplanes in the search. The aircraft began scanning thousands of miles of the Central Pacific after the tanker broke in two last Wednesday 1,100 miles Northwest of Oahu.

Meantime, 32 survivors—all of the remainder of the crew—were enroute to Honolulu or San Francisco aboard two rescue vessels. Two of them, in a dramatic 700-mile radio conversation with Associated Press correspondent Douglas Lovelace, said terror drove the missing men to lower a lifeboat and leap overside immediately after the midnight tanker tragedy.

The two, Chief Engineer John R. Dobbins, Long Beach, Calif., and Boatswain Hans Hansen, Richmond, Ind., said none of the survivors knows whether the lifeboat swamped in the heavy seas or was launched successfully.

Senator O'Conor Proposes Study To End Tax Dollar Competition

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—A bipartisan study aimed at eliminating competition for the tax dollar among federal, state and local governments was proposed today by Senator O'Conor (D-Md).

He introduced legislation to establish a ten-man commission which would make recommendation to the President and Congress "with respect to integration and co-ordination of the tax structure of this country."

O'Conor said he believed such a study would benefit all classes of government and reduce overall taxation.

He added in a statement:

"Through this multiplicity of taxation we have come very close to killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. It is high time that ways and means be found to provide the taxpayers of the land with badly needed relief."

The commission would be instructed to report by January 31, 1948 with particular emphasis on:

1. Duplication and overlapping of taxes imposed by federal, state and local governments.

2 Conflicts which have arisen in the process of relating the tax laws of federal, state and local governments to one another.

3. Overlapping of the administration of federal, state and local government tax laws.

4 The nature and importance of tax immunities among federal, state and local governments.

Legality Of Lewis' Mine Foremen's Union Is Challenged By Operators

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—Two coal operator challenged today the legality of the National Labor Relations Board's recognition of John L. Lewis' union for mine foremen.

And basing their arguments on the Supreme Court decision in the Lewis-United Mine Workers' contempt case, the companies attorneys asked the NLRB to withdraw its certification of the foremen's union.

The companies involved are the Ford Collieries of Curtisville, Pa., and the Buckeye Coal Company of Nemacolin, Pa., and Youngstown, Ohio.

Their attorneys contended the Supreme Court ruled the miners are not employes of the operators now, but are employes of the government, which seized the mines last May and has been operating them since.

"Since the National Labor Relations Act does not apply where the government is the employer," the attorneys told NLRB, "the board has no jurisdiction x x x."

Terms of the contract signed by Secretary of Interior Krug with Lewis to put the mines back in operation last May called for settlement of the controversy over unionization of supervisory workers by following NLRB decisions and procedures.

The union involved is the United Clerical, Technical and Supervisory Employes Union, a branch of the United Mine Workers' District 50.

After holding elections, NLRB certified the union as agent for 33 bosses and supervisors at Ford Collieries and 47 at the Buckeye Workings.

William Durant, Auto Pioneer, Dies In New York

Once Controlled General Motors

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—William C. Durant, 85, pioneer in the nation's giant automobile industry who accumulated $90,000,000 after starting work for 75 cents a day, and twice controlled General Motors, died today with nearly all of his fortune evaporated.

Always a "Bull market" operator who scorned to sell any of his companies short, Durant was largely responsible for developing the Buick and Chevrolet Companies which became important components of General Motors.

Depression Strikes

But panics and depressions in 1910, 1920 and 1929 found him unable to stem the tide and he lost control of all of his big enterprises. In 1936, he filed a bankruptcy petition which listed $250 in assets, $914,231 in liabilities.

Durant had been ill since 1942 but he kept his interest in the future of American enterprise. At his birthday last Dec. 8, he predicted a big future for American industry at home and abroad.

His friends always considered him a man who could sell anything, an indefatigable worker who sometimes put in 18 hours a day at his desk, an eternal optimist, always bursting with ideas.

Young Durant went to work in his grandfather's general store at 17 for 75 cents a day. Soon he had his first salesman's job, with patent medicines and later cigars as his wares. He did exceptionally well, but quit because he disliked tobacco.

Had Carriage Business

In 1886, when 25, he scraped together $1,000 and became a partner in a carriage business which eventually manufactured 150,000 units in a year. The automobile killed this firm in 1910 but Durant already was well entrenched in the new "gas buggy" business.

He had taken over the Flint wagon works in 1904 and organized out of it the Buick Motor Co. with a capital of $10,000,000. Profits multiplied and in 1908 Durant sought to gain control of the entire new industry with the purchase of several important companies.

The Ford interests asked $8,000,000, however, and Durant could not swing it. He organized General Motors, only to lose control of it in the 1910 recession.

Knutson Tax Bill May Be Revived

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — Rep. Knutson (R-Minn), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, announced today his 20 per cent across the board tax-cutting bill may be revised to give greater relief for tax-payers in the smaller income brackets.

Some Republicans and Democrats have criticized Knutson's bill as not reducing the "little fellow's" burden enough.

Knutson told reporters that net incomes up to $2,000 (gross income less pesonal exemptions) might be cut by 23 to 26 per cent, instead of 20 per cent, if the government would not lose too much revenue by such a step.

A House showdown on tax cutting, originally set for next Monday, will probably be postponed to Wednesday.

Wheat Hits $3 Twice In 99 Years

CHICAGO, March 18—(AP)—Three dollar wheat was recorded for the second time in the 99-year history of the board of trade today when the March delivery sold for $3.05 a bushel at the opening of grain futures trading.

The only other year in which the $3 mark was reached was in 1917 when the price of $3.25 prevailed for four days in early May.

After the peak was reached today, however, prices tumbled 18½ cents a bushel, on reports that the government was making more wheat available for immediate delivery. The March contract closed at $2.86½, down ten cents—the daily limit—from Monday's close.

Color Television Permit Denied

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—The Communications Commission denied today the application of the Columbia Broadcasting Company, to operate commercial color television stations under a system developed by the company.

Saying it does not desire to minimize the advances made in the development of color television, the commission held nevertheless that "many of the fundamentals of a color television system have not been adequately field tested and need exists for further experimentation."

SINGING DEBUT—It is estimated that a radio audience of about 15,000,000 heard Margaret Truman, the President's daughter, make her debut as a coloratura soprano with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. ed you February 19 that the proper solution of our problem at this time requires the adoption of the sales tax. If we are to put our educational system on a plane where it can be favorably compared with those of other states, we must provide the funds x x x."

He noted that the proposed roads program required an increase in gasoline taxes.

His actual supplemental requests from general funds for 1948 came to $12,956,788 and for 1949 to $15,408,502. Those from special funds in 1948 were $11,591,956 and for 1949 totaled $11,890,175.

These requests were contingent upon passage of this revenue legislation: the two per cent sales tax; the State Highway Act, with a four to five cents a gallon gasoline tax increase; about 12 bills increasing teachers' and school officials' pay, changing provisions establishing the equalization fund; providing for basic state aid per pupil and per class room unit and establishing an incentive fund for buildings.

Lane reported that the Department of Education requests for additional funds, after reductions, had been set at $11,108,371 for 1948 and $12,835,303 for 1949.

Colleges Included

Of important additional general fund increases requested, Lane included $959,541 for the University of Maryland for 1948 and $1,581,704 for 1949; for Morgan College $101,720 for 1948 and $107,474 for 1949; for the State Health Department, including the medical care program, $337,366, for 1948.

The governor said that supplementary requests for special funds were "substantially those needed for realization of the roads program x x x for instance, the proposed appropriation from special funds for the year 1948 is $11,591,956, of which $6,240,707 is for the roads program and $2,474,176 represents additional payments to Baltimore City. x x x."

The balance included $350,000, the estimated administrative costs of the sales tax; $225,000 for Baltimore City and the counties' share of the admissions taxes as recommended by the Sherbow Report; $623,010 income tax shares for Baltimore and the counties, also recommended by the Sherbow Commission; $90,528 for the Department of Motor Vehicles and $30,790 for estimated student fees at Morgan College.

Lane said he could recommend enacting the Sherbow report into law only by "using in this biennium the estimated receipts in the fiscal year 1949 of two payments (April and June) on the increased income taxes." He had earlier recommended income tax rate increases of two to 2¾ per cent for individuals and 1½ to 3½ per cent for corporations.

After the night session, Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany) said that Democrats had held a two-hour caucus, with the only apparent result that a decision was reached to "seek another 24-hour respite."

Kimble said "the strategy has been changed" and that Republican Senators would be called into the governor's office "one by one" in an effort to change their stand.

He added that "when he has called the last Republican, the Governor will find 11 men standing good and true against the sales tax."

Woman 105 Dies

WIKES-BARRE, Pa., March 18—(AP)—Mrs. Petronella Gloss, oldest resident of this area, died today at the age of 105. She was the mother of 12 children three of whom survive, and until a week ago lived in comparatively good health. Born in Poland, Mrs. Gloss came to this country with her husband in 1879.

Tydings Would Reduce Armament

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — Senator Tydings (D-Md) urged today that President Truman call a world disarmament conference to prevent a third World War which, he said, might destroy "this planet itself."

Tyding set a goal for universal disarmament "on land, on sea and in the air" by January 1, 1950, and "maintained thereafter by all the countries of the earth."

Except for limited small arms to maintain order, he proposed in a Senate speech that the manufacture, storage and possession of all other weapons, ammunition and munitions of war be prohibited.

Tydings told the Senate an immediate decision should be made either to keep the United States fully prepared for war in all categories, including the atomic bomb, or to have total disarmament for all the nations on the globe.

Bluntly he called the United Nations as presently constituted "a hollow shell . . . a glorified debating society" with no police force to enforce its decrees.

He insisted that the United States "should and must take the lead" in promoting disarmament, but must not strip itself of its vital defenses unless the rest of the world will go along.

He introduced a resolution authorizing President Truman to invite other nations to a disarmament conference.

Congress Aiding Allis-Chalmers, Union Charges

Predict Strike Will Last "A Long Time"

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 18. (AP) —Leaders of the CIO United Auto Workers today charged that a Congressional sub-Committee, which has been probing affairs of the strikebound Allis-Chalmers UAW Local, "has sought to serve the corporation and break the strike."

George F. Addess, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, denounced the "Congressional witch-hunt" and called for support from all unions to effect successful settlement of the strike.

His declarations came a short time after Robert Buse, president of the Allis-Chalmers Local 248, emerged from a meeting of the international Executive Board and declared "there will be no peace in the Allis-Chalmers strike situation for a long while yet."

Buse and three other local officials were questioned by the 22-man board for nearly an hour on recent developments in the strike and then Buse was recalled for private questioning.

Addess, who conducted a press conference in the absence of President Walter P. Reuther, declared "there is no question that Allis-Chalmers is out to break the union."

Buse, both at the board meeting and at discussions with newspapermen, again denied that he or Harold Christoffel, honorary president of the Local, ever held membership in the Communist party.

A sub-committee of the House Committee on Education and Labor is conducting an inquiry at Milwaukee to determine whether Buse and Christoffel perjured themselves at a Washington hearing when they denied being Communists.

Fuller Hopes To Halt Big 4 Rubber-Strike

AKRON, O., March 8 (AP) — Paul W. Fuller, resident conciliator for the rubber industry, was attempting tonight to arrange another meeting to head off a strike set for Sunday night against the "Big Four" Rubber Companies.

He talked today with officers of the CIO United Rubber Workers Union, whose policy committee yesterday set the deadline for a walkout in plants of Goodyear, Goodrich, Firestone and United States Rubber.

Fuller also planned to talk with representatives of the four companies.

Union President L. S. Buckmaster said today, before seeing Fuller, "We are still ready to meet, still ready to bargain in good faith on the wage issue. Why don't the companies do the same?"

MISS PANTHER—Miss Margaret Ann Hull, a member of the senior class of Parsons high school and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hull, parsons, was crowned as "Miss Panther" at coronation ceremonies held at the school Friday. The ceremonies were held during a special assembly with the Boy Scouts giving the Flag salute. Princesses were Dorothy Gilmore, Betty Don McDonald, Mildred Coberly, Sally Ann English, Kathleen Moore and Joan Arnold. They were presented with their escorts, who were members of the Hi-Y of that school. The next to be presented was little Nancy Barb, Brady Lynn Stephenson, Jo Ellen Oaster and Annalee Bishoff as flower girls followed by the Crown bearer, little Madonna Bowley. The high school orchestra played the coronation music as "Miss Panther" was presented. Jason Wolford crowned the Queen.

Optometry Bill Studied By State Senate Committee

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 18—(AP) —Passage of a bill to regulate the practice of optometry would protect the public and elevate optometrists to "the position where they belong," the Senate Judiciary Committee was told today.

At the same time, counsel for two optical companies charged that the bill would prevent their clients from employing optometrists to give services in connection with the manufacture of glasses, impinge on their right to advertise and prohibit them from retaining physicians for optometric aid.

The dispute over the bill's merits returned continually to an argument over the practices of the New Deal Optical Company and Universal Optical Stores Company of Baltimore, although the Batlimore Jewelry Stores Association, through Melvin Erlanger, opposed the measure as damaging to many concerns who hire optometrists.

One of the bill's proponents was Dr. Israel Dvorine, a Baltimore optometrist who was involved in a legal fight 10 years ago, resulting in a Court of Appeals opinion that optometry was a "mechanical art."

The bill would describe it as a "learned profession" and, while closely limiting the scope of optometric advertising, would place optometrists "on a parity with other professional persons."

William Durant, Auto Pioneer, Dies In New York

Once Controlled General Motors

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—William C. Durant, 85, pioneer in the nation's giant automobile industry who accumulated $90,000,000 after starting work for 75 cents a day, and twice controlled General Motors, died today with nearly all of his fortune evaporated.

Always a "Bull market" operator who scorned to sell any of his companies short, Durant was largely responsible for developing the Buick and Chevrolet Companies which became important components of General Motors.

Depression Strikes

But panics and depressions in 1910, 1920 and 1929 found him unable to stem the tide and he lost control of all of his big enterprises. In 1936, he filed a bankruptcy petition which listed $250 in assets, $914,231 in liabilities.

Durant had been ill since 1942 but he kept his interest in the future of American enterprise. At his birthday last Dec. 8, he predicted a big future for American industry at home and abroad.

His friends always considered him a man who could sell anything, an indefatigable worker who sometimes put in 18 hours a day at his desk, an eternal optimist, always bursting with ideas.

Young Durant went to work in his grandfather's general store at 17 for 75 cents a day. Soon he had his first salesman's job, with patent medicines and later cigars as his wares. He did exceptionally well, but quit because he disliked tobacco.

Had Carriage Business

In 1886, when 25, he scraped together $1,000 and became a partner in a carriage business which eventually manufactured 150,000 units in a year. The automobile killed this firm in 1910 but Durant already was well entrenched in the new "gas buggy" business.

He had taken over the Flint wagon works in 1904 and organized out of it the Buick Motor Co. with a capital of $10,000,000. Profits multiplied and in 1908 Durant sought to gain control of the entire new industry with the purchase of several important companies.

The Ford interests asked $8,000,000, however, and Durant could not swing it. He organized General Motors, only to lose control of it in the 1910 recession.

Knutson Tax Bill May Be Revived

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — Rep. Knutson (R-Minn), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, announced today his 20 per cent across the board tax-cutting bill may be revised to give greater relief for tax-payers in the smaller income brackets.

Some Republicans and Democrats have criticised Knutson's bill as not reducing the "little fellow's" burden enough.

Knutson told reporters that net incomes up to $2,000 (gross income less pesonal exemptions) might be cut by 23 to 26 per cent, instead of 20 per cent, if the government would not lose too much revenue by such a step.

A House showdown on tax cutting, originally set for next Monday, will probably be postponed to Wednesday.

Wheat Hits $3 Twice In 99 Years

CHICAGO, March 18—(AP)—Three dollar wheat was recorded for the second time in the 99-year history of the board of trade today when the March delivery sold for $3.05 a bushel at the opening of grain futures trading.

The only other year in which the $3 mark was reached was in 1917 when the price of $3.25 prevailed for four days in early May.

After the peak was reached today, however, prices tumbled 18½ cents a bushel, on reports that the government was making more wheat available for immediate delivery. The March contract closed at $2.86½, down ten cents—the daily limit—from Monday's close.

Color Television Permit Denied

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—The Communications Commission denied today the application of the Columbia Broadcasting Company, to operate commercial color television stations under a system developed by the company.

Saying it does not desire to minimize the advances made in the development of color television, the commission held nevertheless that "many of the fundamentals of a color television system have not been adequately field tested and need exists for further experimentation."

SINGING DEBUT—It is estimated that a radio audience of about 15,000,000 heard Margaret Truman, the President's daughter, make her debut as a coloratura soprano with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Above, Miss Truman is presented with a bouquet of flowers by Dr. Karl Krueger, director of the orchestra.

Senate Delays

ed you February 19 that the proper solution of our problem at this time requires the adoption of the sales tax. If we are to put our educational system on a plane where it can be favorably compared with those of other states, we must provide the funds x x x."

He noted that the proposed roads program required an increase in gasoline taxes.

His actual supplemental requests from general funds for 1948 came to $12,956,788 and for 1949 to $15,408,502. Those from special funds in 1948 were $11,591,956 and for 1949 totaled $11,890,175.

These requests were contingent upon passage of this revenue legislation: the two per cent sales tax; the State Highway Act, with a four to five cents a gallon gasoline tax increase; about 12 bills increasing teachers' and school officials' pay, changing provisions establishing the equalization fund; providing for besic state aid per pupil and per class room unit and establishing an incentive fund for buildings.

Lane reported that the Department of Education requests for additional funds, after reductions, had been set at $11,108,371 for 1948 and $12,835,303 for 1949.

Colleges Included

Of important additional general fund increases requested, Lane included $959,541 for the University of Maryland for 1948 and $1,581,704 for 1949; for Morgan College $101,720 for 1948 and $107,474 for 1949; for the State Health Department, including the medical care program, $337,366, for 1948.

The governor said that supplementary requests for special funds were "substantially those needed for realization of the roads program x x x for instance, the proposed appropriation from special funds for the year 1948 is $11,591,956, of which $6,240,707 is for the roads program and $2,474,176 represents additional payments to Baltimore City. x x x."

The balance included $350,000, the estimated administrative costs of the sales tax; $225,000 for Baltimore City and the counties' share of the admissions taxes as recommended by the Sherbow Report; $623,010 income tax shares for Baltimore and the counties, also recommended by the Sherbow Commission; $90,528 for the Department of Motor Vehicles and $30,790 for estimated student fees at Morgan College.

Lane said he could recommend enacting the Sherbow report into law only by "using in this biennium the estimated receipts in the fiscal year 1949 of two payments (April and June) on the increased income taxes." He had earlier recommended income tax rate increases of two to 2¾ per cent for individuals and 1½ to 3½ per cent for corporations.

After the night session, Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany) said that Democrats had held a two-hour caucus, with the only apparent result that a decision was reached to "seek another 24-hour respite."

Kimble said "the strategy has been changed" and that Republican Senators would be called into the governor's office "one by one" in an effort to change their stand.

He added that "when he has called the last Republican, the Governor will find 11 men standing good and true against the sales tax."

Woman 105 Dies

WIKES-BARRE, Pa., March 18—(AP)—Mrs. Petronella Gloss, oldest resident of this area, died today at the age of 105. She was the mother of 12 children three of whom survive, and until a week ago lived in comparatively good health. Born in Poland, Mrs. Gloss came to this country with her husband in 1879.

Tydings Would Reduce Armament

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — Senator Tydings (D-Md) urged today that President Truman call a world disarmament conference to prevent a third World War which, he said, might destroy "this planet itself."

Tyding set a goal for universal disarmament "on land, on sea and in the air" by January 1, 1950, and "maintained thereafter by all the countries of the earth."

Except for limited small arms to maintain order, he proposed in a Senate speech that the manufacture, storage and possession of all other weapons, ammunition and munitions of war be prohibited.

Tydings told the Senate an immediate decision should be made either to keep the United States fully prepared for war in all categories, including the atomic bomb, or to have total disarmament for all the nations on the globe.

Bluntly he called the United Nations as presently constituted "a hollow shell . . . a glorified debating society" with no police force to enforce its decrees.

He insisted that the United States "should and must take the lead" in promoting disarmament, but must not strip itself of its vital defenses unless the rest of the world will go along.

He introduced a resolution authorizing President Truman to invite other nations to a disarmament conference.

Congress Aiding Allis-Chalmers, Union Charges

Predict Strike Will Last "A Long Time"

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 18. (AP) —Leaders of the CIO United Auto Workers today charged that a Congressional sub-Committee, which has been probing affairs of the strikebound Allis-Chalmers UAW Local, "has sought to serve the corporation and break the strike."

George F. Addess, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, denounced the "Congressional witch-hunt" and called for support from all unions to effect successful settlement of the strike.

His declarations came a short time after Robert Buse, president of the Allis-Chalmers Local 248, emerged from a meeting of the international Executive Board and declared "there will be no peace in the Allis-Chalmers strike situation for a long while yet."

Buse and three other local officials were questioned by the 22-man board for nearly an hour on recent developments in the strike and then Buse was recalled for private questioning.

Addess, who conducted a press conference in the absence of President Walter P. Reuther, declared "there is no question that Allis-Chalmers is out to break the union."

Buse, both at the board meeting and at discussions with newspapermen, again denied that he or Harold Christoffel, honorary president of the Local, ever held membership in the Communist party.

A sub-committee of the House Committee on Education and Labor is conducting an inquiry at Milwaukee to determine whether Buse and Christoffel perjured themselves at a Washington hearing when they denied being Communists.

Fuller Hopes To Halt Big 4 Rubber-Strike

AKRON, O., March 8 (AP) — Paul W. Fuller, resident conciliator for the rubber industry, was attempting tonight to arrange another meeting to head off a strike set for Sunday night against the "Big Four" Rubber Companies.

He talked today with officers of the CIO United Rubber Workers Union, whose policy committee yesterday set the deadline for a walkout in plants of Goodyear, Goodrich, Firestone and United States Rubber.

Fuller also planned to talk with representatives of the four companies.

Union President L. S. Buckmaster said today, before seeing Fuller, "We are still ready to meet, still ready to bargain in good faith on the wage issue. Why don't the companies do the same?"

Wholesale Liquor Store Bill Has Wide Appeal

Sentiment for a wholesale liquor store to be operated for the benefit of the taxpayers of Allegany County would seem to have overwhelming support among the rank and file of the people, but pressure from the minority, made up of those engaged in or associated with the retail and wholesale of whisky, continues on members of the Allegany County delegation to bring about its defeat.

It is very evident that a desperate fight will be made by this so-called minority group against the measure, although they, as well as every taxpayer in the county, will stand to benefit by the proposed store should it produce the estimated $300,000 in revenue to the county, by making possible holding the tax rate at its present figure, or reducing it.

Word from Annapolis is to the effect that the measure has a good chance of receiving a favorable report by the House ways and means committee in its present form, and those interested in the bill are of the opinion it will have little trouble passing the lower branch of the state legislature.

But during the past few days Delegate Whitworth, chairman of the Allegany County delegation, has been further harassed by protests from groups in Allegany County, and others, against the proposed method of naming the advisory board for the project, and which would be empowered to appoint a manager. Otherwise, they approve the bill as it stands.

Delegate Whitworth is being urged to amend his measure to provide that this be placed in the hands of the County Commissioners, rather than to have the board named by the Governor, although the bill makes it mandatory on the Governor to name two members to the board from among those affiliated with the political party whose candidate for governor in the last previous election polled a majority of the votes in Allegany County.

The one plan on which all probably could have agreed would have been to delegate this task to the Judges of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, but inasmuch as the Court of Appeals decision holding the county's liquor control law unconstitutional, because the Court had been named to perform a non-judicial task as the dispenser of liquor licenses, makes that impossible, apparently.

It should be the purpose of the measure to remove the operation of the proposed liquor store as far as possible from politics, and it should be the desire of everyone to make it as certain as is possible that it not become a political football. For that reason we are inclined to agree with Chairman Whitworth in his belief that that might come nearer a possibility by delegating the task to the governor.

All this is most necessary, and it is doubly important that the board be made up of persons who would see to it that a manager for the proposed wholesale liquor store be one of good business ability and of unimpeachable character.

Other nations continue to adhere firmly to the conviction that American money is the source of happiness.

Voting Machine Bill For County Should Be Passed

One measure pending before the Maryland General Assembly which should be given the united support of the citizens of Allegany County is that providing for the installation of voting machines.

The measure, known as SB427, was introduced by Senator Robert B. Kimble. It would make it mandatory on the part of the County Commissioners to provide for the installation of the machines, but leaves to the commissioners their choice of methods for financing the purchase, estimated at $140,000. The cost could be financed by a bond issue, through certificates of indebtedness; or the commissioners could decide on other methods of raising the required amount. They could be bought on a long-range financing program that could be paid out in from 10 to 20 years.

The County Commissioners had not, until yesterday, taken any formal action for or against the proposal that voting machines be used in the county. Some had voiced disapproval, citing the cost of such devices, while those who have urged their use contend they would prove less costly than the present system of employing clerks and other officials.

It is rather amusing to find the Commissioners decrying the added expense the purchase of voting machines would place upon the taxpayers when one stops to recall that Commissioners Wilkinson and Lemment added to that burden by their own action when they voted to grant a tax exemption on machinery and tools to the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, to the extent of more than $40,000 annually.

Voting machines would fill a long-felt need in eliminating delays in receiving results of elections that sometimes have remained in doubt several days until the official canvas of votes are made by the Board of Election Supervisors. This has been caused in many instances by clerks neglecting to report results to newspaper offices or to headquarters of the political organizations, although requested in advance to do so. Besides the rapidity by which returns could be received, they would prove more accurate, as has been the experience in other counties where the voting machine is employed. Let's have them in Allegany County.

Age Of Discourtesy

The practice of common courtesy has fallen upon sad ways. On the streets downtown, in trains, in buses and at public gatherings, many evidences can be found that selfish, inconsiderate behavior, often descending to brazen rudeness, has in too great a measure replaced gallantry and politeness.

Advocates of the "after me everyone else comes first" creed have come to the forefront, relegating Emily Post to the discard. Perhaps the war-developed psychosis, or neuroticism, to which most of the present crime and violence is attributed, can be blamed in part for this disregard of the good manners and social amenities which have always contributed so much to the pleasure and grace of civilized living. But, whatever the cause, this misconduct in which both men and women are offenders should be eradicated.

As this corrective task is primarily a matter of education and training, the school, the home and the church can make major contributions to its completion.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

TONSIL REMOVAL AND POLIO

IN THE past, tonsillectomies were performed in the late spring and summer. Respiratory infections are usually minimal during these months and children are on vacation from school. For several years, however, there has been a tendency not to take out the tonsils during the polio season (July-October) because of the belief that the chance of developing infantile paralysis is enhanced.

This change stemmed from the unfortunate catastrophe that beset the K family of Ohio. In August, 1941, five children had the tonsils extirpated and, within three weeks, all came down with poliomyelitis. In three, the disease proved fatal. The sixth child still had his tonsils and, tho similarly exposed, did not contract the malady. The organism was found in the stools of all the youngsters as well as in six cousins and three playmates. Nevertheless, only the five tonsillectomized children became victims. This tragedy received considerable publicity and as a result the theory grew that the surgical procedure paved the way for the infection.

Since then there have been other examples. Physicians have had difficulty in making up their minds whether the relationship is scientific. As the operation is not an emergency, the cautious doctor has not recommended it during the polio season. It is not worth the risk and, even tho he may feel that the connection is purely coincidental, a difficult situation would arise should polio strike soon thereafter.

Meanwhile, scientists are working to discover the truth. Is it fact or fiction that tonsillectomies are hazardous in the polio months? Page sent cards to the families of 27,849 individuals who had been operated on in a large New York hospital thru 1937, 1939, and 1941. Replies were received from 8,915 and only one instance of the disease was noted. Cunning queried 5,470, seeking the same type of information from those who had tonsils removed in July, August, and September of 1942, 1943, 1944, and 1945. Of the 2,289 answers, only three cases of polio were recorded. It so happened that in 1944, New York encountered a severe epidemic.

The Connecticut state board of health announced that 10,000 tonsillectomies were done in 1945 and 214 instances of polio were recorded in that state. A hospital in Jamaica, New York, admitted 39 polio sufferers in 1944 and only one experienced the ailment following recent removal of the structure.

Experiments have been carried out on monkeys, as they are one of the few laboratory animals that can develop the disease. The organisms were painted on the tonsil area before and after tonsillectomies, and the monkeys failed to become ill.

Research of this type will continue and more and more statistics on human beings will be compiled. We realize that the disorder can attack whether the tonsils are in or out. It is possible that if investigation shows the connection between the two is circumstantial, the procedure will again be done in the summertime. Furthermore, some of the unknown factors in polio are becoming clearer. Meanwhile, there is no sense in taking a chance by having the operation performed during the summer and early fall.

HOW TO BREATHE

W. E. R. writes: What is the correct way to breathe — thru the mouth or nose?

REPLY

It works either way but breathing thru the nose is more normal and improves the appearance. Mouth breathers usually have an obstruction within the nose or enlarged adenoid tissue and frequently complain of dryness of the mouth.

IT WON'T WORK

Mrs. N. writes: Can a woman of 60 with a normal blood pressure and fairly good heart do anything to ward off hardening of the arteries? I have been told that lying on a board with the feet elevated and the head low for an hour daily will feed more blood to the brain and the pituitary and thyroid glands, uncrowd the organs, and generally help the body.

REPLY

If this were so we would seldom encounter hardening of the arteries of the legs and feet because these structures receive more blood thru the force of gravity than other parts of the body. Actually, thickened vessels in the extremities are fairly common. To date, we have nothing to prevent the phenomenon except the avoidance of obesity, the control of diabetes, and minimizing wear and tear. In animals, diets rich in certain fats stimulate the aging process, but whether this happens to humans is purely speculative.

SALT NEEDS

Mrs. S. writes: Some of my friends claim that salt is not necessary. Is this true?

REPLY

The body always needs salt but when the tissues retain fluid (edema) the amount must be restricted. I have talked with members of the armed forces who were in North Africa where, during a certain period, they received an insufficient quantity. They told of the intense craving for the chemical. In other words, the requirements vary according to the temperature, the perspiration, and the type of food eaten.

IT DEPENDS

T. H. writes: How long are patients with venereal disease hospitalized?

REPLY

This depends on the form of disease present, how long it has existed, and whether penicillin is to be used. Since these facts are known to your physician, I would suggest that you ask him this question. Hospitalization is rarely required unless penicillin is to be administered for a week or 10 days.

THE HOT POTATO

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Sen. Vandenberg Makes Statesmanlike Presentation Of Greek Situation At Secret Meeting; Czar Knutson Gets Under Congressional Skins

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, March 18—Forty-four of the 51 Republican senators attended the very off-the-record session of the Republican conference, to hear Foreign Relations Chairman Arthur Vandenberg explain the Greek-Turkish situation. So anxious were they to prevent leaks from the secret session that even the Senate employees, ordinarily on hand for GOP conferences, were locked out of the room.

Senator Vandenberg opened the blue ribbon session with a long, able explanation of the Near East emergency, making it plain that he feels the President must be supported in his request for 400 million dollars to block communism in Greece and Turkey.

Vandenberg was subjected to a relentless barrage of questions from GOP colleagues and handled himself well. Sometimes, however, he fell back on his stock answer:

"That's an important question to be considered. If you will let me have it in writing, I will see to it that it is answered during our hearings. It is information which the Senate should have."

During the entire conference, only two senators — Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ray Baldwin of Connecticut — pledged all-out support for the presidential recommendations. The majority of others indicated by their questioning that they have some doubt about the advisability of U. S. intervention in Near East politics. In fact, there was a rumbling from the GOP Senators when Vandenberg mentioned that in case the loan was not approved by congress by March 31, an "advance" to Greece of 100 million might be made by the RFC.

China Vs. Greece

Much of the questioning was aimed at finding out from Vandenberg how he could reconcile our proposed intervention in the Near East with Administration policy elsewhere in the world. Why, asked several senators, should we be trying to block communism in the Near East when we have, in effect, notified Chiang Kai-Shek he cannot count upon our support unless he broadens his government to include Chinese communists?

Senator Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the vital congressional committee on atomic energy, voiced the thoughts of some colleagues when he remarked:

"I feel, and I think many of us here feel, a great fear for the future. If we agree to provide these moneys, it seems to me we'll have to decide to go all the way. The only further step is war."

Senators William Jenner of Indiana and Bob Taft of Ohio were highly critical of the administration's handling of the matter.

"This is a momentous step we are asked to take," said Jenner, an ex-air force officer. "Information that has come to me indicates that the administration has known since last October that the British would have to pull out of these areas—yet we are not told about it until early March."

"I understand," Taft added, "that Foreign Minister Bevin told Secretary Byrnes last October this would happen, yet we were not told a word of it."

"If that is true," replied Vandenberg, "I certainly was not told of it."

No attempt was made to lay down a formal GOP position; the meeting was purely informative. One thing a large bloc of GOP Senators still wants to know is where will the money come from to aid Greece and Turkey—later Korea, Palestine, India, and perhaps other countries in the battle to stop communism. There'll be no end of it, they fear, and they see their hopes of budget balancing gone glimmering.

Tax Czar Knutson

Prussian-like Chairman Harold Knutson has long riled the Democrats by his dictatorial control of the House ways and means committee, but now he is getting on Republican nerves. However, it took a Democrat to make Knutson yield a minor point the other day.

Jere Cooper of Tennessee, one of the sharpest members of the committee made a reference to the previous day's testimony by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder. Knutson doubted the accuracy of Cooper's memory, and called upon the committee clerk to give him a copy of the transcript of Snyder's testimony at the previous day's hearing.

As Knutson started to turn the pages, Democrat Walter Lynch of New York asked: "May the rest of us have copies of the record, Mr. Chairman?"

"I have just this one copy," replied Knutson, obviously annoyed.

"Can't the rest of us get copies?" Lynch persisted.

"All I have is just this one printer's copy," Knutson repeated.

"But I suppose the Speaker has one, too—or does he share yours?" returned Lynch sarcastically.

Testily, Knutson snarled at the clerk, "oh give him a copy—if we don't give him one he's going to pass out."

"I'm sure of one thing," countered Lynch, who is about 40 years younger than the aging Knutson, "I'm not likely to pass out before the chairman of this committee!"

Note—one thing irking both Republican and Democratic members of the ways and means committee is that Knutson will not permit any tax bill to be considered except his own. Republican members know that his 20 per cent straight reduction has no chance of passing and would like to introduce a modified bill that has.

Navy Irks Small Business

You can write it down that the house armed services committee will crack down on the navy's new procurement system, whereby the brass hats are squeezing out small dealers and jobbers, by buying supplies for ship service stores direct from manufacturers.

Hearings conducted by Rep. Jack Anderson of California last week revealed that hundreds of dealers and jobbers who normally do business with ship stores are being excluded from the navy market.

The hearings also revealed that navy procurement officials have threatened certain manufacturers that they must sell direct to the navy at factory prices, or their products won't be carried in ship stores. Congressman Anderson and his committee colleagues will demand that the brass hats cease this system which excludes small businessmen.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I'd like to give out a big holler about a couple of young fellows. I predict a great future in show business for them.

Al Jolson

One is a juvenile named Al Jolson. The other is a whippersnapper named Maurice Chevalier.

Their success this season is a sharp answer to the producers who've been complaining there's no good new talent around.

Of course, these fledglings may not have the surefootedness and experience of a Danny Thomas or a Perry Como. But what they lack in authority and wisdom, they more than make up for in spirit and bounce.

Take this boy Jolson. Six months ago I was coffee-and-caking at Toots Shor's with a quartet of young performers—fellows who didn't even remember Tom Mix. They were talking about today's great crowd-pleasers—Sinatra, Danny Kaye, Dick Haymes, and such.

I piped up that a fellow named Al Jolson was pretty good. Jackie Gleason patted me on the shoulder and said, "Take a cup of tea, Grandpa. It'll rest you." Henny Youngman wisenheimed, "What does he do, catch cannonballs on his neck?"

I got a little mad, told them to eat their Pablum, and warned them against discussing things little boys couldn't understand.

As the discussion spilled over to the next four tables, applefaced Toots Shor put a period on it with, "Relax, you crumbs. This is one of them arguments like could Dempsey lick Louis."

And then "The Jolson Story" opened at Radio City Music Hall. Al's voice on the sound track was a revelation to the bobby sockers who had been brought up on microphone-clutchers. The kids turned cartwheels in the aisles over the newcomer who didn't sigh, swoon, groan, grunt, gurgle or whisper through the right nostril.

Around Broadway, we heard that a certain highly paid murmur merchant ran all the way from the Music Hall to his lawyer's office and checked over his annuities.

"Variety" says the Jolson movie is outgrossing anything Columbia has released in twenty years of picture-making.

Then the juke boxes discovered this up-and-coming kid. Jolson's platter of the "Anniversary Song" is grabbing nickels faster than the mint can turn them out.

A couple of weeks ago, I heard Jolson on the air, clowning around with Bing Crosby. Voom and double Voom! and when the child prodigy leveled on a song, even the sponsors were happy. It was like the Twentieth Century making up time on a straight stretch of track. For the first time this season, people got really excited about the Old Groaner's program.

The other boy wonder, Chevalier, is even younger than Jolson. Probably still rides half-fare on the Paris Metro.

I was there the other night when he opened his one-man show at the Henry Miller Theatre. A thousand smarties paid up to $9.50 a ducat to see the youth in the straw skimmer. Their cheers at eleven o'clock showed they thought he was the nicest thing France had invented since champagne.

Just over from the Old Country, Monsieur Chevalier didn't quite know his way around. Instead of backing himself up with $200,000 worth of gingerbread and feathers, he appeared on a stage with nothing but some old portieres, and a fellow named Irving at the piano. Poor Maurice missed out on a lot of sure-fire laughs—seltzer in the face, breakaway suspenders, cows falling out of the ceiling, and "the funny thing that happened to him on the way to the theatre." But, remembering his youth, we forgave him.

Chevalier took us on a two-hour tour of a picture postcard world, where gentlemen wear flowers in their buttonholes and gendarmes kiss the nursemaids in the park. He reminded us that despite the Big Four conference there is still such things as love and Chanel No. 5.

At one point in the show, he strutted out in a top hat, white muffler and a blue coat. The audience applauded. For a change, here was a man who could really wear a top hat, white muffler and a blue coat.

A lot of actors I chum around with may not like this statement, but I don't think there's a man in the American musical theatre with half the talent and class of this kid from France.

I would suggest the talent scouts keep an eye on Jolson and Chevalier. I think these youngsters are going places.

Unique Piece Of Sophistry Found In Statement By NLRB

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Seldom, if ever, does a governmental agency admit that in the administration of the law it is guilty of bias. Seldom, too, does it seek to justify its bias by claiming it was so instructed by Congress itself.

This unique piece of sophistry is to be found in a lengthy statement filed with the Senate committee on labor recently by the National Labor Relations Board.

The document rejects virtually every suggestion made in Congress to amend the Wagner Labor Relations Law and, in effect, argues that complete powers of discretion should remain in the board itself, whose master minds can then continue to administer the law with appropriate bias.

"We have always assumed it to be our duty,' says the board, "in compliance with the declaration of congressional policy that prefaces the act, to encourage 'the practice and procedure of collective bargaining.' We have administered the act accordingly. In consequence, the board has sometimes been accused of bias. We admit to a bias in favor of collective bargaining."

The bias goes deep into the rights of the citizen. The board admits a prejudice against "individual bargaining." It speaks with disfavor about "recreating that ancient system of individual bargaining under which the word of the employer was law." Not content with general observations, the board attacks one proposal which would make it possible for individual bargaining to be conducted even when there is no intent to interfere with the terms of an existing collective bargaining contract.

Would Permit Anyone To Act

The amendment offered in one Senate bill would permit any individual or group to present grievances to the employer and to "adjust such grievances, without the intervention of the bargaining representative, so long as the adjustment does not violate the terms of a collective bargaining contract or agreement then in effect."

But the board's statement immediately sees danger in such a bill on the ground that "individual bargaining then could well disrupt all efforts at collective bargaining, particularly where an employer in the handling of grievances demonstrated that employees could gain more advantages through bargaining individually than through their bargaining agent."

So individual bargaining is a bad thing and must be abolished, and in its place collectivism must be exalted. Here is the root of America's industrial trouble. The government apparently is not supposed to encourage labor peace, but one of its agencies deliberately conceives it to be its duty to break down individual bargaining, even if by breaking it down labor strife and economic war are stimulated.

This, to be sure, is inherent in the basic philosophy of New Dealism—the individual cannot be self-reliant or independent. He can gain a job or keep one only by the economic power wielded in his behalf by a group which owes its monopoly to a governmental agency's bias.

Curiously enough, the board naively disclaims it is helping unions. It says: "it has been neither our purpose nor our function to help unions to organize, but it has been one purpose of the act to make it less hazardous for employees to join unions."

Failed In Such a Task

If the board had confined itself to such a task, there would be no criticism of its conduct today. The board's decisions—which it proudly cites in point after point in its statement to the Senate committee—go far beyond any such sensible view of its duty. Thus, the Wagner Law forbids an employer to coerce or influence workers to join a union, and where the board finds such to be the case it is supposed to order the disestablishment of the union. Yet when a national union is involved, even though Congress drew no such distinction in phrasing the law, the board closes its eyes to the violation and passes it by. This, too, is admitted in the board's own statement to the Senate committee which says:

"It is true that where the board has found that an employer has assisted or coerced its employees to join a union affiliated with a national labor organization, it has not ordered the disestablishment of the local. But this is so because assistance to a local union chartered by and subject to the constitution and by-laws of the national organization cannot, in practice, extend to the point of constituting domination by the employer."

Typical Case of Bias

Such palpable attempts to read into the law rules of convenience that assist the CIO and AFL, while ignoring the fact that the law forbids an employer to assist in the organization of any union, is typical of the bias which the labor board practices and which has lost for it the confidence of citizens generally.

Under the American system of constitutional government, the federal agencies do not possess legislative powers and they cannot lawfully deprive citizens of their rights whether they be employers or workers. To grasp at a preamble in the wording of a law and assume a bias from it is to distort the meaning of equality under the law. But that is the New Deal concept and that is one reason why the Wagner Act, with its collectivist doctrine, is going to be amended at this session of Congress.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

THE United States, entering upon new ventures in imperialism, needs to take account of its assets and liabilities, its resources and its commitments. This was proposed by Bernard Baruch and has since been advocated by Secretary of the Interior Krug and others.

The war cost the United States $341,000,000,000. This represents dollar values but is no indication of the irreplaceable natural resources consumed, the potential of which cannot be measured in dollar values. Since the war this country has continued to expend both dollars and raw materials. Of course, in the figures, the raw materials appear as dollars or as tons of finished goods, but in the welfare of the American people a century or even half a century from now, they may represent the difference between a defensible and a dependent nation.

The utilization of minerals may change, as for instance, aluminum and magnesium have come into our lives as steel and copper substitutes, and it is possible that atomic fission may produce new minerals or by-products which will add to our store of wealth. As of today however, iron is our basic mineral and we are still in a steel culture, as it were. In 1943, this country produced more than 119,000,000 gross tons of iron ore, which represented the highest point of a steadily increasing production since the war started. (The statistical word is "production." Historicallly, it is "consumption," and factually, some of it may be termed "waste.")

The high grade Mesabi Range ore, upon which present iron and steel uses and prices are based, is approaching exhaustion. Operators do not despair because in the Lake Superior fields are vast concentrations of ore which can be extracted by improved methods. At any rate in 1944, Ernest F. Burchard of the Geological Survey and Albin C. Johnson of the Bureau of Mines "estimated the present reserve of commercial or usable grade iron ore at 5,478,000,000 gross tons, of which about one-third is classed as inferred ore. Of this ore, 33 percent is situated in the Lake Superior district, 39 percent in the Southeastern district, seven percent in the Northeastern district, and the Western and Central and Gulf States contain seven and four percent, respectively."

It is possible that a century from now iron ore will be no factor in our economy or our defense. But that sort of prophetic reasoning is meaningless. What we do need is a through and understandable survey of our resources, iron, copper, coal, wood, cotton, paper and other materials.

For instance, our present dependence upon Canada and Finland for newsprint presents an economic absurdity. Theorists concerning the press may talk their heads off and waste tons of white paper declaiming on the inability of every man, woman and child in the United States to find an organ for self-expression, but the fact is that this country can only use as much white paper—and at a price—as Canada will permit us to have. Finland is not a free agent, in spite of all the Finnish protestations on the subject, because actually they can only export to us as much newsprint or pulp as the Russians will permit them to export to us.

These are the facts of life about raw materials. It is easy for the "Daily Worker" to borrow some rolls of newsprint from the "New York Times," but it is not easy to supply all the means of expression in the United States with an adequate supply of this raw material, just as the day may come when not a sufficient quantity of iron ore may be available.

The One Worlders look upon this problem lightly. They figure that what one has, all can share—and even should share. But that is not the way thing happen in this world. Each country garners its resources for its own purposes, all except the generous and even profligate United States, which exported oil to areas rich in oil, denuding our supplies while our allies hoarded theirs. Nobody actually checks how much we can continue to give away of our national wealth and our national income. Billions still are poured out as though Harry Hopkins were at the spigot.

It Says Here By BOB HOPE

Things are looking up for the movie goer. The New York Paramount Theatre reduced its prices and it looks like a nationwide trend.

They had to lower the prices—after getting into a movie the folk couldn't afford the popcorn any more.

Things were getting so bad you had to drive up in an armored truck to get into the loges.

With prices what they were owners were finding their theatres empty on Saturday nights. Of course there are always guys like myself who prefer privacy in the balcony.

Things are certainly changing: Not only will prices be lowered but when they give away dishes now they'll be filled with hot meals.

If they should catch a kid sneaking in they'll probably tell him to run home and bring his friends.

I know one manager who is so anxious to get customers he reversed his air conditioning and sucked them in.

The managers aren't taking any chances either. It's now a prerequisite for all girls in cashier booths to wear sweaters.

The movie business is really out for customers. Just yesterday I saw a big sign on a theatre marquee that read "come in, if you don't like the picture, you can play gin rummy with the ushers."

It seems their new policy is that the customer is always right and now if he finds any bubble gum under the seats, he can keep it.

Of course they never have any trouble with my pictures. The theatre doesn't lower the prices, they drop the net.

Wholesale Liquor Store Bill Has Wide Appeal

Sentiment for a wholesale liquor store to be operated for the benefit of the taxpayers of Allegany County would seem to have overwhelming support among the rank and file of the people, but pressure from the minority, made up of those engaged in or associated with the retail and wholesale of whisky, continues on members of the Allegany County delegation to bring about its defeat.

It is very evident that a desperate fight will be made by this so-called minority group against the measure, although they, as well as every taxpayer in the county, will stand to benefit by the proposed store should it produce the estimated $300,000 in revenue to the county, by making possible holding the tax rate at its present figure, or reducing it.

Word from Annapolis is to the effect that the measure has a good chance of receiving a favorable report by the House ways and means committee in its present form, and those interested in the bill are of the opinion it will have little trouble passing the lower branch of the state legislature.

But during the past few days Delegate Whitworth, chairman of the Allegany County delegation, has been further harassed by protests from groups in Allegany County, and others, against the proposed method of naming the advisory board for the project, and which would be empowered to appoint a manager. Otherwise, they approve the bill as it stands.

Delegate Whitworth is being urged to amend his measure to provide that this be placed in the hands of the County Commissioners, rather than to have the board named by the Governor, although the bill makes it mandatory on the Governor to name two members to the board from among those affiliated with the political party whose candidate for governor in the last previous election polled a majority of the votes in Allegany County.

The one plan on which all probably could have agreed would have been to delegate this task to the Judges of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, but inasmuch as the Court of Appeals decision holding the county's liquor control law unconstitutional, because the Court had been named to perform a non-judicial task as the dispenser of liquor licenses, makes that impossible, apparently.

It should be the purpose of the measure to remove the operation of the proposed liquor store as far as possible from politics, and it should be the desire of everyone to make it as certain as is possible that it not become a political football. For that reason we are inclined to agree with Chairman Whitworth in his belief that that might come nearer a possibility by delegating the task to the governor.

All this is most necessary, and it is doubly important that the board be made up of persons who would see to it that a manager for the proposed wholesale liquor store be one of good business ability and of unimpeachable character.

Other nations continue to adhere firmly to the conviction that American money is the source of happiness.

Voting Machine Bill For County Should Be Passed

One measure pending before the Maryland General Assembly which should be given the united support of the citizens of Allegany County is that providing for the installation of voting machines.

The measure, known as SB427, was introduced by Senator Robert B. Kimble. It would make it mandatory on the part of the County Commissioners to provide for the installation of the machines, but leaves to the commissioners their choice of methods for financing the purchase, estimated at $140,000. The cost could be financed by a bond issue, through certificates of indebtedness; or the commissioners could decide on other methods of raising the required amount. They could be bought on a long-range financing program that could be paid out in from 10 to 20 years.

The County Commissioners had not, until yesterday, taken any formal action for or against the proposal that voting machines be used in the county. Some had voiced disapproval, citing the cost of such devices, while those who have urged their use contend they would prove less costly than the present system of employing clerks and other officials.

It is rather amusing to find the Commissioners decrying the added expense the purchase of voting machines would place upon the taxpayers when one stops to recall that Commissioners Wilkinson and Lemment added to that burden by their own action when they voted to grant a tax exemption on machinery and tools to the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, to the extent of more than $40,000 annually.

Voting machines would fill a long-felt need in eliminating delays in receiving results of elections that sometimes have remained in doubt several days until the official canvas of votes are made by the Board of Election Supervisors. This has been caused in many instances by clerks neglecting to report results to newspaper offices or to headquarters of the political organizations, although requested in advance to do so. Besides the rapidity by which returns could be received, they would prove more accurate, as has been the experience in other counties where the voting machine is employed. Let's have them in Allegany County.

Age Of Discourtesy

The practice of common courtesy has fallen upon sad ways. On the streets downtown, in trains, in buses and at public gatherings, many evidences can be found that selfish, inconsiderate behavior, often descending to brazen rudeness, has in too great a measure replaced gallantry and politeness.

Advocates of the "after me everyone else comes first" creed have come to the forefront, relegating Emily Post to the discard. Perhaps the war-developed psychosis, or neuroticism, to which most of the present crime and violence is attributed, can be blamed in part for this disregard of the good manners and social amenities which have always contributed so much to the pleasure and grace of civilized living. But, whatever the cause, this misconduct in which both men and women are offenders should be eradicated.

As this corrective task is primarily a matter of education and training, the school, the home and the church can make major contributions to its completion.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

TONSIL REMOVAL AND POLIO

IN THE past, tonsillectomies were performed in the late spring and summer. Respiratory infections are usually minimal during these months and children are on vacation from school. For several years, however, there has been a tendency not to take out the tonsils during the polio season (July-October) because of the belief that the chance of developing infantile paralysis is enhanced.

This change stemmed from the unfortunate catastrophe that beset the K family of Ohio. In August, 1941, five children had the tonsils extirpated and, within three weeks, all came down with poliomyelitis. In three, the disease proved fatal. The sixth child still had his tonsils and, tho similarly exposed, did not contract the malady. The organism was found in the stools of all the youngsters as well as in six cousins and three playmates. Nevertheless, only the five tonsillectomized children became victims. This tragedy received considerable publicity and as a result the theory grew that the surgical procedure paved the way for the infection.

Since then there have been other examples. Physicians have had difficulty in making up their minds whether the relationship is scientific. As the operation is not an emergency, the cautious doctor has not recommended it during the polio season. It is not worth the risk and, even tho he may feel that the connection is purely coincidental, a difficult situation would arise should polio strike soon thereafter.

Meanwhile, scientists are working to discover the truth. Is it fact or fiction that tonsillectomies are hazardous in the polio months? Page sent cards to the families of 27,849 individuals who had been operated on in a large New York hospital thru 1937, 1939, and 1941. Replies were received from 8,915 and only one instance of the disease was noted. Cunning queried 5,470, seeking the same type of information from those who had tonsils removed in July, August, and September of 1942, 1943, 1944, and 1945. Of the 2,289 answers, only three cases of polio were recorded. It so happened that in 1944, New York encountered a severe epidemic.

The Connecticut state board of health announced that 10,000 tonsillectomies were done in 1945 and 214 instances of polio were recorded in that state. A hospital in Jamaica, New York, admitted 39 polio sufferers in 1944 and only one experienced the ailment following recent removal of the structure.

Experiments have been carried out on monkeys, as they are one of the few laboratory animals that can develop the disease. The organisms were painted on the tonsil area before and after tonsillectomies, and the monkeys failed to become ill.

Research of this type will continue and more and more statistics on human beings will be compiled. We realize that the disorder can attack whether the tonsils are in or out. It is possible that if investigation shows the connection between the two is circumstantial, the procedure will again be done in the summertime. Furthermore, some of the unknown factors in polio are becoming clearer. Meanwhile, there is no sense in taking a chance by having the operation performed during the summer and early fall.

HOW TO BREATHE

W. E. R. writes: What is the correct way to breathe — thru the mouth or nose?

REPLY

It works either way but breathing thru the nose is more normal and improves the appearance. Mouth breathers usually have an obstruction within the nose or enlarged adenoid tissue and frequently complain of dryness of the mouth.

IT WON'T WORK

Mrs. N. writes: Can a woman of 60 with a normal blood pressure and fairly good heart do anything to ward off hardening of the arteries? I have been told that lying on a board with the feet elevated and the head low for an hour daily will feed more blood to the brain and the pituitary and thyroid glands, uncrowd the organs, and generally help the body.

REPLY

If this were so we would seldom encounter hardening of the arteries of the legs and feet because these structures receive more blood thru the force of gravity than other parts of the body. Actually, thickened vessels in the extremities are fairly common. To date, we have nothing to prevent the phenomenon except the avoidance of obesity, the control of diabetes, and minimizing wear and tear. In animals, diets rich in certain fats stimulate the aging process, but whether this happens to humans is purely speculative.

SALT NEEDS

Mrs. S. writes: Some of my friends claim that salt is not necessary. Is this true?

REPLY

The body always needs salt but when the tissues retain fluid (edema) the amount must be restricted. I have talked with members of the armed forces who were in North Africa where, during a certain period, they received an insufficient quantity. They told of the intense craving for the chemical. In other words, the requirements vary according to the temperature, the perspiration, and the type of food eaten.

IT DEPENDS

T. H. writes: How long are patients with venereal disease hospitalized?

REPLY

This depends on the form of disease present, how long it has existed, and whether penicillin is to be used. Since these facts are known to your physician, I would suggest that you ask him this question. Hospitalization is rarely required unless penicillin is to be administered for a week or 10 days.

THE HOT POTATO

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Sen. Vandenberg Makes Statesmanlike Presentation Of Greek Situation At Secret Meeting; Czar Knutson Gets Under Congressional Skins

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, March 18—Forty-four of the 51 Republican senators attended the very off-the-record session of the Republican conference, to hear Foreign Relations Chairman Arthur Vandenberg explain the Greek-Turkish situation. So anxious were they to prevent leaks from the secret session that even the Senate employees, ordinarily on hand for GOP conferences, were locked out of the room.

Senator Vandenberg opened the blue ribbon session with a long, able explanation of the Near East emergency, making it plain that he feels the President must be supported in his request for 400 million dollars to block communism in Greece and Turkey.

Vandenberg was subjected to a relentless barrage of questions from GOP colleagues and handled himself well. Sometimes, however, he fell back on his stock answer:

"That's an important question to be considered. If you will let me have it in writing, I will see to it that it is answered during our hearings. It is information which the Senate should have."

During the entire conference, only two senators — Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ray Baldwin of Connecticut — pledged all-out support for the presidential recommendations. The majority of others indicated by their questioning that they have some doubt about the advisability of U. S. intervention in Near East politics. In fact, there was a rumbling from the GOP Senators when Vandenberg mentioned that in case the loan was not approved by congress by March 31, an "advance" to Greece of 100 million might be made by the RFC.

China Vs. Greece

Much of the questioning was aimed at finding out from Vandenberg how he could reconcile our proposed intervention in the Near East with Administration policy elsewhere in the world. Why, asked several senators, should we be trying to block communism in the Near East when we have, in effect, notified Chiang Kai-Shek he cannot count upon our support unless he broadens his government to include Chinese communists?

Senator Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the vital congressional committee on atomic energy, voiced the thoughts of some colleagues when he remarked:

"I feel, and I think many of us here feel, a great fear for the future. If we agree to provide these moneys, it seems to me we'll have to decide to go all the way. The only further step is war."

Senators William Jenner of Indiana and Bob Taft of Ohio were highly critical of the administration's handling of the matter.

"This is a momentous step we are asked to take," said Jenner, an ex-air force officer. "Information that has come to me indicates that the administration has known since last October that the British would have to pull out of these areas, yet we are not told about it until early March."

"I understand," Taft added, "that Foreign Minister Bevin told Secretary Byrnes last October this would happen, yet we were not told a word of it."

"If that is true," replied Vandenberg, "I certainly was not told of it."

No attempt was made to lay down a formal GOP position; the meeting was purely informative. One thing a large bloc of GOP Senators still wants to know is where will the money come from to aid Greece and Turkey—later Korea, Palestine, India, and perhaps other countries in the battle to stop communism. There'll be no end of it, they fear, and they see their hopes of budget balancing gone glimmering.

Tax Czar Knutson

Prussian-like Chairman Harold Knutson has long riled the Democrats by his dictatorial control of the House ways and means committee, but now he is getting on Republican nerves. However, it took a Democrat to make Knutson yield a minor point the other day.

Jere Cooper of Tennessee, one of the sharpest members of the committee made a reference to the previous day's testimony by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder. Knutson doubted the accuracy of Cooper's memory, and called upon the committee clerk to give him a copy of the transcript of Snyder's testimony at the previous day's hearing.

As Knutson started to turn the pages, Democrat Walter Lynch of New York asked: "May the rest of us have copies of the record, Mr. Chairman?"

"I have just this one copy," replied Knutson, obviously annoyed. "Can't the rest of us get copies?" Lynch persisted.

"All I have is just this one printer's copy," Knutson repeated.

"But I suppose the Speaker has one, too—or does he share yours?" returned Lynch sarcastically.

Testily, Knutson snarled at the clerk, "oh give him a copy—if we don't give him one he's going to pass out."

"I'm sure of one thing," countered Lynch, who is about 40 years younger than the aging Knutson, "I'm not likely to pass out before the chairman of this committee!"

Note—one thing irking both Republican and Democratic members of the ways and means committee is that Knutson will not permit any tax bill to be considered except his own. Republican members know that his 20 per cent straight reduction has no chance of passing and would like to introduce a modified bill that has.

Navy Irks Small Business

You can write it down that the house armed services committee will crack down on the navy's new procurement system, whereby the brass hats are squeezing out small dealers and jobbers, by buying supplies for ship service stores direct from manufacturers.

Hearings conducted by Rep. Jack Anderson of California last week revealed that hundreds of dealers and jobbers who normally do business with ship stores are being excluded from the navy market.

The hearings also revealed that navy procurement officials have threatened certain manufacturers that they must sell direct to the navy at factory prices, or their products won't be carried in ship stores. Congressman Anderson and his committee colleagues will demand that the brass hats cease this system which excludes small businessmen.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I'd like to give out a big holler about a couple of young fellows. I predict a great future in show business for them.

Al Jolson

One is a juvenile named Al Jolson. The other is a whippersnapper named Maurice Chevalier.

Their success this season is a sharp answer to the producers who've been complaining there's no good new talent around.

Of course, these fledglings may not have the surefootedness and experience of a Danny Thomas or a Perry Como. But what they lack in authority and wisdom, they more than make up for in spirit and bounce.

Take this boy Jolson. Six months ago I was coffee-and-caking at Toots Shor's with a quartet of young performers—fellows who didn't even remember Tom Mix. They were talking about today's great crowd-pleasers—Sinatra, Danny Kaye, Dick Haymes, and such.

I piped up that a fellow named Al Jolson was pretty good. Jackie Gleason patted me on the shoulder and said, "Take a cup of tea, Grandpa. It'll rest you." Henny Youngman wisenheimed, "What does he do, catch cannonballs on his neck?"

I got a little mad, told them to eat their Pablum, and warned them against discussing things little boys couldn't understand.

As the discussion spilled over to the next four tables, applefaced Toots Shor put a period on it with, "Relax, you crumbs. This is one of them arguments like could Dempsey lick Louis."

And then "The Jolson Story" opened at Radio City Music Hall. Al's voice on the sound track was a revelation to the bobby sockers who had been brought up on microphone-clutchers. The kids turned cartwheels in the aisles over the newcomer who didn't sigh, swoon, groan, grunt, gurgle or whisper through the right nostril.

Around Broadway, we heard that a certain highly paid murmur merchant ran all the way from the Music Hall to his lawyer's office and checked over his annuities.

"Variety" says the Jolson movie is outgrossing anything Columbia has released in twenty years of picture-making.

Then the juke boxes discovered this up-and-coming kid. Jolson's platter of the "Anniversary Song" is grabbing nickels faster than the mint can turn them out.

A couple of weeks ago, I heard Jolson on the air, clowning around with Bing Crosby. Voom and double Voom! and when the child prodigy leveled on a song, even the sponsors were happy. It was like the Twentieth Century making up time on a straight stretch of track. For the first time this season, people got really excited about the Old Groaner's program.

The other boy wonder, Chevalier, is even younger than Jolson. Proobably still rides half-fare on the Paris Metro.

I was there the other night when he opened his one-man show at the Henry Miller Theatre. A thousand smarties paid up to $9.50 a ducat to see the youth in the straw skimmer. Their cheers at eleven o'clock showed they thought he was the nicest thing France had invented since champagne.

Just over from the Old Country, Monsieur Chevalier didn't quite know his way around. Instead of backing himself up with $200,000 worth of gingerbread and feathers, he appeared on a stage with nothing but some old portieres, and a fellow named Irving at the piano. Poor Maurice missed out on a lot of sure-fire laughs—seltzer in the face, breakaway suspenders, cows falling out of the ceiling, and "the funny thing that happened to him on the way to the theatre." But, remembering his youth, we forgave him.

Chevalier took us on a two-hour tour of a picture postcard world, where gentlemen wear flowers in their buttonholes and gendarmes kiss the nursemaids in the park. He reminded us that despite the Big Four conference there is still such things as love and Chanel No. 5.

At one point in the show, he strutted out in a top hat, white muffler and a blue coat. The audience applauded. For a change, here was a man who could really wear a top hat, white muffler and a blue coat.

A lot of actors I chum around with may not like this statement, but I don't think there's a man in the American musical theatre with half the talent and class of this kid from France.

I would suggest the talent scouts keep an eye on Jolson and Chevalier. I think these youngsters are going places.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Seldom, if ever, does a governmental agency admit that in the administration of the law it is guilty of bias. Seldom, too, does it seek to justify its bias by claiming it was so instructed by Congress itself.

This unique piece of sophistry is to be found in a lengthy statement filed with the Senate committee on labor recently by the National Labor Relations Board.

The document rejects virtually every suggestion made in Congress to amend the Wagner Labor Relations Law and, in effect, argues that complete powers of discretion should remain in the board itself, whose master minds can then continue to administer the law with appropriate bias.

"We have always assumed it to be our duty,' says the board, "in compliance with the declaration of congressional policy that prefaces the act, to encourage 'the practice and procedure of collective bargaining.' We have administered the act accordingly. In consequence, the board has sometimes been accused of bias. We admit to a bias in favor of collective bargaining."

The bias goes deep into the rights of the citizen. The board admits a prejudice against "individual bargaining." It speaks with disfavor about "recreating that ancient system of individual bargaining under which the word of the employer was law." Not content with general observations, the board attacks one proposal which would make it possible for individual bargaining to be conducted even when there is no intent to interfere with the terms of an existing collective bargaining contract.

Would Permit Anyone To Act

The amendment offered in one Senate bill would permit any individual or group to present grievances to the employer and to "adjust such grievances, without the intervention of the bargaining representative, so long as the adjustment does not violate the terms of a collective bargaining contract or agreement then in effect."

But the board's statement immediately sees danger in such a bill on the ground that "individual bargaining then could well disrupt all efforts at collective bargaining, particularly where an employer in the handling of grievances demonstrated that employees could gain more advantages through bargaining individually than through their bargaining agent."

So individual bargaining is a bad thing and must be abolished, and in its place collectivism must be exalted. Here is the root of America's industrial trouble. The government apparently is not supposed to encourage labor peace, but one of its agencies deliberately conceives it to be its duty to break down individual bargaining, even if by breaking it down labor strife and economic war are stimulated.

This, to be sure, is inherent in the basic philosophy of New Dealism—the individual cannot be self-reliant or independent. He can gain a job or keep one only by the economic power wielded in his behalf by a group which owes its monopoly to a governmental agency's bias.

Curiously enough, the board naively disclaims it is helping unions. It says: "it has been neither our purpose nor our function to help unions to organize, but it has been one purpose of the act to make it less hazardous for employees to join unions."

Failed In Such a Task

If the board had confined itself to such a task, there would be no criticism of its conduct today. The board's decisions—which it proudly cites in point after point in its statement to the Senate committee—go far beyond any such sensible view of its duty. Thus, the Wagner Law forbids an employer to coerce or influence workers to join a union, and where the board finds such to be the case it is supposed to order the disestablishment of the union. Yet when a national union is involved, even though Congress drew no such distinction in phrasing the law, the board closes its eyes to the violation and passes it by. This, too, is admitted in the board's own statement to the Senate committee which says:

"It is true that where the board has found that an employer has assisted or coerced its employees to join a union affiliated with a national labor organization, it has not ordered the disestablishment of the local. But this is so because assistance to a local union chartered by and subject to the constitution and by-laws of the national organization cannot, in practice, extend to the point of constituting domination by the employer."

Typical Case of Bias

Such palpable attempts to read into the law rules of convenience that assist the CIO and AFL, while ignoring the fact that the law forbids an employer to assist in the organization of any union, is typical of the bias which the labor board practices and which has lost for it the confidence of citizens generally.

Under the American system of constitutional government, the federal agencies do not possess legislative powers and they cannot lawfully deprive citizens of their rights whether they be employers or workers. To grasp at a preamble in the wording of a law and assume a bias from it is to distort the meaning of equality under the law. But that is the New Deal concept and that is one reason why the Wagner Act, with its collectivist doctrine, is going to be amended at this session of Congress.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

THE United States, entering upon new ventures in imperialism, needs to take account of its assets and liabilities, its resources and its commitments. This was proposed by Bernard Baruch and has since been advocated by Secretary of the Interior Krug and others.

The war cost the United States $341,000,000,000. This represents dollar values but is no indication of the irreplaceable natural resources consumed, the potential of which cannot be measured in dollar values. Since the war this country has continued to expend both dollars and raw materials. Of course, in the figures, the raw materials appear as dollars or as tons of finished goods, but in the welfare of the American people a century or even half a century from now, they may represent the difference between a defensible and a dependent nation.

The utilization of minerals may change, as for instance, aluminum and magnesium have come into our lives as steel and copper substitutes, and it is possible that atomic fission may produce new minerals or by-products which will add to our store of wealth. As of today however, iron is our basic mineral and we are still in a steel culture, as it were. In 1943, this country produced more than 119,000,000 gross tons of iron ore, which represented the highest point of a steadily increasing production since the war started. (The statistical word is "production." Historicallly, it is "consumption," and factually, some of it may be termed "waste.")

The high grade Mesabi Range ore, upon which present iron and steel uses and prices are based, is approaching exhaustion. Operators do not despair because in the Lake Superior fields are vast concentrations of ore which can be extracted by improved methods. At any rate in 1944, Ernest F. Burchard of the Geological Survey and Albin C. Johnson of the Bureau of Mines "estimated the present reserve of commercial or usable grade iron ore at 5,478,000,000 gross tons, of which about one-third is classed as inferred ore. Of this ore, 33 percent is situated in the Lake Superior district, 39 percent in the Southeastern district, seven percent in the Northeastern district, and the Western and Central and Gulf States contain seven and four percent, respectively."

It is possible that a century from now iron ore will be no factor in our economy or our defense. But that sort of prophetic reasoning is meaningless. What we do need is a through and understandable survey of our resources, iron, copper, coal, wood, cotton, paper and other materials.

For instance, our present dependence upon Canada and Finland for newsprint presents an economic absurdity. Theorists concerning the press may talk their heads off and waste tons of white paper declaiming on the inability of every man, woman and child in the United States to find an organ for self-expression, but the fact is that this country can only use as much white paper—and at a price—as Canada will permit us to have. Finland is not a free agent, in spite of all the Finnish protestations on the subject, because actually they can only export to us as much newsprint or pulp as the Russians will permit them to export to us.

These are the facts of life about raw materials. It is easy for the "Daily Worker" to borrow some rolls of newsprint from the "New York Times," but it is not easy to supply all the means of expression in the United States with an adequate supply of this raw material, just as the day may come when not a sufficient quantity of iron ore may be available.

The One Worlders look upon this problem lightly. They figure that what one has, all can share—and even should share. But that is not the way thing happen in this world. Each country garners its resources for its own purposes, all except the generous and even profligate United States, which exported oil to areas rich in oil, denuding our supplies while our allies hoarded theirs. Nobody actually checks how much we can continue to give away of our national wealth and our national income. Billions still are poured out as though Harry Hopkins were at the spigot.

It Says Here By BOB HOPE

Things are looking up for the movie goer. The New York Paramount Theatre reduced its prices and it looks like a nationwide trend.

They had to lower the prices—after getting into a movie the folk couldn't afford the popcorn any more.

Things were getting so bad you had to drive up in an armored truck to get into the loges.

With prices what they were owners were finding their theatres empty on Saturday nights. Of course there are always guys like myself who prefer privacy in the balcony.

Things are certainly changing: Not only will prices be lowered but when they give away dishes now they'll be filled with hot meals.

If they should catch a kid sneaking in they'll probably tell him to run home and bring his friends.

I know one manager who is so anxious to get customers he reversed his air conditioning and sucked them in.

The managers aren't taking any chances either. It's now a prerequisite for all girls in cashier booths to wear sweaters.

The movie business is really out for customers. Just yesterday I saw a big sign on a theatre marquee that read "come in, if you don't like the picture, you can play gin rummy with the ushers."

It seems their new policy is that the customer is always right and now if he finds any bubble gum under the seats, he can keep it.

Of course they never have any trouble with my pictures. The theatre doesn't lower the prices, they drop the net.

Great oaks from little acorns grow. An item sent this column from one of the Troilo brothers, who have been writing us for years, sometimes from as far away as Tojo's palace in Tokyo, was printed here Feb. 28, to wit: "Mrs. Mary Troilo of Philadelphia, aged 65, has just received an attractive offer from the U. S. Army Recruiting Service, inviting her to come down and take a physical test if interested in a career that guarantees economic security, technical training, travel and 30 days vacation with full pay each year." The Philadelphia Inquirer expanded this to a full article, adding an interview and a picture. The Associated Press picked up the story, sent it around the country, via wirephoto service, where it was used in a flock of newspapers. Washington, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Trenton ran it and the Chicago Sunday Tribune and Chicago Sunday Times blew it up to two-column size and put it on the front page.

An item printed here two years ago, about Aldous Huxley improving his eyesight via a system of eye exercises, brought the largest batch of mail in ten years. A follow-up to the effect that Hazel Rascoe, wife of the eminent author and critic, Burton Rascoe, was teaching the method brought almost as great a response. Now, a year later, comes a letter from one of Mrs. Rascoe's students who practically credits this column with restoring her eyesight! . . .As a gag, Raul Viarenjo, the handsome maitre d. at the Hotel Algonquin, printed a book at his own expense titled "What I Have Learned About Women." STRAWS IN THE WIND

BROADWAY

By DANTON WALKER

Broadway Roundup

This Wacky World! A poll of United Nations delegates on the subject of American food reveals that they don't like it, especially the sauces, salad dressings and deserts, which are not "subtle enough.". . . Dr. Frank Cady, dental director of the U.S. Public Health Service, reveals in a dental magazine that the kids in Holland who lived on tulip bulbs, grass, etc., during the war years have better teeth than those raised in New Jersey. . . .England has such a shortage of foxes, for hunting purposes, that they're importing American raccoons to breed. . . .Now that Boulder Dam will once more be called Hoover Dam, the Roosevelt Highway on Pacific Palisades in California will be rechristened the Pacific Coast Highway. . . . Conductor Erich Leinsdorf writes from Vienna that though that city only has one privately owned paper, a weekly called Die Presse, there are four party organs, four papers issued by occupying armies and one official government sheet, all dailies. . . .Paris police must now join a Communist union to get on the force.

Lily Pons

Great oaks from little acorns grow. An item sent this column from one of the Troilo brothers, who have been writing us for years, sometimes from as far away as Tojo's palace in Tokyo, was printed here Feb. 28, to wit: "Mrs. Mary Troilo of Philadelphia, aged 65, has just received an attractive offer from the U. S. Army Recruiting Service, inviting her to come down and take a physical test if interested in a career that guarantees economic security, technical training, travel and 30 days vacation with full pay each year." The Philadelphia Inquirer expanded this to a full article, adding an interview and a picture. The Associated Press picked up the story, sent it around the country, via wirephoto service, where it was used in a flock of newspapers. Washington, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Trenton ran it and the Chicago Sunday Tribune and Chicago Sunday Times blew it up to two-column size and put it on the front page.

An item printed here two years ago, about Aldous Huxley improving his eyesight via a system of eye exercises, brought the largest batch of mail in ten years. A follow-up to the effect that Hazel Rascoe, wife of the eminent author and critic, Burton Rascoe, was teaching the method brought almost as great a response. Now, a year later, comes a letter from one of Mrs. Rascoe's students who practically credits this column with restoring her eyesight! . . .As a gag, Raul Viarenjo, the handsome maitre d. at the Hotel Algonquin, printed a book at his own expense titled "What I Have Learned About Women." The contents were merely blank pages, up to the word "finis." Now Raul learns that his opus has become a best-seller on the ocean liners and the published is being asked to supply 5,000 additional copies.

Incidental Intelligence: The feud between the Joe Mooney Quartet and the Herman Chittleon trio at Dixon's is no press agent's dream. Things have come to such a pass that the musicians' union may have to settle. And we thought the Metropolitan Opera has a corner on temperament! . . . The Lily Pons suite at the Hotel Raleigh in Washington has musical chimes in lieu of the conventional telephone bells, house engineer with a sense of pitch sees that they are always in tune. . . . Boris Morros, producer of the film, "Carnegie Hall," is known in musical circles by the nickname Diminished Fifth because he has a broken little finger. Chaliapin stepped on the finger and broke it when Morros was a prompter at the opera, or so he says. . . .Emil Coleman, who was brought to Havana by Benito Collada (then of the Almendares Hotel) to demonstrate to Cuban audiences rumba rhythms could be adapted to a society dance, is now taking rumba lessons from D'Avalos, who discovers that Coleman is weak in the rhythm department.

Raymond Hubbell, who wrote "Poor Butterfly" (with John Golden) and one of the founders of the ASCAP, is seriously ill at his Miami home. . . .Jerri Blanchard checks out of the Crest Room for a session at Memorial Hospital Monday and will be succeeded by Peggy French, safe society singer and actress. . . . Al Shean (Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean) to appear in his first operettas, "Balalaika" and "The Firefly," for the William Wymetal productions with the Pittsburgh Civic Opera. . . .Gertrude Niesen happy over the success of Robert Mitchum, starred in "Pursued." She headlined at the Chicago Theatre years back when Bob was there with an adagio act, teaching Gertie jiu jitsu between shows.

The Life Of Riley

Now that St. Patrick's Day has subsided for another year, I think it's safe to bring up a few questions concerning "The Life of Riley" (NBC Saturdays 8 p. m., EST), which is as Irish as Paddy's pig.

William Bendix

The program is put together like a presidential campaign. In other words, there is a little bit in it for everybody.

Besides the Irish vote, there is a strong appeal made for the Brooklyn contingent. Riley is played by William Bendix who is practically the patron saint of that borough, though he was born on Third avenue in Manhattan and lived in New Jersey. Riley is a welder, which ensures the labor vote, and he is also the most fervent father on the air, an obvious bid for the paternal listeners. Taken all together, it ought to be sure-fire but I don't know; maybe it doesn't work out in radio the way it does in politics. You try to please everyone in radio and you wind up not pleasing anybody very much, including this citizen who votes the straight Scotch ticket.

To get down to cases, "The Life of Riley" is a mixture—or maybe inbreeding is a more accurate term—between "The Aldrich Family" and "Duffy's Tavern." The dialogue is "Duffy's Tavern" but the problems are strictly domestic. The plot, what there is of it, is a running rivalry between Riley and his friend, Jim Gillis, over the abilities of their respective sons, Junior Riley, who is reasonably sensible though adolescent, and Egbert Gillis, who is about what you'd expect from that name.

The humor consists chiefly in Riley's interminable malapropisms.

"Why, when I was your age, I worshipped my mother. I hung her up on a pedestrian."

"My boy Jupnior ain't gonna be no wallpaper."

"When I watch him, it makes him subconscious."

Riley's other trick is to take a platitude and twist its tail at the last moment. "A Riley never says die until he's been dead six month;" "You can't put off until tomorrow what your father makes you do today:" "You're like all the younger generation—young."

It reminds me of George Bernard Shaw's complaint that British authors get all their cockney accent from Dickens rather than from the cockneys themselves. It sometimes sounds as if radio writers hadn't been to Brooklyn for a long time either. Riley's talk just doesn't sound authentic and, to quote Riley, it isn't very humoresque either.

Speaking of speech in general, a music teacher was dragged into the Riley script not long ago, man named Minetti. "Itsa too bad," said Minetti, just like a music teacher in comic strips. "Lets commence at the commencement." Maybe theres a union rule makes them talk that way.

GOD OF OUR FATHERS

I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill. Matthew 5:17. Read Hebrews 11:32-12:2.

The church opens the only main highway into the past which most of us travel with any frequency. Associated with it are the noblest traditions of the human race. It brings us to prophets who discovered the nature and will of God; psalmists who wrote the greatest of all books of lyric poetry; a Savior in whom God lived; martyrs who died for the faith; Pilgrims who helped plant the faith on a new continent; a host without number of our fathers in the faith who wrought righteousness in every age.

To this company we turn in worship that our faith may be firmly rooted in its historic heritage, our minds informed for the task of today by the wisdom of yesterday, and our hearts inspired by exalted lives. Our spirits bow in humble gratitude to those who have given us riches of the ages, and we dedicate our lives anew to the faith for which they gave the last full measure of devotion.

Heirs of a noble past, we would be builders of the future, knowing that apart from us they will not be made perfect.

Let Us Pray: O God, our help in ages past, our hope for years to come, before thee the generations have risen up and passed away leaving their spiritual wealth to us. Keep fresh in our remembrance the great tradition to which we belong! Not only in the hour of Holy Communion but also in every place where we minister to need, may the old words echo. "This do in remembrance of me." Amen.

The Life Of Riley

Now that St. Patrick's Day has subsided for another year, I think it's safe to bring up a few questions concerning "The Life of Riley" (NBC Saturdays 8 p. m., EST), which is as Irish as Paddy's pig. The program is put together like a presidential campaign. In other words, there is a little bit in it for everybody.

William Bendix

Besides the Irish vote, there is a strong appeal made for the Brooklyn contingent. Riley is played by William Bendix who is practically the patron saint of that borough, though he was born on Third avenue in Manhattan and lived in New Jersey. Riley is a welder, which ensures the labor vote, and he is also the most fervent father on the air, an obvious bid for the paternal listeners. Taken all together, it ought to be sure-fire but I don't know; maybe it doesn't work out in radio the way it does in politics. You try to please everyone in radio and you wind up not pleasing anybody very much, including this citizen who votes the straight Scotch ticket.

To get down to cases, "The Life of Riley" is a mixture—or maybe inbreeding is a more accurate term—between "The Aldrich Family" and "Duffy's Tavern." The dialogue is "Duffy's Tavern" but the problems are strictly domestic. The plot, what there is of it, is a running rivalry between Riley and his friend, Jim Gillis, over the abilities of their respective sons, Junior Riley, who is reasonably sensible though adolescent, and Egbert Gillis, who is about what you'd expect from that name.

The humor consists chiefly in Riley's interminable malapropisms.

"Why, when I was your age, I worshipped my mother. I hung her up on a pedestrian."

"My boy Jupnior ain't gonna be no wallpaper."

"When I watch him, it makes him subconscious."

Riley's other trick is to take a platitude and twist its tail at the last moment. "A Riley never says die until he's been dead six month;" "You can't put off until tomorrow what your father makes you do today:" "You're like all the younger generation—young."

It reminds me of George Bernard Shaw's complaint that British authors get all their cockney accent from Dickens rather than from the cockneys themselves. It sometimes sounds as if radio writers hadn't been to Brooklyn for a long time either. Riley's talk just doesn't sound authentic and, to quote Riley, it isn't very humoresque either.

Speaking of speech in general, a music teacher was dragged into the Riley script not long ago, man named Minetti. "Itsa too bad," said Minetti, just like a music teacher in comic strips. "Lets commence at the commencement." Maybe theres a union rule makes them talk that way.

Advice To The Lovelorn

It's Silly To Run After Boy Who Shows Signs of Losing Interest In You

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 18 years old, and have been going with a boy for about three months. I really thought he was very nice. He gave me a lovely present, which looked as though he might have thought something of me.

The last time he came to see me, he told me he would be back a certain night, but he hasn't showed up since.

I gave him a large snapshot of myself and I have one of him. Do you think I should write him for my picture and see what actually is the trouble, or would you forget the whole matter?

"SHORTIE."

You have the right idea, "Shortie," when you talk about forgetting the whole matter. It would be very silly of you to run after a boy who shows unmistable signs of having lost interest in you. No girls every gets anywhere by chasing a boy. All she usually gets out of it is to chase him away, instead of catching up with him. Nothing scares a boy off faster than to feel that he is being pursued.

And what's a snapshot anyhow? It's not as though you'd given him something with any real value. What would be the point of trying to get it back from him except to give you an excuse to get in touch with him?

If you're a smart girl, you'll let him alone. If he's ever going to look you up again, he'll do it to see what you're up to, because he hasn't heard from you, not because you try to lure or force him into it.

She's "In Love" With Cousin

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 15 years of age and very much in love with a fellow 20, who also happens to be my cousin. I don't mind this, because my father and mother are cousins and are very happy.

This cousin of mine has taken me out a few times, but always with other couples. My father does not like me to go out just yet, and anyway not with a relative.

What I would like to know is if he really loves me or not. He has never kissed me or told me he loved me. He is very sensible. Please tell me how I can find out if he loves me, and if he does, why doesn't he show it? He's held my hand in the movies, and when we are walking along together, but that's about all. I'm only human, and I'd like to enjoy all the things of a girl my age.

"HEARTBROKEN."

There is a great deal of difference between loving a person and being "in love" with him or her. Many a teen-age girl has an older boy cousin who is a hero to her, and about whom she weaves romantic dreams. That's perfectly normal. And the average older boy enjoys this hero-worship from a younger relative and likes to keep it alive by paying her a little attention now and then, unless she makes a pest of herself by getting over-emotional about him, as you seem to be doing.

If if you want to keep on enjoying this boy's company occasionally, I'd advise you to stop wondering about whether he's "in love" with you or not. I doubt very much that he is. And stop expecting him to pet you when he takes you out. It would be far better if the girls your age got a lot less petting when they went out with boys. If you try to be as sensible as you say he is, he'll like you much more than if you insist on trying to turn a pleasant relationship into something sentimental.

By ELSIE ROBINSON

If I only could think of all the smart things I want to say at the time I should say them—

If I only could give that snappy answer to the boss or tell the girl friend where to head in when she was there to listen!

But no! I'm always at least 20 hours late. And I'll bet you are the same.

Just about 2 a. m. I wake up with some of the slickest answers the world has ever heard. Answers that would lay the boldest bully out cold. But alas and alack, there are no bold bullies lingering around at 2 a. m. My audience is far, far away and all asleep.

And it's the same about insults.

I never know when I'm insulted until it's too late to do anything about it. I'm one of those large, amiable creatures who go ambling through life with a half witted expression, smiling at everybody and everything. And of course the smart and nimble ones frequently long to poke me one in the jaw. Whereat I should become justly indignant—and do, about three o'clock next morning. Then you should see me burn. I am chock full of repartee which would do justice to the late William Shakespeare, Robert G. Ingersoll and Huey Long. But what good does it do? There's nobody to listen. And by the next time I meet the character who has done me dirt I have probably forgotten the whole incident.

Of course I don't really let this cramp my style. Being a woman, I frequently give myself credit for a lot of smart comebacks that have never occurred to me until next Tuesday. But the simple truth is that I have really one of those covered wagon minds. I can't ever aspire to being a surrey with a fringe on top.

So just in case you're planning to write me a nice juicy spitball, save your saliva, deary. For I wouldn't recognize it when it hit.

Moreover I have a deep hunch that nine-tenths of folks are constituted along the same line. To hear us tell it we're a regular land mine when anyone steps on us but as a matter of fact when it comes to a red hot comeback we're just a bunch of empty tomato cans.

However I'm glad we're that way, aren't you? It's a lot friendlier world than it would be if we were really as smart as we pretend. And who in heck would plant the potatoes or print the books if we all devoted our time to getting even with the punks who come our way?

As for me, I'm just going to amble along thinking up wonderful comebacks at 2 a. m., and wishing I'd made them 48 hours earlier Then turning over and going peacefully to sleep—loving my enemies because I'm too doggoned lazy and dumb to do anything else.

FAMILY MESSAGE NUMBER 14

"It's all about MONEY, again!"

Good money management in the home will help to protect your children from the sense of insecurity which handicaps many throughout their lives by DR. MARY FISHER LANGMUIR, Director, Child Study Department of Vassar College; President, Child Study Association of America.

Grownups aren't the only ones concerned about money. Children are quick to sense insecurity, and this fear may have permanent effects upon their lives.

When Mummy and Daddy wrangle over bills, or complain about never having enough money, they may not realize that young ears are taking it all in—and storing it away.

A child who lives in such an atmosphere of anxiety may get the feeling that the whole family is a failure. This often accounts for poor marks at school. Or he may grow up with the idea that money is everything.

The whole family suffers

And this sort of thing is equally bad for parents. How can they enjoy the children under such circumstances, or get any real fun out of life? It may even be that the children will begin to take sides in money quarrels, thus increasing family tension and friction. Or the strain and anxiety at home may handicap Daddy in his job.

Where families follow a wise money plan, they can feel more relaxed about the future, and begin to enjoy the present. Mother and Daddy—and as soon as they are old enough, the children too—should sit down and agree upon what they want most out of life, and what they can and cannot afford to spend.

Large or small, the family income should be used according to certain broad rules—so much set aside regularly to cover payments coming due such as rent, taxes and life insurance; so much saved up for emergencies; and so much for daily living expenses and recreation.

The main thing is to know what you are doing all the time. The whole family will feel happier and more secure if you are free from unforeseen money troubles and emergencies.

HOW TO PLAN FOR FAMILY HAPPINESS

Regardless of the size of income, any family can have more happiness and fewer worries by planning the use of the family money.

First: provide in advance for payments coming due, such as rent, taxes, mortgage charges, life insurance and other insurance. The easiest way is to bank small amounts each payday that will add up to the totals when due.

Second: set aside something extra each payday in the savings account until you build up an emergency fund.

Then you know what is left to spend on everyday family needs such as food, clothing, recreation—and what you can afford to set aside for such future family plans as a new home, education, travel.

Because the life insurance companies and their agents have long helped people to plan for family security and happiness, they are conducting this program of information as a public service to the 73,000,000 owners of life insurance and to every American family.

Albert C. James Named Head Of Sylvan Retreat

Former Deputy To Assist Smith

Albert C. James, Frostburg, formerly deputy sheriff of Allegany County under Sheriff David M. Steele, was appointed superintendent of Sylvan Retreat, the county asylum, by unanimous action of the County Commissioners yesterday.

The appointment, effective April 1, makes James an assistant to Robert Smith, who has been superintendent of both Sylvan Retreat and the County Home and Infirmary, since the new Board took office. Smith will continue as general superintendent over both institutions, with James his assistant at the asylum. The motion for James' appointment was presented by Commissioner William H. Lemmert.

Edwin C. Hoffman, 811 Elwood Lane, a veteran, applied to purchase a lot on Holland Street when and if the Maryland Assembly enacts a bill to enable the board to sell lots on county property in that area, as home sites. Veterans would be given preference, under the measure.

A petition signed by 20 residents of the area was presented to the board, asking that the eastern end of Breakneck Road be hard surfaced. The request was referred to County Engineer Albert S. Paye for investigation. The group cited that the road connects the Murley's Branch Road with the Baltimore Turnpike, and is used by many workers employed in Cumberland, and by farmers hauling produce to the city. It was also pointed out that the road has already been graded and culverts installed, and the hard-surfacing "would save the taxpayers' money in the long run."

Sterley G. Clayton, of Cumberland, submitted an offer of $75 for the abandoned Tunnel Hill school in the Green Ridge section.

W. Lee Linkous, a member of the Harford County Board of Commissioners, asked the Allegany board to support House Bill 438, which would simplify and extend state aid for road work in the counties. Clerk James G. Stevenson was instructed to advise the Harford board that the Allegany commissioners favor the measure.

Kelly Answer

Walsh, who filed the answer in the name of Edmund S. Burke, president of the company, also assailed the charges made by Reed's counsel against Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., president of the board, when the equity action was filed.

Walsh declared that Wilkinson has for a long time been an employe of the company, but denied that his status as an employe of the firm in any way rendered his vote on the exemption order invalid or illegal.

The attorney also asserted that the language used in the charge against Wilkinson "is scandalous and defamatory in its nature, is an unwarranted reflection upon the honesty and integrity of a duly twice elected and highly respected official of this county." Walsh asked that the sentence be expunged from Reed's bill of complaint.

Walsh denies the charge that the exemption order violates Article 15 of the Declaration of Rights of Maryland, and is illegal and void. Lippel had charged that the exemption increased the tax burden on other property owners, and therefore violated state laws which require the tax load shall be uniform on all property owners.

Contract Also Filed

A copy of the contract made by the board and the company July 26, 1935, granting the ten-year exemption, was filed with the answer. The contract refers to the firm as "the new Kelly, party of the second part," and mentioned the previous tax exemptions granted when it was a New Jersey corporation, and identified in the contract as "the old Kelly."

The need of the ten-year exemption was also pointed out in the contract, which stated the reorganization of the bankrupt company could not have been affected unless the taxes on tools and machinery were exempt.

Albert C. James Named Head Of Sylvan Retreat

Former Deputy To Assist Smith

Albert C. James, Frostburg, formerly deputy sheriff of Allegany County under Sheriff David M. Steele, was appointed superintendent of Sylvan Retreat, the county asylum, by unanimous action of the County Commissioners yesterday.

The appointment, effective April 1, makes James an assistant to Robert Smith, who has been superintendent of both Sylvan Retreat and the County Home and Infirmary, since the new Board took office. Smith will continue as general superintendent over both institutions, with James his assistant at the asylum. The motion for James' appointment was presented by Commissioner William H. Lemmert.

Edwin C. Hoffman, 811 Elwood Lane, a veteran, applied to purchase a lot on Holland Street when and if the Maryland Assembly enacts a bill to enable the board to sell lots on county property in that area, as home sites. Veterans would be given preference, under the measure.

A petition signed by 20 residents of the area was presented to the board, asking that the eastern end of Breakneck Road be hard surfaced. The request was referred to County Engineer Albert S. Faye for investigation. The group cited that the road connects the Murley's Branch Road with the Baltimore Turnpike, and is used by many workers employed in Cumberland, and by farmers hauling produce to the city. It was also pointed out that the road has already been graded and culverts installed, and the hard-surfacing "would save the taxpayers' money in the long run."

Sterley G. Clayton, of Cumberland, submitted an offer of $75 for the abandoned Tunnel Hill school in the Green Ridge section.

W. Lee Linkous, a member of the Harford County Board of Commissioners, asked the Allegany board to support House Bill 438, which would simplify and extend state aid for road work in the counties. Clerk James G. Stevenson was instructed to advise the Harford board that the Allegany commissioners favor the measure.

Walsh, who filed the answer in the name of Edmund S. Burke, president of the company, also assailed the charges made by Reed's counsel against Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., president of the board, when the equity action was filed.

Walsh declared that Wilkinson has for a long time been an employe of the company, but denied that his status as an employe of the firm in any way rendered his vote on the exemption order invalid or illegal.

The attorney also asserted that the language used in the charge against Wilkinson "is scandalous and defamatory in its nature, is an unwarranted reflection upon the honesty and integrity of a duly twice elected and highly respected official of this county." Walsh asked that the sentence be expunged from Reed's bill of complaint.

Walsh denies the charge that the exemption order violates Article 15 of the Declaration of Rights of Maryland, and is illegal and void. Lippel had charged that the exemption increased the tax burden on other property owners, and therefore violated state laws which require the tax load shall be uniform on all property owners.

Contract Also Filed

A copy of the contract made by the board and the company July 26, 1935, granting the ten-year exemption, was filed with the answer. The contract refers to the firm as "the new Kelly, party of the second part," and mentioned the previous tax exemptions granted when it was a New Jersey corporation, and identified in the contract as "the old Kelly."

The need of the ten-year exemption was also pointed out in the contract, which stated the reorganization of the bankrupt company could not have been affected unless the taxes on tools and machinery were exempt.

Waiting Lines Are Eliminated By WAA

The Cumberland office of the War Assets Administration announced yesterday that veterans no longer need to wait in line to buy surplus property under the new first come, first served selective number plan inaugurated at a motor vehicle sale at Camp Perry, Va., yesterday.

Veterans will draw a number from a box on the opening of the sale. The number will govern the buyer's place in line since the lowest number will be first in line. Those who arrive after the initial drawing will be assigned numbers forming at the end of the line.

It is also announced that veterans need only their honorable discharge certificates or release to inactive duty orders, to purchase items on the Set-Aside List. Only property on the Set-Aside List in "O" condition or better (usable without repairs) will be sold in this manner. For examble, while typewriters in usable condition are on the Set-Aside list, typewriters in need of repairs are not on the Set-Aside List and may not be purchased by presenting discharge papers but may be purchased only for business use or resale by veterans certified by Veterans Certification Offices for that purpose. The same principle applies to all property on the Set-Aside List, and unless property is advertised as set-aside, business use certificates are required.

For additional information consult the War Assets Administration Certifying Office located in the Cumberland Post Office Building.

Market Has Month's Best Upturn Although Dealings Are Sluggish

NEW YORK, March 18— (AP) — Short covering and buying by professional traders for a technical revival gave today's stock market its best upturns of the month although dealings still were notably sluggish.

Monday's modest comeback was extended after the opening with selected motors, steels and rails adding fractions to 2 or more points. Prices then wavered but hardened again in the final hour with a little activity appearing at the close. Many pivotals finished at or near the day's top. Transfers of 660,000 shares compared with 640,000 in the preceding session which were a 7-months' low. In the concluding period 200,000 shares changed hands.

Norfolk & Western was up 3 points at 244, Dow Chemical 2½ at 162, Allied Chemical 2 at 173, Pullman 1⅝ at 57¼, Chrysler 2¼ at 95⅝, General Motors 1½ at 59¼, United States Steel 1⅛ at 72⅝ and Standard Oil (N.J.) 1½ at 64½.

Others in front included Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Goodyear, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, American Can, General Electric, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, Johns - Manville, United States Gypsum, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania Railroad, Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern Railway, Pepsi - Cola, Schenley and American Woolen.

Among forward curb movers were Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, Pantepec, Middle West Corp. and Salt Dome Oil, turnover here was 190,000 shares, the same as yesterday.

Mild demand boosted selected railway issues fractions to more than a point in a narrow market today.

Turnover was slow at $3,020,000 but represented a slight pickup over Monday's slim $2,740,000.

United States Governments held steady in the over-the-counter market with the victory loan December 2 ½s of '67-'72 at 103 9-32 bid.

Market Has Month's Best Upturn Although Dealings Are Sluggish

NEW YORK, March 18— (AP) — Short covering and buying by professional traders for a technical revival gave today's stock market its best upturns of the month although dealings still were notably sluggish.

Prices then wavered but hardened again in the final hour with a little activity appearing at the close. Many pivotals finished at or near the day's top. Transfers of 660,000 shares compared with 640,000 in the preceding session which were a 7-months' low. In the concluding period 200,000 shares changed hands.

Norfolk & Western was up 3 points at 244, Dow Chemical 2½ at 162, Allied Chemical 2 at 173, Pullman 1⅜ at 57¼, Chrysler 2¼ at 95⅝, General Motors 1½ at 59¼, United States Steel 1¼ at 72⅝ and Standard Oil (N.J.) 1⅛ at 64½.

Others in front included Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Goodyear, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, American Can, General Electric, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, Johns - Manville, United States Gypsum, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania Railroad, Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern Railway, Pepsi - Cola, Schenley and American Woolen.

Among forward curb movers were Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, Pantepec, Middle West Corp. and Salt Dome Oil, turnover here was 190,000 shares, the same as yesterday.

Mild demand boosted selected railway issues fractions to more than a point in a narrow market today.

Turnover was slow at $3,020,000 but represented a slight pickup over Monday's slim $2,740,000.

United States Governments held steady in the over-the-counter market with the victory loan December 2 ½s of '67-'72 at 103 9-32 bid.

Panel Discussion On United Nations Features Meeting

John Dunkle Leads Roundtable Talk

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, March 18 — The United Nations study group of the Frostburg Rotary Club was in charge of the weekly dinner of the club Monday evening at Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The program was directed by Prof. Earl Brain, principal of Beall Elementary School. John L. Dunkle, former president of Frostburg State Teachers' College, served as chairman of the panel, which consisted of H. Reford Aldridge, Ralph M. Race, Walter Mackay, Dr. Walter Jeffries and David Warner. The panel briefly sketched the structure of the United Nations charter and answered questions pertaining to the organization.

Priorities Requested

A proposal that service-disabled veterans be given priority to purchase war surplus materials has been made by the Disabled American Veterans to the War Assets Administration.

Martin L. Ralston, commander of Braddock Chapter No. 9, this city, said the National DAV office, Washington, has made the request to John R. Campbell, director of W A A veterans division.

The DAV has recommended that a policy be adopted whereby the first day of a sale would be for disabled veterans giving them a one-day priority on all surplus commodities. The present plan of first come first served is cited as working a hardship on physically disabled veterans, who must compete.

Ralston added that certifications to veterans for WAA sale of surplus commodities were discontinued recently and the new plan devised with the provision that discharge papers must be displayed at the time a purchase is made.

Elks Mark Anniversary

In keeping with St. Patrick's Day, a talk on "The Work of the Irish in Elkdom" featured the 48th anniversary of Frostburg Lodge No. 470, B. P. O. Elks, which was observed with a banquet at the Clary Club with 173 in attendance.

The principal speaker was A. Charles Stewart, past exalted ruler, past member of the Board of Trustees of the Grand Lodge and past president of the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Elks Association.

Harold Jenkins, retiring exalted ruler, was toastmaster. Dinner music was furnished by Mrs. Edna Engle, vocalist and pianist, who entertained with popular numbers and a group of Irish songs.

Panel Discussion On United Nations Features Meeting

John Dunkle Leads Roundtable Talk

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, March 18 — The United Nations study group of the Frostburg Rotary Club was in charge of the weekly dinner of the club Monday evening at Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The program was directed by Prof. Earl Brain, principal of Beall Elementary School. John L. Dunkle, former president of Frostburg State Teachers' College, served as chairman of the panel, which consisted of H. Reford Aldridge, Ralph M. Race, Walter Mackay, Dr. Walter Jeffries and David Warner. The panel briefly sketched the structure of the United Nations charter and answered questions pertaining to the organization.

Priorities Requested

A proposal that service-disabled veterans be given priority to purchase war surplus materials has been made by the Disabled American Veterans to the War Assets Administration.

Martin L. Ralston, commander of Braddock Chapter No. 9, this city, said the National DAV office, Washington, has made the request to John R. Campbell, director of W A A veterans division.

The DAV has recommended that a policy be adopted whereby the first day of a sale would be for disabled veterans giving them a one-day priority on all surplus commodities. The present plan of first come first served is cited as working a hardship on physically disabled veterans, who must compete.

Ralston added that certifications to veterans for WAA sale of surplus commodities were discontinued recently and the new plan devised with the provision that discharge papers must be displayed at the time a purchase is made.

Elks Mark Anniversary

In keeping with St. Patrick's Day, a talk on "The Work of the Irish in Elkdom" featured the 48th anniversary of Frostburg Lodge No. 470, B. P. O. Elks, which was observed with a banquet at the Clary Club with 173 in attendance.

The principal speaker was A. Charles Stewart, past exalted ruler, past member of the Board of Trustees of the Grand Lodge and past president of the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Elks Association.

Harold Jenkins, retiring exalted ruler, was toastmaster. Dinner music was furnished by Mrs. Edna Engle, vocalist and pianist, who entertained with popular numbers and a group of Irish songs.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to the many who contributed towards the fund raised to defray the funeral expenses of the late John Rozycki, who was a resident of Eckhart for more than 50 years. We want to especially thank St. Michael's Catholic church for the donation of the cemetery lot and the Mass and to express appreciation to the owners of the Hafer Funeral Home, Frostburg, for their generosity that made possible the funeral that was a fitting tribute to the memory of "Little John".

Mrs. Carrie Hess, Miss Mary Hess, Robert Andres, Mrs. Mildred McGowan and Mrs. Helen Shea.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 18—I cornered Preston Sturges and asked him what he's doing these days. He said he's just finished the story of "The Blonde From Bashful Bend" which is intended for Betty Grable.

Rita Hayworth

Well, if this one does for Mrs. James what Preston's "Miracle of Morgan Creek" did for Betty Hutton, La Grable has a hit in the future. This will be Betty's first fling into an out-and-out comedy.

Sturges is one of the few who have seen Charlie Chaplin's "Monsieur Verdoux" which he thinks should be called "The Comedy of Murder." He says Charlie is the same little bum—only this time dressed up in elegant clothes.

When I debated the question of whether a series of murders (along the "Bluebeard" idea) could ever be funny, Preston reminded me of "Arsenic and Old Lace". More details on the Chaplin movie continued in our next.

B'gorrah, Errol Flynn was right about "The 49ers." He starts "The Silver River" for Owen Crump in two weeks at Warners, and there is nary a word about the rootin', tootin' western "The 49'ers" he said he never heard about.

Errol gets Raoul Walsh for his director and Ann Sheridan for his co-star.

I wondered how Ann, who just finished "The Unfaithful" would like making another picture so soon. Owen Crump answered that question for me.

"Ann doesn't really have to come back for four weeks," he said. "We will make a lot of action shots first and keep her scenes until the very last."

I said that Lindsay and his three brothers were having dinner with their pop (whom you know as Bing) and being he-men, they all ate steaks. Mr. Crosby Jr., demanded I retract that item. "I would like you to know I ate fish. It was Friday and I don't care to get in wrong with my school."

Sorry, Lindsay, that my keyhole peeping was at fault.

Speaking of Lindsay and his brothers, Bing was asked if it were true that he, Dixie and the children were going to make a picture.

"Heavens no," said Bing, "haven't I got trouble enough?"

Kent Smith isn't in the least dismayed by the failure of "The Story of Mary Suratt" on Broadway.

He's going to try his luck again in the big town with Miriam Hopkins in Elliott Nugent's play, "Message for Margaret," but he can't go until he finishes "The Voice Of The Turtle."

As you've been told, there were only two characters in the stage play, but the producers who heretofore only existed on the telephone comes to life in the picture and Kent is that producer.

Another "Bringing Up Father" movie based on George McManus' famous cartoon strip is being rushed into production by Monogram. This one will be called "Jiggs and Maggie in Society" and one of the sequences will be Maggie's taking rhumba lessons. She'll take her lessons from Arthur Murray, no less, who will appear in one of the leading roles.

Renie Riano plays Maggie with Joe Yule as Jiggs, who, of course everybody knows, is Mickey Rooney's father. Eddie Cline will again direct.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Frank Sinatra and his Nancy plan to spend the next three weeks in Palm Springs.

Robert Walker and Lee Marshall (Mrs. Herbert) have taken up where they left off and are seeing each other oftener and oftener.

When Skitch Henderson opens April 1 with his band in New York, Anita Colby will be right there. She and Skitch seem orfully, orfully fond of each other.

There is a story, with some kind of moral, going the rounds. A visiting lady fell in love with a well-known movie actor and wrote him love letters. What did he do? He turned them over to his wife who showed them to her friends.

Victor Mature visited the night club where Tony Martin is packing them in nightly in New York and three guesses what they talked about—Rita Hayworth's separation from the self-styled genius, of course. Each of them has been madly in love with the attractive Rita.

Dolores Del Rio plans to go to New York for the opening of John Ford's picture and she is very excited about it, according to Margaret Ettinger who writes from Mexico. Maggie says Dolores looks wonderful.

Jack Cummins, who went to Mexico City to see about the premiere of "Fiesta," took his little daughter with him and they are being much entertained.

And here's good news for Director Bill Howard's friends. He has taken hold of himself and is directing a Mexican picture. Bill always was a good director.

Blanche Ring is selling her New York apartment and moving to Hollywood to live with her sister, Mrs. Frances Meighan.

That's all today.

The pores in mahogany wood that show as penlines, dashes or dots, give depth to the wood and also accentuate the turns and twists in the grain that are responsible for the principal figure and the flash and glimmer of light and shadow that are a part of its beauty.

Red Cross Drive Making Progress In Hardy County

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, March 18—Raymond Sindy, chairman of the Hardy County Red Cross Drive, reports he has already received more than $400 towards the $795 quota set for the county.

Sindy also announces the appointment of Mrs. Maxine Mathias as community chairman at Wardensville.

The $400 reported at the mid-month date assures making the quota for the county as none of the workers in the Capon or Lost River Valley sections have reported.

The low quota of $795 is the result of Hardy County going over the quota set in pervious drives, totaling over $6,000 at one time during the war. Credit is given to Hardy County this year from the surplus of former years.

The Red Cross campaign for funds in the current drive will end the last of March.

Wild Life Is Fed

Wild life in Hardy County came through the recent heavy snows in better shape than expected, according to the report of John Shanholtz, district conservation officer.

Damage caused by the heavy snow throughout the state to wildlife was less than preliminary reports indicated, according to Game Technician W. R. DeGarmo.

Credited with preventing heavy losses of game were the heavy feeding activities of the sportsmen, farmers and conservation officers. Shanholtz stated that the sportsmen in the Capon Valley District and the Lost River Valley District did an especially good job of feeding wildlife.

Firemen To Drill

Each member of the Drill Team of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company will be equipped with a uniform and drills will start next month, according to the announcement of C. H. Friddle, Jr., captain of the drill team. Uniforms now in the hands of the drill team will be cleaned and altered for the present members.

Bids Are Asked

A notice to contractors for sealed bids for grading, draining, shaling and bridging one stream for 3.297 miles of secondary road near Bass was requested this week by the West Virginia State Roads Commission.

The notice for sealed bids stated that the proposals will be opened at Charleston on April 1, 1947.

The project will be under the Federal Aid Secondary Project.

Poland's pre-war population of 35,000,000 has shrunk to 24,000,000 today.

Londonderry P-TA Meeting Is Held

By LILLIAN H. CRABTREE

HYNDMAN, Pa., March 18—The Londonderry Township Parent-Teacher Association met Monday night in the Hyndman school auditorium with President C. P. Gaster in charge. Entertainment was provided by the third grade which presented a play entitled "Peter Rabbit Helps the Children," under the direction of Miss Alta Diehl, teacher. The costumes were designed by Miss Diehl and Mrs. Ona Bruner.

Short talks on "Teacher Co-operation" were given by Gaster and Mrs. Ralph Smeaks. A technicolor picture "Trees and Homes," was shown.

Approximately $4,000 of the $10,000 needed for the new building project has been raised. Prof. Herbert Carpenter and a few representatives will visit Allegany High School in the near future to study plans for the new cafeteria for the school.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shaffer, Hyndman, announce the marriage of their daughter, Lois Jean, to Carl Dwain Whitacre, Route 1, Ridgeley. The ceremony was performed Saturday, March 1, at 7 p. m. at the parsonage of the Church of the Brethren in Cumberland, with Rev. Arthur Scrogum, officiating.

Mrs. Dale Auvil, sister of the bride was matron of honor and Dale Auvil served as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Whitacre, parents of the bridegroom were also present.

The bride was attired in a powder blue suit with white and black accessories and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Whitacre is a graduate of Hyndman High School, class of 1945, and is employed by the Woolworth Company in Cumberland.

Mr. Whitacre attended Ridgeley High School and is a veteran of two years service in the Army. The couple will make their home with the bridegrooms parents.

Red Cross Drive Making Progress In Hardy County

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, March 18—Raymond Sindy, chairman of the Hardy County Red Cross Drive, reports he has already received more than $400 towards the $795 quota set for the county.

Sindy also announces the appointment of Mrs. Maxine Mathias as community chairman at Wardensville.

The $400 reported at the midmonth date assures making the quota for the county as none of the workers in the Capon or Lost River Valley sections have reported.

The low quota of $795 is the result of Hardy County going over the quota set in pervious drives, totaling over $6,000 at one time during the war. Credit is given to Hardy County this year from the surplus of former years.

The Red Cross campaign for funds in the current drive will end the last of March.

Wild Life Is Fed

Wild life in Hardy County came through the recent heavy snows in better shape than expected, according to the report of John Shanholtz, district conservation officer.

Damage caused by the heavy snow throughout the state to wildlife was less than preliminary reports indicated, according to Game Technician W. R. DeGarmo.

Credited with preventing heavy losses of game were the heavy feeding activities of the sportsmen, farmers and conservation officers. Shanholtz stated that the sportsmen in the Capon Valley District and the Lost River Valley District did an especially good job of feeding wildlife.

Firemen To Drill

Each member of the Drill Team of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company will be equipped with a uniform and drills will start next month, according to the announcement of C. H. Friddle, Jr., captain of the drill team. Uniforms now in the hands of the drill team will be cleaned and altered for the present members.

Bids Are Asked

A notice to contractors for sealed bids for grading, draining, shaling and bridging one stream for 3.297 miles of secondary road near Bass was requested this week by the West Virginia State Roads Commission.

The notice for sealed bids stated that the proposals will be opened at Charleston on April 1, 1947.

The project will be under the Federal Aid Secondary Project.

West Virginia Is Favored To Defeat Utah

Mountaineers Will Be Heavy Choice Tonight

Kentucky Gets Nod Over N. C. State

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP) — Kentucky's narrow squeak over underdog Long Island U. Monday night has pepped up the other three fives left in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament and none of the coaches were conceding a thing to the mighty Wildcats today.

But Adolph Rupp, coach of the heavily favored Kentuckians, believes the narrow 66-62 triumph over L. I. U. is going to prove beneficial to his club too.

The top-seeded Wildcats, who take on the smooth, young North Carolina State Red Terrors in the semi-finals tomorrow night at 9:45 p. m. (EST) after Utah faces West Virginia in the 8 p. m. (EST) opener, were rated from 14 to 25 points choices Monday over L. I. U. and at least even money to take the championship.

After a spectacular demonstration of their ability in the first half against L. I. U. in which they piled up an 11-point margin, the Wildcats let overconfidence get the better of them in the second half after they had increased their leads to 19 points.

Blackbirds Inspired Club

The LIU Blackbirds put an inspired drive with three little operatives—Ed Gard, Jackie Goldsmith and Nat Miller — and lanky Dick Holub burning up the court at such a hot pace that the locals tied the score at 62-all with 25 seconds left. Big Wah Wah Jones, a mighty influence in the Kentucky triumph, then turned the tide with a side shot basket that won the game.

The LIU comeback sobered the Wildcats completely, Rupp commenting that "I think it did the boys a lot of good."

Everett Case, N. C. State coach whose team has been dubbed the "Hoosier Hotshots" because of the many Indiana boys on the squad, and his players were pleased onlookers at the Monday affair.

Case, a calm gent who has brought up a fine, well-drilled team, doesn't think his boys will get another case of the jitters such as they suffered in their first half against St. John's Saturday night.

The Red Terrors have the height to match the Wildcats and can employ the same kind of a pressing defense with which L. I. U. annoyed Kentucky in the second half.

West Virginia, 69-60 conquerors of Bradley in its first round match Saturday, will be a heavy choice over unseeded Utah which squeezed out a last minute 45-44 victory over third-seeded Duquesne last night.

The second-seeded Mountaineers looked "horrible" in their victory according to their own coach, Lee Patton, which furnishes an idea of the potential power of the Club. The Mountaineers are tall and fast and have standout operators in Leland Byrd, Ed Beach and Freddy Schaus.

Utah Has Great Spirit

Utah, a small team compared to West Virginia, has tremendous drive and spirit that may offsett its opponents' height. Little Wat Misaka, who was put in Monday's starting lineup as a sentimental gesture by Coach Vadal Peterson and then proceeded to win the game with his last minute free throw as well as with his spirited play throughout the contest, definitely has earned himself another starting role for tomorrow's contest.

Whether Arnie Ferrin will be able to go the whole distance for Utah still was doubtful. The Ute sparkplug was out of the Duquesne game for 10 minutes and at first it was feared that he had suffered an appendicitis attack. He went back into the game after a doctor looked him over and today's examination showed he had suffered an injured muscle. He was given diathermy treatment and had his side taped.

Other minor casualties included Kentucky's Ken Rollins, who turned an ankle in the LIU game and did not practice today and N. C. State's Jack McComas who is nursing a heavy cold.

McComas was in bed tonight but said he expected to play tomorrow. The freshman from Shelbyville, Ind., said the team was keyed up and didn't expect the capacity 18,400 crowd to "freeze" them as it did Saturday.

"That first time in the Garden gave us the jitters for a while, alright, but we'll be okay tomorrow and will give Kentucky a whale of a game."

N. C. State got the first edge on Kentucky today when Rupp and Case tossed a coin to determine which team would sport the white uniforms. State won and the players considered it a good omen.

Patton opined that his Mountaineers would have "a tough time" "They've got a fine, spirited team and two excellent players in Vern Gardner and Arnold Ferrin. They will be very, very tough."

Of Kentucky Patton said "they were a great team until they eased up. And even then they still had enough to come back and win which is awfully tough to do once you start to roll backwards."

General's Stars Are Dress Ornaments

SYDNEY—(AP) — Smart girls in Sydney and Melbourne today are wearing stars similar to those that showed the rank of Uncle Sam's generals during the war.

The stars, together with badges insignia, and other trimming have been sold as ornaments by a contractor for American decorations during the war. Some were of solid silver plated with gold.

A Melbourne contractor is still wondering what to do with hundreds of yards of Purple Heart, DSC, DFC, Silver Star and Good Conduct ribbon, and a roll of Congressional Medal of Honor ribbon, he still has on hand. The United States Army made no stipulations about how the residue of ribbon was to be handled.

The only ribbon so far sold is 200 yards of Purple Heart used on remembrance wreaths on Anzac Day.

Jockey Wayne D. Wright, veteran Rexburg, Idaho, pilot, will swing into riding action next week at Gulfstream Park after shedding 13 pounds in preparation for the 1947 season.

Squirrel Food Is Nutty Business

WICHITA, Kas., (AP) — Flashing lights on the control board registered 57 breaks in one week in the electric cable connecting Wichita's water plant with pumping equipment at wells north of the city.

Trouble-shooters found a point where the cable crossed a hedge, and frisky squirrels were jumping to the cable, knawing through its thick lead covering and biting into the enclosed copper wires.

The hedge was trimmed so the squirrels couldn't leap to the cable, and its supporting poles in the area were circled with tin bands a foot wide so the rodents lost their footing when they tried to climb.

The breaks stopped—but Water Supt. Robert Hesse still wonders whether it was the lead or the stimulation of the 110-volt, low amperage current the squirrels craved.

RED SOX HOPE—Outstanding among rookies trying for places with the Boston Red Sox, American League champions, is Sam Mele, right fielder, who led the Eastern League in batting with a .342 average, as a member of the Scranton, Pa., club.

West Virginia Is Favored To Defeat Utah

Mountaineers Will Be Heavy Choice Tonight

Kentucky Gets Nod Over N. C. State

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP) — Kentucky's narrow squeak over underdog Long Island U. Monday night has pepped up the other three fives left in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament and none of the coaches were conceding a thing to the mighty Wildcats today.

But Adolph Rupp, coach of the heavily favored Kentuckians, believes the narrow 66-62 triumph over L. I. U. is going to prove beneficial to his club too.

The top-seeded Wildcats, who take on the smooth, young North Carolina State Red Terrors in the semi-finals tomorrow night at 9:45 p. m. (EST) after Utah faces West Virginia in the 8 p. m. (EST) opener, were rated from 14 to 25 points choices Monday over L. I. U. and at least even money to take the championship.

After a spectacular demonstration of their ability in the first half against L. I. U. in which they piled up an 11-point margin, the Wildcats let overconfidence get the better of them in the second half after they had increased their leads to 19 points.

Blackbirds Inspired Club

The LIU Blackbirds put an inspired drive with three little operatives—Ed Gard, Jackie Goldsmith and Nat Miller — and lanky Dick Holub burning up the court at such a hot pace that the locals tied the score at 62-all with 25 seconds left. Big Wah Wah Jones, a mighty influence in the Kentucky triumph, then turned the tide with a side shot basket that won the game.

The LIU comeback sobered the Wildcats completely, Rupp commenting that "I think it did the boys a lot of good."

Everett Case, N. C. State coach whose team has been dubbed the "Hoosier Hotshots" because of the many Indiana boys on the squad, and his players were pleased onlookers at the Monday affair.

Case, a calm gent who has brought up a fine, well-drilled team, doesn't think his boys will get another case of the jitters such as they suffered in their first half against St. John's Saturday night.

The Red Terrors have the height to match the Wildcats and can employ the same kind of a pressing defense with which L. I. U. annoyed Kentucky in the second half.

West Virginia, 69-60 conquerors of Bradley in its first round match Saturday, will be a heavy choice over unseeded Utah which squeezed out a last minute 45-44 victory over third-seeded Duquesne last night.

The second-seeded Mountaineers looked "horrible" in their victory according to their own coach, Lee Patton, which furnishes an idea of the potential power of the Club. The Mountaineers are tall and fast and have standout operators in Leland Byrd, Ed Beach and Freddy Schaus.

Utah Has Great Spirit

Utah, a small team compared to West Virginia, has tremendous drive and spirit that may offsett its opponents' height. Little Wat Misaka, who was put in Monday's starting lineup as a sentimental gesture by Coach Vadal Peterson and then proceeded to win the game with his last minute free throw as well as with his spirited play throughout the contest, definitely has earned himself another starting role for tomorrow's contest.

Whether Arnie Ferrin will be able to go the whole distance for Utah still was doubtful. The Ute sparkplug was out of the Duquesne game for 10 minutes and at first it was feared that he had suffered an appendicitis attack. He went back into the game after a doctor looked him over and today's examination showed he had suffered an injured muscle. He was given diathermy treatment and had his side taped.

Other minor casualties included Kentucky's Ken Rollins, who turned an ankle in the LIU game and did not practice today and N. C. State's Jack McComas who is nursing a heavy cold.

McComas was in bed tonight but said he expected to play tomorrow. The freshman from Shelbyville, Ind., said the team was keyed up and didn't expect the capacity 18,400 crowd to "freeze" them as it did Saturday.

"That first time in the Garden gave us the jitters for a while, alright, but we'll be okay tomorrow and will give Kentucky a whale of a game."

N. C. State got the first edge on Kentucky today when Rupp and Case tossed a coin to determine which team would sport the white uniforms. State won and the players considered it a good omen.

Patton opined that his Mountaineers would have "a tough time"

"They've got a fine, spirited team and two excellent players in Vern Gardner and Arnold Ferrin. They will be very, very tough."

Of Kentucky Patton said "they were a great team until they eased up. And even then they still had enough to come back and win which is awfully tough to do once you start to roll backwards."

The Cumberlanders were never in the contest as the fast breaking Lonaconing five had them entirely outclassed. Dundas Orr and Frizzell led the winners attack with 19 and 11 points respectively while Keny Morrissey had six for the losers.

In the first game of the evening, a 115 Pound Contest, the Armbrusters Radio Shop defeated the Max's Little Five in a very interesting game 46-38. Don Smith led the winners offense with 15 points while Herman Lewis tallied 17 for the losers.

Giffords All-Stars easily won over the Micks Five 40-16. Ronnie Cage and Glenn Wertz led the victors with nine and eight points respectively while Merele Cornelius and Bill Nield had six apiece for the losers. This was a 135 Pound game.

Lacy Delicatets had an easy time beating Don and Bud's Confectionery 39-20. Lacy's team, composed of Fort Hill squad members, were led in scoring by Donnie Bucy who had ten points followed closely by Gary Moler. John Vernall had eight markers for the losers. This was a Junior Unlimited contest.

In the fourth game of the evening, another Junior Unlimited contest, the Keyser Firestone Champions overwhelmed the Lonaconing Indians 41 - 20. Williard Oglebee tallied thirteen markers for the winners while Wallace Blackburn marked up nine for the losers.

General's Stars Are Dress Ornaments

SYDNEY—(AP) — Smart girls in Sydney and Melbourne today are wearing stars similar to those that showed the rank of Uncle Sam's generals during the war.

The stars, together with badges insignia, and other trimming have been sold as ornaments by a contractor for American decorations during the war. Some were of solid silver plated with gold.

A Melbourne contractor is still wondering what to do with hundreds of yards of Purple Heart, DSC, DFC, Silver Star and Good Conduct ribbon, and a roll of Congressional Medal of Honor ribbon, he still has on hand. The United States Army made no stipulations about how the residue of ribbon was to be handled.

The only ribbon so far sold is 200 yards of Purple Heart used on remembrance wreaths on Anzac Day.

Jockey Wayne D. Wright, veteran Rexburg, Idaho, pilot, will swing into riding action next week at Gulfstream Park after shedding 13 pounds in preparation for the 1947 season.

Squirrel Food Is Nutty Business

WICHITA, Kas., (AP) — Flashing lights on the control board registered 57 breaks in one week in the electric cable connecting Wichita's water plant with pumping equipment at wells north of the city.

Trouble-shooters found a point where the cable crossed a hedge, and frisky squirrels were jumping to the cable, knawing through its thick lead covering and biting into the enclosed copper wires.

The hedge was trimmed so the squirrels couldn't leap to the cable, and its supporting poles in the area were circled with tin bands a foot wide so the rodents lost their footing when they tried to climb.

The breaks stopped—but Water Supt. Robert Hesse still wonders whether it was the lead or the stimulation of the 110-volt, low amperage current the squirrels craved.

RED SOX HOPE—Outstanding among rookies trying for places with the Boston Red Sox, American League champions, is Sam Mele, right fielder, who led the Eastern League in batting with a .342 average, as a member of the Scranton, Pa., club.

Wounded Veteran Fights For Job With Cardinals

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 18 (AP)—One of baseball's best war stories is a bespectacled kid named Eddie Blake who is fighting an uphill battle for a pitching job with the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals.

Army doctors almost amputated 21-year-old Eddie's right leg after he had been run over by an alligator tank during the landings at Panay in the Philippine Islands. Both legs were broken and there was doubt that the East St. Louis boy would survive.

Eddie not only fooled the doctors but returned to baseball, his burning life-long ambition, as a 16-game winner for Columbus, Ga., in the Class A Sally League in 1946. Now he is a Cardinal, trying to show Manager Dyer he belongs with the parent team.

Blake's experiences of June 29, 1945 are fresh in his mind, stamped in indelible fashion for years to come.

"We were getting ready to hit the beach at Panay," he recalls, "I was lying down behind another tank to get a few seconds rest when the LST stopped suddenly. The cargo lurched forward, apparently carried by momentum and as I lifted my head, I saw this tank coming right at me.

"I got my head out of the way, somehow or other, but I guess I forgot my legs. They had to back off the tank to get me out."

After the doctors finally decided not to amputate, Blake was sent back to a hospital at Leyte where for three months he made a painfully slow recovery. Even then he had but one thing on his mind, a return to baseball at the earliest opportunity.

"I used to play catch in a wheel chair at Leyte," Blake related.

Breaking into the Cardinal staff is a rough job for a youngster who has had only one season in a Class A League. However, Manager Dyer and Owner Sam Breadon are giving this courageous right hander every opportunity.

If Eddie doesn't make it this year, tab him for the future. He made up his mind to be a Cardinal a long time ago, and he doesn't quit.

Bill Would Charge Breakage At Tracks

ANNAPOLIS, March 18 (AP)—The breakage - odd pennies remaining after bet payoffs—would be computed to the 10 cents, instead of the present five, at Maryland's half-mile race tracks under a bill introduced in the House of Delegates today by Speaker Sybert (D-Howard).

Each track would be permitted to retain one-half of the breakage and the remainder would be turned over to the state for use by the Maryland State Fair Board.

The board would return as "much as it deems necessary" to the tracks from which the breakage was collected for premiums and prizes and use the remainder for its own purposes.

The bill, introduced under Sybert's own name and not under his title as speaker, was referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

Team Will Organize

LONACONING, March 18 — The Lonaconing Republican Baseball club of the tri-state league will organize at a meeting Friday, March 21, at 7 o'clock in the Republican club.

Lawrence McKenzie, manager, when announcing the meeting noted that anyone interested in joining the baseball club of the league should attend.

Yanks Will Sponsor Classical Music

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP) — The New York Yankees will sponsor a daily radio program of classical music this baseball season, and just to make it different, Yankee President Larry MacPhail has actually agreed to let the radio station (WQXR) arrange the show as it wishes.

It's going to be tagged "Symphonic Matinee," and the chief purpose is institutional advertising of baseball. There will be opening and closing commercials, mainly to identify the sponsor, and a 25-second middle commercial, which will give the Yankees' score at that particular moment every day.

Marking probably the first time a ball club has bought a musical air program, the show goes on at 4:05 p. m. and ends at 5 p. m. daily, starting April 14 and running through the 26-week season. It will feature, the announcement says, "the best known works of master composers of classical music."

Will Assist Little

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Sid Luckman, Columbia graduate and quarterback for the Chicago Bears of the National Football League, will help coach the Lions for a month this spring, Head Coach Lou Little said today.

Little also said that Tony (Red) Matal, formerly head coach at Taunton, Mass., High School; Joe Stanczyk, formerly head coach at Admiral Farragut Academy; and Bob Bruce, one-time Colby great, had been added to the Columbia coaching staff.

Ron Northey Signs

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 18. (AP)—Ron Northey, last of the Philadelphia Phillies' holdouts, has signed his 1947 contract, General Manager Herb Pennock announced today.

Pennock said the long-hitting outfielder agreed to the terms offered at the start of negotiations. The Phil general manager pointed out that if Northey returns to his prewar form, he will tear up the contract and replace it with a more lucrative offer.

Tucker County Is Ninth In Turkey Kills For 1947

Randolph Is Leader; Gobblers Are Scarce

PARSONS, March 18—Fred A. Glover, field technician for the Conservation Commission at Charleston stated that the Conservation Commission recently announced the 504 total kill for turkeys in West Virginia during the past turkey season. Tucker county ranked first in the number of deer killed this year but it ranked only ninth in the wild turkey kill. Randolph county ranked first. Most of the turkeys killed this past season were hens. Only two gobblers were reported killed in Tucker county. Game Protectors stated that the reported kill each year is only about fifty percent of the actual kill. Thus the illegal killing of wild turkeys is making it difficult for the birds to increase their number.

During the past three years the West Virginia Conservation commission has been conducting a research project on the wild turkey. The general range of the birds for the state has been mapped and the relative location and approximate number of turkeys in each flock have been recorded. It was found that more wild turkey were present in the rugged mountain terrain where the mature forests have not been cut or burned. It is estimated that there are about 3,500 and 4,000 wild turkeys in West Virginia at the present time.

An analysis of fox and bobcat stomachs obtained from local trappers is being made with the hopes of determining the effects of predators on the wild turkey population.

Kumbrabow State Forest, Beaverdam Game Refuge, Seneca State Forest, Cranberry Game Breeding Area, Little River Game Refuge and Nathaniel Mountain Game Refuge have been selected as areas for intense research and game management for wild turkey restoration.

An extensive winter feeding program is in operation this year. All of the game protectors have corn and feed the wild turkeys during the bad storms. So far this year the turkeys are reported in good shape and with the help of the winter feeding program the birds should enter the breeding season in good condition.

Vic Patrick Wants To Come To U. S.

SIDNEY, Australia, March 18 (AP) —Vic Patrick, Australian lightweight champion, said today he wanted to come to the United States for a chance to win the world crown. Patrick Monday night knocked out Eddie Marcus of Los Angeles in 80 seconds.

Patrick said that he previously had rejected offers to fight in America because of his wife and young family.

"Now my wife has agreed to accompany me on the trip and I'm prepared to go, provided a fight can be arranged," he said.

Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia, is recognized as the world lightweight king in New York and Pennsylvania while Ike Williams, Trenton, N. J., is the NBA champion.

Patrick has won 47 of his 50 fights and chilled Marcus with a southpaw wallop to the chin.

CAPTAINS RENS — Clarence "Puggy" Bell, above, is captain and forward of the Renaissance Big Five of New York, nationally known colored professional basketball team, which will attempt to snap the 14-game winning streak of Cumberland's Amvets on Sunday night at 9 o'clock at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium. The Rens have been represented on the court for 25 years and have traveled thousands of miles in their own streamlined bus and by rail and air. They hold the all-time record of consecutive games, having won 88, breaking the previous mark of 44 held by the New York Original Celtics.

Bob Brannum Transfers To Michigan State

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 18 (AP) —Big Bob Bannum, star university of Kentucky basketball center in 1944 before he entered the army, said today he had decided to transfer to Michigan State University.

Brannum, who quit the Kentucky squad before it departed for the National Invitational Tournament in New York, said he chose the East Lansing school over others at which he had offers because his army coach, Dr. Robert Jones, was a Lansing physician and because the school could offer a scholastic course in which he was interested.

He said he was entering the school without a scholarship.

Brannum, an All-Southeastern Conference center in 1944 who was chosen on one All-America team, was relegated to the second University of Kentucky team this season because of the windfall of talent that returned to Coach Adolph Rupp at the end of the war.

Hornback To Coach Vandy Court Team

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 18 (AP) —Vernon (Ted) Hornback, assistant coach of Western Kentucky's outstanding basketball team, has been signed as head basketball coach at Vanderbilt University, Athletic Director H. R. (Red) Sanders said today.

Hornback, who has been assistant to Ed Diddle at the Bowling Green, Ky., school for eight years, will take over the basketball coaching job at Vandy, allowing Coach Norman Cooper, who has been handling the Commodore basketeers, to devote his full time to his duties as assistant football coach, Sanders said.

In addition, Hornback will assist with the football coaching in the early fall and aid in the spring program.

Terms of Hornback's contract were not announced, but Sanders said the Western Kentucky coach would take over his new duties immediately.

New Coached Named

AMES, Ia., March 18 (AP)—Clayton (Chick) Sutherland, for four years the assistant basketball coach, today was named head cage mentor at Iowa State College and immediately was given the blessing of the chairman of an Alumni Investigating Committee which had called for the "rehabilitation" of athletics at the school.

"Chick's a fine fellow and should do a good job," said Chairman Kenneth Wells, athletic director at Ames High School. "He is one of the best assets the college athletic department has."

Sutherland, a former Mason City, Ia., junior college coach, succeeds Louis Menze, the coach for 19 years. Menze dropped his basketball assignment to concentrate on his duties as athletic director.

Groza, Beard Named On First Team

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Alex Groza and Ralph Beard, both of the University of Kentucky, won places on the first team of the National Association of Basketball Coaches All-Star Aggregation announced today by True Magazine.

The mentor's organization and a selected panel of newsmen picked the squad for the magazine.

Andy Phillips, Illinois, Gerald Tucker, Oklahoma and Sid Tanenbaum, New York University completed the first five.

Bob Cook, Wisconsin, Jack Tingle, Kentucky, Tany Lavelli, Yale, John Dollon, North Carolina and Dick McGuire, St. John's (Brooklyn) comprise the second team.

Wounded Veteran Fights For Job With Cardinals

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 18. (AP)—One of baseball's best war stories is a bespectacled kid named Eddie Blake who is fighting an uphill battle for a pitching job with the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals.

Army doctors almost amputated 21-year-old Eddie's right leg after he had been run over by an alligator tank during the landings at Panay in the Philippine Islands. Both legs were broken and there was doubt that the East St. Louis boy would survive.

Eddie not only fooled the doctors but returned to baseball, his burning life-long ambition, as a 16-game winner for Columbus, Ga., in the Class A Sally League in 1946. Now he is a Cardinal, trying to show Manager Dyer he belongs with the parent team.

Blake's experiences of June 29, 1945 are fresh in his mind, stamped in indelible fashion for years to come.

"We were getting ready to hit the beach at Panay," he recalls, "I was lying down behind another tank to get a few seconds rest when the LST stopped suddenly. The cargo lurched forward, apparently carried by momentum and as I lifted my head, I saw this tank coming right at me.

"I got my head out of the way, somehow or other, but I guess I forgot my legs. They had to back off the tank to get me out."

After the doctors finally decided not to amputate, Blake was sent back to a hospital at Leyte where for three months he made a painfully slow recovery. Even then he had but one thing on his mind, a return to baseball at the earliest opportunity.

"I used to play catch in a wheel chair at Leyte," Blake related.

Breaking into the Cardinal staff is a rough job for a youngster who has had only one season in a Class A League. However, Manager Dyer and Owner Sam Breadon are giving this courageous right hander every opportunity.

If Eddie doesn't make it this year, tab him for the future. He made up his mind to be a Cardinal a long time ago, and he doesn't quit.

Bill Would Charge Breakage At Tracks

ANNAPOLIS, March 18 (AP)—The breakage - odd pennies remaining after bet payoffs—would be computed to the 10 cents, instead of the present five, at Maryland's half-mile race tracks under a bill introduced in the House of Delegates today by Speaker Sybert (D-Howard).

Each track would be permitted to retain one-half of the breakage and the remainder would be turned over to the state for use by the Maryland State Fair Board.

The board would return as "much as it deems necessary" to the tracks from which the breakage was collected for premiums and prizes and use the remainder for its own purposes.

The bill, introduced under Sybert's own name and not under his title as speaker, was referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

Team Will Organize

LONACONING, March 18 — The Lonaconing Republican Baseball club of the tri-state league will organize at a meeting Friday, March 21, at 7 o'clock in the Republican club.

Lawrence McKenzie, manager, when announcing the meeting noted that anyone interested in joining the baseball club of the league should attend.

Yanks Will Sponsor Classical Music

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP) — The New York Yankees will sponsor a daily radio program of classical music this baseball season, and just to make it different, Yankee President Larry MacPhail has actually agreed to let the radio station (WQXR) arrange the show as it wishes.

It's going to be tagged "Symphonic Matinee," and the chief purpose is institutional advertising of baseball. There will be opening and closing commercials, mainly to identify the sponsor, and a 25-second middle commercial, which will give the Yankees' score at that particular moment every day.

Marking probably the first time a ball club has bought a musical air program, the show goes on at 4:05 p. m. and ends at 5 p. m. daily, starting April 14 and running through the 26-week season. It will feature, the announcement says, "the best known works of master composers of classical music."

Will Assist Little

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Sid Luckman, Columbia graduate and quarterback for the Chicago Bears of the National Football League, will help coach the Lions for a month this spring, Head Coach Lou Little said today.

Little also said that Tony (Red) Matal, formerly head coach at Taunton, Mass., High School; Joe Stanczyk, formerly head coach at Admiral Farragut Academy; and Bob Bruce, one-time Colby great, had been added to the Columbia coaching staff.

Ron Northey Signs

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 18. (AP)—Ron Northey, last of the Philadelphia Phillies' holdouts, has signed his 1947 contract, General Manager Herb Pennock announced today.

Pennock said the long-hitting outfielder agreed to the terms offered at the start of negotiations. The Phil general manager pointed out that if Northey returns to his prewar form, he will tear up the contract and replace it with a more lucrative offer.

Tucker County Is Ninth In Turkey Kills For 1947

Randolph Is Leader; Gobblers Are Scarce

PARSONS, March 18—Fred A. Glover, field technician for the Conservation Commission at Charleston stated that the Conservation Commission recently announced the 504 total kill for turkeys in West Virginia during the past turkey season. Tucker county ranked first in the number of deer killed this year but it ranked only ninth in the wild turkey kill. Randolph county ranked first. Most of the turkeys killed this past season were hens. Only two gobblers were reported killed in Tucker county. Game Protectors stated that the reported kill each year is only about fifty percent of the actual kill. Thus the illegal killing of wild turkeys is making it difficult for the birds to increase their number.

During the past three years the West Virginia Conservation commission has been conducting a research project on the wild turkey. The general range of the birds for the state has been mapped and the relative location and approximate number of turkeys in each flock have been recorded. It was found that more wild turkey were present in the rugged mountain terrain where the mature forests have not been cut or burned. It is estimated that there are about 3,500 and 4,000 wild turkeys in West Virginia at the present time.

An analysis of fox and bobcat stomachs obtained from local trappers is being made with the hopes of determining the effects of predators on the wild turkey population.

Kumbrabow State Forest, Beaverdam Game Refuge, Seneca State Forest, Cranberry Game Breeding Area, Little River Game Refuge and Nathaniel Mountain Game Refuge have been selected as areas for intense research and game management for wild turkey restoration.

An extensive winter feeding program is in operation this year. All of the game protectors have corn and feed the wild turkeys during the bad storms. So far this year the turkeys are reported in good shape and with the help of the winter feeding program the birds should enter the breeding season in good condition.

Vic Patrick Wants To Come To U. S.

SIDNEY, Australia, March 18 (AP) — Vic Patrick, Australian lightweight champion, said today he wanted to come to the United States for a chance to win the world crown. Patrick Monday night knocked out Eddie Marcus of Los Angeles in 80 seconds.

Patrick said that he previously had rejected offers to fight in America because of his wife and young family.

"Now my wife has agreed to accompany me on the trip and I'm prepared to go, provided a fight can be arranged," he said.

Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia, is recognized as the world lightweight king in New York and Pennsylvania while Ike Williams, Trenton, N. J., is the NBA champion.

Patrick has won 47 of his 50 fights and chilled Marcus with a southpaw wallop to the chin.

CAPTAINS RENS — Clarence "Puggy" Bell, above, is captain and forward of the Renaissance Big Five of New York, nationally known colored professional basketball team, which will attempt to snap the 14-game winning streak of Cumberland's Amvets on Sunday night at 9 o'clock at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium. The Rens have been represented on the court for 25 years and have traveled thousands of miles in their own streamlined bus and by rail and air. They hold the all-time record of consecutive games, having won 88, breaking the previous mark of 44 held by the New York Original Celtics.

Bob Brannum Transfers To Michigan State

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 18 (AP)—Big Bob Bannum, star university of Kentucky basketball center in 1944 before he entered the army, said today he had decided to transfer to Michigan State University.

Brannum, who quit the Kentucky squad before it departed for the National Invitational Tournament in New York, said he chose the East Lansing school over others at which he had offers because his army coach, Dr. Robert Jones, was a Lansing physician and because the school could offer a scholastic course in which he was interested.

He said he was entering the school without a scholarship.

Brannum, an All-Southeastern Conference center in 1944 who was chosen on one All-America team, was relegated to the second University of Kentucky team this season because of the windfall of talent that returned to Coach Adolph Rupp at the end of the war.

Hornback To Coach Vandy Court Team

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 18 (AP)—Vernon (Ted) Hornback, assistant coach of Western Kentucky's outstanding basketball team, has been signed as head basketball coach at Vanderbilt University, Athletic Director H. R. (Red) Sanders said today.

Hornback, who has been assistant to Ed Diddle at the Bowling Green, Ky., school for eight years, will take over the basketball coaching job at Vandy, allowing Coach Norman Cooper, who has been handling the Commodore basketeers, to devote his full time to his duties as assistant football coach, Sanders said.

In addition, Hornback will assist with the football coaching in the early fall and aid in the spring program.

Terms of Hornback's contract were not announced, but Sanders said the Western Kentucky coach would take over his new duties immediately.

New Coached Named

AMES, Ia., March 18 (AP)—Clayton (Chick) Sutherland, for four years the assistant basketball coach, today was named head cage mentor at Iowa State College and immediately was given the blessing of the chairman of an Alumni Investigating Committee which had called for the "rehabilitation" of athletics at the school.

"Chick's a fine fellow and should do a good job," said Chairman Kenneth Wells, athletic director at Ames High School. "He is one of the best assets the college athletic department has."

Sutherland, a former Mason City, Ia., junior college coach, succeeds Louis Menze, the coach for 19 years. Menze dropped his basketball assignment to concentrate on his duties as athletic director.

Groza, Beard Named On First Team

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Alex Groza and Ralph Beard, both of the University of Kentucky, won places on the first team of the National Association of Basketball Coaches All-Star Aggregation announced today by True Magazine.

The mentor's organization and a selected panel of newsmen picked the squad for the magazine.

Bob Cook, Wisconsin, Jack Tingle, Kentucky, Tany Lavelli, Yale, John Dollon, North Carolina and Dick McGuire, St. John's (Brooklyn) comprise the second team.

Chandler Declines To Admit Story Of Sports Writer

By GAYLE TALBOT

TAMPA, Fla., March 18 (AP) — Between belts at a golf ball, Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler declined today to admit that he had told a Cincinnati sports writer that "somebody may wind up getting kicked out of baseball" as a result of the hearing involving Larry MacPhail of the Yankees and Branch Rickey of the Dodgers at Sarasota next Monday.

At the same time, Lou Smith of Cincinnati Enquirer maintained stoutly that he not only had quoted baseball's head man explicitly, but that Chandler "said a great deal more I didn't print."

Smith in his dispatch to his newspaper quoted Chandler as having warned, while discussing Monday's hearing:

"Somebody may wind up getting kicked out of baseball. I'm taking off my kid gloves and I intend making things tough for the baseball people who won't toe the line and whose conduct I consider detrimental to baseball."

Monday's hearing will consider a complaint lodged by MacPhail with the commissioner that remarks attributed to officials of the Brooklyn Dodgers "reflect upon the character and integrity" of the New York Club. MacPhail described the statements as "libelous and scandalous."

Commissioner Chandler was golfing at a local club today in a foursome which included Smith when this reporter, carefully waiting until he had reached the top of his backswing, asked if he would expand upon the "tough" remarks attributed to him by Smith.

"I don't remember saying anything like that," he said sharply, "but if I did I'm not going to say it again. I can't help what's on the wire. I don't know anything about it.

"I'm not prejudicing anybody and I'll decide what punishment, if any, is necessary after I've heard all the evidence Monday. The punishment will fit the crime. I haven't even seen a copy of MacPhail's charges."

League Will Meet

The second meeting of the year will be held by the City Softball League tonight at 8 o'clock at the Amvets Home. Ten teams are expected to obtain franchises in the circuit. There were eight last year.

Bucknell Lands Lawrence — "Red" Brown Is Mentioned

* * *

Confusion Follows Bout — Grove Played "Outdoors"

By C. V. BURNS

Harry Lawrence, Baltimore City College's football coach, will be the head man in the grid sport at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., next season.

Lawrence, former four-letter athlete at Western Maryland College, will succeed Albert E. Humphreys, who resigned last month. Humphreys will continue as athletic director at Bucknell.

One of Lawrence's teams, that of 1940, defeated Allegany High School's gridders by the score of 34 to 6.

Harry has been coaching at City for nine years. He took over the job there in 1943 but missed four years because of naval service during the war.

A minature ring riot and guerrilla warfare among henchmen of the two heavyweights marked last Friday's Boston bout in which Johnny Shkor technically kayoed Tami Mauriello in the eighth round.

Mauriello was given such a bloody battering that a commission physician ordered the bout stopped before Tami could answer the bell for the eighth. The New Yorker, who was flattened by Joe Louis in one round last September, was bleeding from gashes above and below his eyes.

Tami ran amuck when the bout was stopped. As Shkor came out of his corner to shake hands with the beaten Mauriello, the latter tried to continue the fight. He managed to kick Shkor about the thighs and then he broke loose and landed a looping left hook on Shkor's chin.

Infuriated by the punch, Shkor charged in to continue the brawl but the ring was then filled with policemen and the affair halted. Mauriello shook his first at Shkor as he was being led from the ring.

But that wasn't all.

As the fighters proceeded to their dressing rooms in the basement of the arena, a policemean escorting Shkor was slugged by Mauriello admirers and Matty Norton, Shkor's trainer, was chased from the building by irate pursuers. One indignant bettor tried to beat Shkor with a broken bottle and several other Mauriello admirers managed to land punches on Shko.

All this occured in Boston. Wonder what would have happened to Shkor had he walloped Mauriello in New York?

Sparrows Point High School, Allegany's opponent in the finals of Maryland's Class "A" basketball team, is the same school that won the Maryland Class "A" soccer title by defeating Beall High School of Frostburg last November 21 at Boonsboro, Md.

The score was 3-2 and the loss was Beall's first in 18 games over a stretch of three seasons.

The leading jockey of the winter meeting at Sunshine Park (Tampa, Fla.) is Jimmy Baird, a youngster, who only last June was around the stable area at Charles Town, W. Va., trying to pick up change for walking horses.

Here's a warning to amateur boxers:

Do not box for any club that is not affiliated with the South Atlantic Association of the A.A.U. And do not appear in any show that cannot produce official A.A.U. sanction papers.

Follow these instructions and avoid possible suspension.

Robert N. "Red" Brown, assistant basketball coach of the West Virginia Mountaineers, now in New York, is being mentioned frequently in connection with the soon to be vacated coaching post at Davis and Elkins College. The talk began last week when Coach Harvey Rooker announced that he was resigning to enter business in Elkins.

Brown, who used to compete here in L. E. "Red" Van Sant's tennis tournaments, has been connected with West Virginia University's athletic department since last summer. He is now serving as first assistant to Coach Lee Patton.

"Red" was graduated from Davis and Elkins in 1930 and played both basketball and football for the Senators. He coached Elkin's High for several years before joining the W.V.U. staff.

After receiving his degree at D. & E., Brown became coach at Tygarts Valley High School at Mill Creek, remaining there until he entered the restaurant business in Elkins which he still operates in addition to his duties at the Morgantown university.

Radio's Dr. I. Q. named four players recently admitted to Baseball's Hall of Fame. He mentioned the name of Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, of Lonaconing, and asked: "Where did he play?"

The man with a foreign accent replied, "outside."

The doctor remarked that the man had his sports mixed up.

Dr. I. Q. apparently meant Grove's position on the team.

One writer points out that technically, the answer "outside" was right because Grove didn't play indoor baseball!

Johnny Tammaro, the Baltimorean, who put on a garrison finish to win top riding honors at Fairgo last fall, now tips the beam at 137 pounds. He suffered a broken leg at Charles Town last December and the cast was removed the other day. He tipped the beam at 114 the day he was hurt.

Remember the late Cooney Martin, who promoted boxing shows in Johnstown, Pa., for many years?

His son (Pete Mattern) is now managing the Kelso Athletic Club, a stable of 18 amateur leather pushers, and some of his boys probably will show here in the near future.

Joe Gordon Is Showing Up Fine With Cleveland

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, March 18—(AP)—The best thing that has happened to the Cleveland Baseball Club this spring is Joe Gordon.

Manager-Shortstop Lou Boudreau, fireball Bob Feller—and now Flash Gordon. What a trio for any ball club.

Five-time participant in the World Series, four times selected for the annual All-Star Game, and most valuable player in the American League in 1942, Gordon was traded to the Indians last fall by the Yankees for Pitcher Allie Reynolds.

Time will be the judge, of course, but unless some smart baseball men are wrong Larry Mac Phail, Yankee president and wildman of the Bronx, may be wilder still next fall.

Strictly on performance, Gordon thus far has looked nothing like the leg-ailing player of 1946, and not too unlike the Gordon of old time Yankee brilliance.

He reported to the camp at Tucson, Ariz., in fine shape, he's displayed hustle, and more important, he's hit the ball hard and often.

Two rather elderly students of hitting watched and came up with unstinted praise. You'll remember them—a pair named Tris Speaker and Rogers Hornsby.

The Raj went further. He predicted that Boudreau and Gordon would emerge as the finest keystone combination in the history of the game.

Quite naturally the Messrs. Boudreau, Feller and Gordon will have to have some assistance. It must be admitted there remains some question as to the caliber they will receive, and must receive if the club is to get higher than their sixth place 1946 finish.

As the fighters proceeded to their dressing rooms in the basement of the arena, a policemean escorting Shkor was slugged by Mauriello admirers and Matty Norton, Shkor's trainer, was chased from the building by irate pursuers. One indignant bettor tried to beat Shkor with a broken bottle and several other Mauriello admirers managed to land punches on Shko.

All this occured in Boston. Wonder what would have happened to Shkor had he walloped Mauriello in New York?

Sparrows Point High School, Allegany's opponent in the finals of Maryland's Class "A" basketball team, is the same school that won the Maryland Class "A" soccer title by defeating Beall High School of Frostburg last November 21 at Boonsboro, Md.

The score was 3-2 and the loss was Beall's first in 18 games over a stretch of three seasons.

The leading jockey of the winter meeting at Sunshine Park (Tampa, Fla.) is Jimmy Baird, a youngster, who only last June was around the stable area at Charles Town, W. Va., trying to pick up change for walking horses.

Here's a warning to amateur boxers:

Do not box for any club that is not affiliated with the South Atlantic Association of the A.A.U. And do not appear in any show that cannot produce official A.A.U. sanction papers.

Follow these instructions and avoid possible suspension.

Robert N. "Red" Brown, assistant basketball coach of the West Virginia Mountaineers, now in New York, is being mentioned frequently in connection with the soon to be vacated coaching post at Davis and Elkins College. The talk began last week when Coach Harvey Rooker announced that he was resigning to enter business in Elkins.

Brown, who used to compete here in L. E. "Red" Van Sant's tennis tournaments, has been connected with West Virginia University's athletic department since last summer. He is now serving as first assistant to Coach Lee Patton.

"Red" was graduated from Davis and Elkins in 1930 and played both basketball and football for the Senators. He coached Elkins High for several years before joining the W.V.U. staff.

After receiving his degree at D. & E., Brown became coach at Tygarts Valley High School at Mill Creek, remaining there until he entered the restaurant business in Elkins which he still operates in addition to his duties at the Morgantown university.

Radio's Dr. I. Q. named four players recently admitted to Baseball's Hall of Fame. He mentioned the name of Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, of Lonaconing, and asked: "Where did he play?"

The man with a foreign accent replied, "outside."

The doctor remarked that the man had his sports mixed up.

Dr. I. Q. apparently meant Grove's position on the team.

One writer points out that technically, the answer "outside" was right because Grove didn't play indoor baseball!

Johnny Tammaro, the Baltimorean, who put on a garrison finish to win top riding honors at Fairgo last fall, now tips the beam at 137 pounds. He suffered a broken leg at Charles Town last December and the cast was removed the other day. He tipped the beam at 114 the day he was hurt.

Remember the late Cooney Martin, who promoted boxing shows in Johnstown, Pa., for many years?

Joe Gordon Is Showing Up Fine With Cleveland

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, March 18—(AP)—The best thing that has happened to the Cleveland Baseball Club this spring is Joe Gordon.

Manager-Shortstop Lou Boudreau, fireball Bob Feller—and now Flash Gordon. What a trio for any ball club.

Five-time participant in the World Series, four times selected for the annual All-Star Game, and most valuable player in the American League in 1942, Gordon was traded to the Indians last fall by the Yankees for Pitcher Allie Reynolds.

Time will be the judge, of course, but unless some smart baseball men are wrong Larry Mac Phail, Yankee president and wildman of the Bronx, may be wilder still next fall.

Strictly on performance, Gordon thus far has looked nothing like the leg-ailing player of 1946, and not too unlike the Gordon of old time Yankee brilliance.

He reported to the camp at Tucson, Ariz., in fine shape, he's displayed hustle, and more important, he's hit the ball hard and often.

Two rather elderly students of hitting watched and came up with unstinted praise. You'll remember them—a pair named Tris Speaker and Rogers Hornsby.

The Raj went further. He predicted that Boudreau and Gordon would emerge as the finest keystone combination in the history of the game.

Quite naturally the Messrs. Boudreau, Feller and Gordon will have to have some assistance. It must be admitted there remains some question as to the caliber they will receive, and must receive if the club is to get higher than their sixth place 1946 finish.

JACKIE ROBINSON STARS

PANAMA CITY, March 18 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Negro infielder owned by the Brooklyn Dodgers, enhanced his bid for a major league berth Monday by playing a flawless game at first base and collecting two hits as the Montreal Royals and the Dodgers battled to a 1-1 tie in a game halted at the end of eight innings because of darkness.

Robinson, who led the International League in batting last year while playing second base for the Champion Royals, handled 13 chances and one of his hits led to the Royals' only run of the game in the fourth inning.

Mallards don't jump out of water; they fly out. An alarmed drake unfolds his wings, lays them flat on the water, thrusts vigorously, starts the upbeat and is airborne—all within one-half second.

JACKIE ROBINSON STARS

PANAMA CITY, March 18 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Negro infielder owned by the Brooklyn Dodgers, enhanced his bid for a major league berth Monday by playing a flawless game at first base and collecting two hits as the Montreal Royals and the Dodgers battled to a 1-1 tie in a game halted at the end of eight innings because of darkness.

Robinson, who led the International League in batting last year while playing second base for the Champion Royals, handled 13 chances and one of his hits led to the Royals' only run of the game in the fourth inning.

Mallards don't jump out of water; they fly out. An alarmed drake unfolds his wings, lays them flat on the water, thrusts vigorously, starts the upbeat and is airborne—all within one-half second.

In Memoriam

In memory of my mother, Mrs. Thomas McCormack, who passed away two years ago today, March 19, 1945.

Could I but have one gift from God
Mother I would ask for you,
To live again those happy hours
I used to spend with you.
'Tis lonesome here without you,
And sad the weary way,
For life is not the same to me
Since the day you went away.

JOIN A FAMOUS FIGHTING DIVISION

The famous 7th Infantry Division, now guarding the peace in Korea, has opened its ranks to hand-picked, keen young men capable of meeting its high standards.

First to recapture American territory from the Japanese — heroes of battles on Attu, Kwajalein, Leyte and Okinawa —the "Hourglass" 7th offers the right kind of man a chance to join a top outfit. A three-year enlistment for service in the Far East will enable you to pick the 7th — and to join it overseas after initial training in the U. S.

A Private starts at $90 a month (overseas pay), with plenty of opportunity for advancement. Many other advantages make this well worth discussing with your nearest

In Memoriam

In memory of my mother, Mrs. Thomas McCormack, who passed away two years ago today, March 19, 1945.

Could I but have one gift from God
Mother I would ask for you,
To live again those happy hours
I used to spend with you.
'Tis lonesome here without you,
And sad the weary way,
For life is not the same to me
Since the day you went away.

Sadly missed by her daughter,
JULIA McC. WARD

The famous 7th Infantry Division, now guarding the peace in Korea, has opened its ranks to hand-picked, keen young men capable of meeting its high standards.

Today's Talk

Conflicts

One of the great interests that are common to us all is conflicts. All through life they meet us in some manner or other. We meet them in religion, politics, nature, in the conservation of our health, in our friendships, and in the expression of our ideas on an endless number of topics.

We are forever meeting interferences. Sometimes we fight right through them—come what may. But more often we try to compromise, to trim, or surrender. In the Metropolitan Museum in New York is a great marble group of two men, by the late George Grey Barnard. It is entitled: "I feel two Natures, struggling within me."

Perhaps there may be only two—the good and the bad—but I rather think that there are a dozen or more natures struggling within us. And the sum total of the character that we present to the world is proof of what conflicts we have won. We speak of the "battle-scarred veteran." Those scars represent many and many a conflict.

Far more conflicts go on within ourselves than those which we experience in the outside world. We owe far more to our self-respect than we do to mere reputation, or to what is usually termed success. To have stood alone, though all hell should have erupted about us, just to have upheld one great or holy principle, is to have won a notable success!

Mr. Philip Wyle has written a most ingenious brief book, which he has called "An Essay on Morals," in which he states that man is a super animal. I think I can go along with him on that statement—but I know a lot of animals that wouldn't do what we super animals do! And yet, perhaps we have inherited the traits of scores of them, and that may be the reason why we have so many conflicts.

I do feel this—without continual conflicts within us we would not be worth our salt! All life is spread with them. We no sooner get out of one than we face another. That's what gives no life its great interest, its great urge, its hope and aspiration. It also gives to us the groundwork of our faith.

Today's Talk

Conflicts

One of the great interests that are common to us all is conflicts. All through life they meet us in some manner or other. We meet them in religion, politics, nature, in the conservation of our health, in our friendships, and in the expression of our ideas on an endless number of topics.

We are forever meeting interferences. Sometimes we fight right through them—come what may. But more often we try to compromise, to trim, or surrender. In the Metropolitan Museum in New York is a great marble group of two men, by the late George Grey Barnard. It is entitled: "I feel two Natures, struggling within me."

Perhaps there may be only two—the good and the bad—but I rather think that there are a dozen or more natures struggling within us. And the sum total of the character that we present to the world is proof of what conflicts we have won. We speak of the "battle-scarred veteran." Those scars represent many and many a conflict.

Far more conflicts go on within ourselves than those which we experience in the outside world. We owe far more to our self-respect than we do to mere reputation, or to what is usually termed success. To have stood alone, though all hell should have erupted about us, just to have upheld one great or holy principle, is to have won a notable success!

Mr. Philip Wyle has written a most ingenious brief book, which he has called "An Essay on Morals," in which he states that man is a super animal. I think I can go along with him on that statement—but I know a lot of animals that wouldn't do what we super animals do! And yet, perhaps we have inherited the traits of scores of them, and that may be the reason why we have so many conflicts.

I do feel this—without continual conflicts within us we would not be worth our salt! All life is spread with them. We no sooner get out of one than we face another. That's what gives no life its great interest, its great urge, its hope and aspiration. It also gives to us the groundwork of our faith.

Bill Would Give Salary Increases To Mayor, Council

Raise Is Provided For Circuit Clerk

Cumberland's Mayor and Council and the clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court would receive salary increases under measures introduced in the House of Delegates and the State Senate yesterday.

The Allegany County delegation introduced a bill providing for salary increases for the Mayor and Council but provided for a referendum on the question.

Sen. Robert B. Kimble introduced the meansure that would increase the salary of the clerk of court from $4,800 to $6,000.

The measure introduced by the delegation would increase the salary of the Mayor of Cumberland from $2,000 to $3,600 per year and the pay of council members would be raised from $1,500 to $2,400.

This proposal would be submitted to Cumberland voters at the next regular city election.

The Mayor and Council would be required also to spend at least five hours, instead of four, on city work each day except Sundays and holidays.

Would Regulate Taxicabs

Taxicabs operating in Cumberland would be brought under supervision of the Public Service Commission under terms of another bill introduced yesterday by Sen. Kimble.

The bill specifies that "cities over 40,000" would come under the bill's terms, and Cumberland is the only municipality outside of Baltimore with that large a population.

While the 1940 census lists Cumberland's population as between 39,000 and 40,000, Kimble said he believes present population of the city is over 40,000 and the bill would be applicable here. Taxicabs in Baltimore already are under Public Service Commission rules.

Effective next January 1, if it passes, all taxicabs in the city would be required to be equipped with meters and the PSC would approve rates and set the number of permits which could be issued.

Another bill introduced yesterday by Sen. Kimble would provide for the use of voting machines in Allegany County. He said this is a companion measure to one he introduced Saturday which made it mandatory for the County Commissioners to purchase the machines but authorized them to choose the method of obtaining the necessary funds to make the purchase.

Mandatory In 1948

Under the bill introduced yesterday, the use of voting machines instead of paper ballots would be mandatory in the 1948 primary election and thereafter. The County Commissioners would be directed to purchase the machines and the Board of Supervisors of Elections would determine the number and location of polling places.

Baltimore City and Montgomery County are the only sub-divisions now using voting machines. Bills are now pending that would bring them into use in Talbot and Prince George's County also.

A bill which probably would have resulted in Allegany County having seven members in the House of Delegates instead of six as at present, appeared slated for death, according to reports from Annapolis yesterday.

The county delegation met yesterday with William C. Walsh, Morgan C. Harris, D. Lindley Sloan, William A. Gunter and Charles Z. Heskett as well as with Rev. Ray M. Henthorne, Rev. B. Ralph Mark and former Delegate George Jeffries, in connection with a new retail liquor law to be prepared for Allegany County, replacing the act declared unconstitutional by the Court of Appeals.

William Blair Named Chaplain Henry Hart Post

Plan To Install Officers April 12

William Blair, 23-year-old veteran of World War II, was elected Chaplain of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, last night, in the only contested post in the annual election.

Blair, a Celanese power and auxiliary department employee, served in the United States Navy for three years as a pharmacists mate, second class, and was on duty in the Southwest Pacific.

Other officers named without opposition include James Lee Thrasher, commander; James Kloran, senior vice-commander; Verner Winner, junior vice-commander; Roy F. Everstine, quartermaster; Thomas K. Whalley, post judge advocate; Dr. Richard Williams, post surgeon; and Curtis MacA. Kime, three-year trustee.

Commander Raymond Reynolds appointed a committee to arrange for the installation of officers at the Queen City Hotel, April 12, with Department Adjutant Reginald H. Murphy of Baltimore as installing officer. Thomas B. Finan, Jr., will be master of ceremonies.

Reynolds named the following committee to take charge of the installation: John Fike, chairman, James E. Stemple, Gordon Hite, James Kloran, William Blair, Verner Winner and the post commander. Fike called a meeting of the committee for Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the post home.

Adjutant T. K. Whalley reported the post membership for 1947 is now 1,852 members.

Associate Judge George Henderson, long an active member of the post, was called upon to speak. He told the post that he is hearing good reports about the VFW. He complimented the officers of the post for maintaining "discipline within the organization and for the excellent record of good management the post enjoys."

Announcement was made that the Winter Bowling League will meet Friday, March 28, at 7:30 p. m. to make plans for their annual banquet.

Enlistees must qualify for certain MOS in the wire, radio, message center and cryptographic field or in administrative specialties. They must be of the white race and must be cleared in accordance with army regulations on clearance of personnel for cryptographic duties.

Delegation Holds Up Bill To Create Sanitary Districts

Lack Of Referendum Opposed By Members

The Allegany County delegation will hold in committee a bill proposed to create sanitary districts in the county, Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., delegation chairman, said last night because the measure does not provide for a referendum of citizens of the communities involved.

Under the bill, the sanitary districts would be supervised by a three- member commission. They would provide water supply, sewage and drainage systems to county municipalities outside Cumberland desiring such systems. A bond issue, backed by taxes and service charges, would be authorized to finance construction and installations.

The delegation chairman said the delegation is not opposed to setting up sanitary districts in the county in principle, but is opposed to the measure because no provision is made for a referendum, and because powers of condemnation of the commission are so broad that it is almost mandatory for the commission to take over waterworks in municipalities outside Cumberland.

Establishment of sanitary districts was discussed at a public meeting in Cumberland some weeks ago, and delegation members said last night that they are in accord with expressions made at the hearnigs, that people would have the right to vote on whether or not their communities should be placed under sanitary districts. They said they thought inclusion under such districts would be optional rather than mandatory and that they believed the people should have a chance to vote on it.

One bill that passed the House yesterday was that introduced by Del. Lester B. Reed. It is an act to enable the Allegany County Commissioners to borrow $2,000,000 for construction of schools at Mt. Savage, Lonaconing and Ellerslie. Borrowing the money is not made mandatory.

Another bill passed yesterday was one introduced by Delegates See, Ankeney and Myers that would authorize issuance of angler's licenses without fee to persons 65 years of age or older.

Kelly Answer Is Filed In Tax Exemption Case

Two Other Firms Will File Today

The first answers in the tax exemption cases instituted in Circuit Court by James H. Reed, this city, against the Board of Allegany County Commissioners and three county industries, was filed yesterday by William C. Walsh, attorney for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

The Kelly, the Celanese Corporation of America and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, each with county-granted tax exemptions on machinery and equipment were the targets of the court action to have the exemptions set aside.

The three firms, through their attorneys intervened, and the Court granted them until today to file answers. The other two are expected to comply with the Court's instructions sometime today, attaches at the Court House said.

Major contention on Walsh's answer is the assertion that the company has not received two previous exemptions, as alleged by Clarence Lippel, counsel for Reed in the three equity suits.

Walsh declared that the original Kelly-Springfield Tire Company which agreed to locate its plant here in 1916 was a New Jersey corporation, and was granted a ten-year exemption by the board in 1921; than an additional 10-year exemption was granted in 1931, but that in 1933 the firm went into receivership and that an entirely new company was organized under the laws of Maryland, with approval of the U. S. District Court.

This new Maryland company, Walsh continued, was granted a ten-year exemption in 1935, beginning in 1936, and this was the first exemption granted the new firm. The reorganization of the company was made possible by the exemption, Walsh pointed out.

Says It's Second Exemption

The attorney said the five-year exemption granted January 28 this year by the commissioners was therefore only the second exemption granted the new company.

Walsh also asserted that the suit was filed by Reed under the Uniform Declaratory Judgment Act of 1945, but Reed's counsel has failed to comply with the mandatory provisions of the act requiring that a copy of all such proceedings be served on the attorney-general of Maryland.

On that ground, Walsh asked that the proceedings be stayed until Reed complies with the provision. Section 11 of Article 31A, and the attorney-general is given adequate opportunity to examine the proceedings and determine whether he wishes to be heard in the action.

The attorney also pointed out that Reed's counsel had attacked the constitutionality of Chapter 7 of the Acts of 1931 of the General Assembly, giving the county board authority to grant such tax exemptions whenever it sees fit.

RECREATION BOARD—Shown above are five of the seven members of the new City Recreation Board, as they met last night at City Hall to elect officers. John J. Long, LaSalle High School coach (extreme right) was elected chairman, and J. Suter Kegg, who was unable to attend the meeting due to illness, was named secretary. The other member not present at the meeting was Clifton Van Roby. Others shown in the picture are (left to right) John I. Spiker, Mrs. C. Erich Roeder, Clair R. Mease and Charles L. Kopp.

Long Is Elected Chairman Of City Recreation Board

J. Suter Kegg Is Named Secretary

At an organization meeting of the newly appointed City Recreation Board last night in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post, John J. Long, LaSalle High School coach, was elected chairman and J. Suter Kegg, Evening Times sports writer, was named secretary.

Kegg and Clifton Van Roby, physical director at Central YMCA, were unable to attend the meeting.

Mayor Post opened the meeting by pledging full co-operation of the various city departments with the board of seven persons. Recalling that last year's appropriation for the city's playgrounds and Constitution Park amounted to $24,500, the mayor said a similar amount or possibly more will be available during the next fiscal year.

Sub-Committee Named

At the suggestion of Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, who was appointed to a seven-year term on the board by the Mayor and Council, Long named a sub-committee to draw up a skeleton outline of an adequate recreation program and the personnel needed for its operation.

The sub-committee, comprised of Kopp, Mrs. C. Erich Roeder and Clair R. Mease, who is president of the South Cumberland Playground Association, will meet at the Board of Education Building this Saturday at 1:15 p. m. Long will act as an ex-officio member of the sub-committee.

Its recommendations and suggestions will be submitted to the entire board at a meeting next Monday, March 24, at 7 p. m. in Mayor Post's office.

On the basis of the sub-committee's report, the board will then discuss budget requirements for the next fiscal year, preparatory to submitting its recommendations to the Mayor and Council.

In the discussion on the preliminary requirements for a recreation program here, Kopp said a full-time trained director should be retained on an annual salary basis to survey all present activities and agencies having to do with recreation, and to co-ordinate the program as it is developed.

Mease objected to employing a paid director in view of the size of the playground appropriation, but the four other board members present, including John I. Spiker, agreed that such a person is needed to give his entire time to the program.

Mayor Post said that if a director and secretary are employed after the program gets underway, arrangements can be made to set up an office in City Hall for their use. He added that in future there may be a full recreation department as part of the municipal organization.

Long read letters from Durham, N. C., and Johnstown, Pa., which were sent to the mayor recently in response to queries regarding recreational programs in those cities.

Other Programs Described

Durham reported that a full-time director is in charge of the program there, on an annual salary of $3,640, working with an advisory committee. The total recreation budget last year was $89,200.

In Johnstown, a municipal recreation commission has charge of the program, with a paid full-time secretary. Expenses are shared by the city and the school board.

At Kopp's suggestion, the board decided to request Kegg to write to various cities on the Eastern Seaboard with populations of from 25,000 to 50,000 for a description of their respective recreation programs.

Mease suggested that a public meeting be held to discuss the type of recreation program to be set up here, but the board decided that the sub-committee would be able to make the necessary suggestions on the basis of their meeting next Saturday.

Long stressed the fact that a rec-

Young Sailor Taken Ill Aboard Train

Robert Frank Knipper, fireman first class, United States Navy, was removed from Baltimore and Ohio train No. 5, here last night by Baltimore and Ohio railroad police and taken to Memorial Hospital in an ambulance.

Authorities said the young man was in a hysterical and almost violent condition, and was restrained at the hospital. Police thought at first the young sailor was drunk, but at the hospital, physicians said they could not detect intoxicants on him.

Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader, local recruiter was summoned to the hospital. He said the young man according to his papers was en route to the West Coast to report to a ship, and apparently boarded the train at Washington. He has several years of service. Chief Schrader said it was difficult to say what was wrong with the young man, and he did not talk to him as the boy was unconscious. Schrader said he didn't seem to have been drinking.

Governor Includes County Asylum In His Supplementary Budget

Provides $15,000 Additional Funds

Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., has provided in his supplementary budget for an additional $15,000 allocation for expenses at Sylvan Retreat, Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., who sought the increase, said last night.

The Governor provided in his original budget for an allowance of $10,000 in 1948 and $10,000 in 1949, an increase of $2,000 over allocations of previous years, but Whitworth appealed for more funds on the grounds that Allegany County is bearing some of the state's expense in caring for mental patients.

Earlier this month, Whitworth met with the Governor and also wrote him a letter asking for the increase, but the claim was turned down, although Lane said he thought it was a just one.

Whitworth said he did not know the Governor had reconsidered until he found the provision for more money in the supplemental budget.

With the original $10,000 allotted by the Governor plus the additional $15,000 now provided, the state will allow Allegany County $25,000 in each 1948 and 1949 for expenses at the asylum.

After the Governor granted the $10,000 allowance in his original budget, Whitworth appealed for an increase of $10,000 on the basis that the county should receive from the state the amount it would cost the state to care for an equal number of patients who are treated at the asylum if they were supported in state institutions.

Allegany County would receive $209,600 in 1948 under the state administration's estimate of allocation of the gasoline tax fund under the new state roads bill giving the counties one-fifth of the proposed five-cent gasoline tax, and 20 per cent of the motor vehicle revenue fund, according to an Associated Press dispatch. Under present law the county receives $136,753.

Garrett County would get $335,464 under the new law as against $192,401 under present law.

A provision in the bill would require the state to make up the difference, if the amount allocated a county under the proposal, fell below the amount allocated under present law.

Frank Iezzi Will Sing Tenor Role In Opera Here

Frank Iezzi, will sing the tenor role of Gastone in the New York Civic Opera Company's presentation of "La Traviata" at Fort Hill High School auditorium tomorrow night. He will also sing the role of Remandato when the company presents "Carmen" Friday night.

The Opera Company is sponsored here in the two productions tomorrow and Friday and a student matinee of "Carmen" Friday, by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Iezzi, a native of the United States, spent a number of years studying voice in Italy and after returning to this country enrolled in the Juiliard School of Music. His studies were cut short by the war when he went to work in a war plant. At the end of the war he returned to school to continue his voice studies. He appeared at the New York Town Hall in a recital and within 24 hours, William Reuteman had him under contract as a regular member of the Opera Company.

The company appeared in Lexington, Ky. Friday and Saturday nights, and reported yesterday that they received seven curtain calls on Friday for "Traviata" and nine curtain calls on Saturday for "Carmen".

Telephone Company Plans New Building

Work on plans for a new three-story fireproof brick building to be located at the corner of South Centre and Union Streets on the site of the parish house of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will begin immediately, according to Lee Taylor of the firm of Taylor and Fisher, Baltimore architects.

Taylor, whose firm is retained by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, of Baltimore City, said the company plans to install the most up-to-date telephone equipment in the new structure, the cost of which was not disclosed. The building may be increased to five stories if needed, he said.

Taylor, conferred with Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, regarding water and sewer service, flood levels and other matters, and secured copies of the city building and zoning codes, as well as a zoning map.

He said it is hoped to start construction in June, after the present building at the site is demolished and plans for the new telephone building are completed.

The parish house was purchased by the telephone company several months ago at a purchase price of approximately $55,000.

Patrols Plan Trip

The Western Maryland Motor Club announced yesterday that excursion rates have been obtained from the B. and O. Railroad for approximately 300 members of the School Boy Patrol for a trip to Washington in May for a national parade of the patrol organization.

Taxi Operator Sued For $3,500 By Two Women

Claim Injuries In Collision

Two damage suits were filed in Circuit Court yesterday against Lee E. Carpenter, trading as the Yellow Top Cab Company, for $3,500.

One action was brought by Mae V. Musgrove for $2,000 for damages to cover injuries sustained while riding in one of the company's cabs, driven by Robert H. Holler, December 20, 1946, toward South Cumberland. It is alleged the driver was negligent and collided with an auto at the corner of Centre and Williams streets, throwing the passenger to the floor and injuring her.

The other suit was brought for $1,500 by Emily J. Parker, a passenger in the same cab at the same time. She claims she was also injured when she was thrown against the front seat of the vehicle at the time of the crash.

Custody Of Child

In a decree signed by Associated Judge George Henderson, Arthur Turley was granted custody of his infant son, after a lengthy hearing in court. His wife, Maxine M. L. Turley, represented by Estel C. Kelley, fought to retain the custody of the boy. At the hearing in Court, in which T. L. Richards represented Turley, a number of witnesses including members of both Mr. and Mrs. Turley's families, two physicians and a minister testified.

An effort was made by the Court and the attorneys to bring about a reconciliation of the father and mother and the hearing lasted a full afternoon. The Court finally concluded that a reconciliation was not possible and awarded custody of the child to the father when it was disclosed that the mother had left home and had no permanent home or assured means of caring for him.

Divorce Decrees

Divorce decrees were signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster granting divorces as follows: Thomas Gordon Nelson from Sallie Rachael Nelson; Catherine Virginia Crawford from William Earl Crawford; and Leona Pearl Nycum, from Paul H. Nycum with the right to resume use of her maiden name, Leona Pearl Gaither.

"Retarder" Device To Be Installed By B. And O.

Work Is Scheduled To Start March 25

Installation of a retarder device to control the speed of cars over the hump in the eastbound yards of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here will begin March 25, H. F. Wyatt, Cumberland Division superintendent, said yesterday.

The new apparatus will expedite movement on the hump and will control cars better than they can be controlled with hand brakes, Wyatt said.

The retarder is being installed with the idea of efficiency in expediting movement and more careful handling of cars as they go over the hump, it was pointed out.

A device which graduates the speed of cars into the classification yard, the retarder is installed along the rails and is operated as a brake by an operator in the tower. The towerman in his operation raises the retarder so that it acts as a brake on the car wheel.

At the present time it is necessary for a man to ride each "cut" or car into the classification yards and handle it with a hand brake.

The retarder is designed to provide a smoother and safer operation.

An innovation in yard operation here, the retarder was patented in 1922 and was first installed on the Indiana Harbor Belt Railroad near Chicago. Since then it has been installed in numerous yards throughout the country.

B. AND O. FLAGMEN ARE INJURED WHEN MOTOR CAR CRASHES

Two Baltimore and Ohio Railroad flagmen, who were injured early last night when the motor car on which they were riding crashed against the rear of a caboose near Paw Paw, W. Va., were reported in "fairly good" condition last night in Memorial Hospital.

The injured men were listed as Belmont Cougill, 28, Okinoko, W. Va., who suffered from lacerations on the right side of the head and other injuries, and C. W. Kerns, 64, also of Okinoko, who suffered a possible fracture of the left leg and knee in the collision.

It was reported that a B. and O. train had stopped in a tunnel a short distance below Paw Paw and that the men on the motor car were unable to see the train because of smoke in the tunnel.

Textile Union Plans Meetings On Contract

A report on proceedings at the Rayon Alvisory Council held over the weekend will also be presented at the meetings.

Commissioners Want Hearings On Legislation

Are Opposed To Voting Machines

County Commissioners went on record formally by motion yesterday, opposing the purchase of voting machines, opposing the proposal to increase the salary of the state's attorney and favoring abolishing the office of assistant state's attorney.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert, in a general statement and motion covering all three subjects said he favors a hearing on these measures with the County Delegation to Annapolis. His motion was seconded by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr. and unanimously passed.

Lemmert expanded upon his views by declaring that the voting machines will cost the taxpayers of the county $140,000 "and the only people who will really benefit are a few politicians who want the returns faster."

He added that only two counties in the state, Montgomery and Frederick counties have machines now. The cost will place an added tax burden on property owners, and he added, "I am especially concerned with bringing as much tax relief as possible to all property owners, especially young veterans trying to buy their homes."

On the question of an increase in the salary of the state's attorney, he explained, the board went on record several weeks ago, opposing an increase from $4,000 to $6,000 per year. He said he has been informed that a bill is about to be introduced raising the salary to a higher figure than the $6,000 opposed by the Board several weeks ago.

He declared, "I am not in favor of increasing the salary of the state's attorney at all, and if it is done, I believe he should refrain from any private or outside practice. I am also in favor of eliminating and abolishing the office of assistant state's attorney. If the state's attorney needs any legal help in handling criminal cases in this county he can call in any able attorney as needed. The office of assistant state's attorney is unnecessary, in view of the fact that both have large outside practices."

Lemmert declared that the delegation should give some consideration to the numerous county employees who are working for as little as $110 per month. "It appears," he explained, "that the legislators are always anxious to raise salaries of those in the higher salary brackets, while the low paid employes are not given any consideration."

Child's Condition Is "Very Serious"

Three-year-old James Bennett, 17 Fifth Street, who was rushed from Allegany Hospital here Monday night to University Hospital, Baltimore, for a "highly technical" emergency operation to relieve pressure on his brain and save his life, was reported in a "very serious" condition last night.

A physician at the hospital said James underwent an operation early yesterday morning but added it was too soon to tell anything of the results. The lad, he explained, will probably have to undergo further surgery.

Local doctors said the boy, a patient at the hospital here for three weeks, is suffering from an expanding lesion in the skull and explained that an immediate operation was needed to save his life. He is the victim of one of those brain diseases—a tumor, abscess or meninges, it was stated.

James, the son of Mrs. Pauline Rhodes and Frank Bennett, was rushed to the hospital in a state police ambulance, accompanied by two volunteer nurses. His grandmother, Mrs. Emma C. Reed, 122 South Street, went to Baltimore by train to be with James.

Permit Is Sought For Used Car Lot

Willard Jesse Moore filed an appeal to the Board of Zoning Appeals yesterday after his application for a permit to use a lot at 248 North Mechanic Street for a used car lot and office was denied in the city engineer's office on the ground that the lot is in a Residential C zoning district.

The one-story frame building on the premises, formerly used as a residence, will be used as an office, Moore said. He stated that the lot is now used by buses of the Blue Ridge Transportation Company for layover parking to avoid traffic congestion at the Frederick Street terminal.

An agent at the terminal said that he has heard of no arrangements to secure other layover parking facilities for the buses. The lot is owned by Morris Cline, 700 North Mechanic Street.

Mrs. Nora Hewitt was granted a building permit to construct an addition to a one-story frame residence at 25 Massachusetts Avenue, at an estimated cost of $400. The four by nine-foot addition will have a concrete block foundation, frame walls and a composition roof. Work will be done by A. L. Will.

An occupancy permit was granted to Willard Johnson to use a one-story frame building at 304 South Center Street as a repair shop for electrical equipment. The building is owned by Wallace McKaig.

Strip Mine Bill Given Favorable Committee Report

Garrett County Again Included

The Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee of the House of Delegates yesterday reported out favorably with amendments a bill that would require strip miners of bituminous coal and fire clay to backfill their mine cuts.

The bill had been recommitted to the Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee after an Allegany County delegation report encountered opposition in the House, but it was reported out yesterday with many of the provisions that it originally contained when it was introduced by Delegate William H. Geppert.

Forty-nine amendments were added to the bill, but most of them related to the inclusion of strip miners of fire clay under the measure, according to Geppert.

Must Make Backfill

He said the measure was made state-wide with the inclusion of Garrett County, which had been dropped at the request of its delegation.

As amended the bill provides for the act to be administered by the Bureau of Mines and requires operators to provide a reasonable backfill in accordance with plans to be adopted by the Bureau of Mines, Geppert said.

Operators' bond would range from a minimum of $5,000 to a maximum of $20,000 and would have to be posted before beginning an operation. The amount would be determined by the Bureau of Mines.

The measure provides a penalty ranging from $5,000 to $10,000 for non-compliance with the regulations.

While operators would be required to make a reasonable backfill, they would not be required to plant trees, shrubs or grasses on the mined area as previously provided.

Also stricken from the measure as first amended was a provision that it would be administered by the County Commissioners. A five cents per ton tax likewise was eliminated.

License Bill Passes

The House of Delegates suspended rules yesterday to pass Senate Bill 396, introduced by Sen. Robert B. Kimble last week to validate present liquor licenses until midnight April 30. This bill was introduced after the Court of Appeals declared the county liquor law unconstitutional.

The House also passed yesterday a measure to exempt this county from a law providing that the tax collector stamp deeds to show taxes paid before the deeds are recorded.

Favorable report of the Judiciary Committee was given to a bill introduced by Delegate Geppert designed to protect the widow and children of persons killed in another state. The act deals with suits for damages under the "wrongful death" statute.

Two Men Injured, 3 Cars Damaged In Crash Here

Two persons were injured and three automobiles badly damaged in a three-car collision at the intersection of Decatur and Frederick Streets at 5:15 p. m. yesterday.

City Detective Edwin Lilya, who investigated, said three charges of violating the motor vehicle law were filed against Milson D. Leasure, Frostburg, driver of one of the automobiles involved.

According to Lilya, Leasure, driving north on Frederick Street, failed to stop for a stop sign and crashed against the side of a taxicab operated by Thomas Litten, 529 North Centre Street.

Shoved Against Car

Litten's cab, headed east on Decatur Street, was shoved against the westbound automobile driven by Harry W. Larrick, 448 Pennsylvania Avenue, according to the officers. He said Litten and Larrick, headed in opposite directions, were passing each other when the crash occurred.

Injured in the accident were Richard Kinser, 29, Bedford Valley, Pa., who was a passenger in Leasure's car, and Litten, 46.

Kinser, admitted to Allegany Hospital a block away, was treated for several abrasions on the head and knees and a possible back injury will be X-rayed today. His condition was said to be good.

Litten was treated for abrasions about the knees and will return to the hospital for X-rays.

One-Way Traffic

After the crash, the three vehicles came to a stop on the north side of Decatur Street and one-way traffic was directed around the wreckage by Officers John G. Powers and J. H. Stitcher.

Several hundred persons gathered at the scene of the crash, which took place during the close of business rush, and some of them narrowly escaped being run down by a coal truck which sped west on Decatur Street after some of the wreckage had been moved, Detective Lilya said. He added that officers tried to stop the driver with their whistles but he failed to halt. An investigation is being made to locate him, Lilya said.

Meat-Cutting Methods To Be Demonstrated

D. R. Miller, one of the four national representatives of the Chicago firm, will be in charge of the demonstration. All retail meat dealers and their clerks, whether or not they are members of the association, are invited to attend.

At last night's meeting of the organization in LaVale Fire Hall, attended by 100 persons, plans were made to attend the state convention to be held in Hagerstown May 4 and 5. George F. Garlitz, state president and former president of the local association, will preside. Annual election of state officers will be held.

Bill Would Give Salary Increases To Mayor, Council

Raise Is Provided For Circuit Clerk

Cumberland's Mayor and Council and the clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court would receive salary increases under measures introduced in the House of Delegates and the State Senate yesterday.

The Allegany County delegation introduced a bill providing for salary increases for the Mayor and Council but provided for a referendum on the question.

Sen. Robert B. Kimble introduced the meansure that would increase the salary of the clerk of court from $4,800 to $6,000.

The measure introduced by the delegation would increase the salary of the Mayor of Cumberland from $2,000 to $3,600 per year and the pay of council members would be raised from $1,500 to $2,400.

This proposal would be submitted to Cumberland voters at the next regular city election.

The Mayor and Council would be required also to spend at least five hours, instead of four, on city work each day except Sundays and holidays.

Would Regulate Taxicabs

Taxicabs operating in Cumberland would be brought under supervision of the Public Service Commission under terms of another bill introduced yesterday by Sen. Kimble.

The bill specifies that "cities over 40,000" would come under the bill's terms, and Cumberland is the only municipality outside of Baltimore with that large a population.

While the 1940 census lists Cumberland's population as between 39,000 and 40,000, Kimble said he believes present population of the city is over 40,000 and the bill would be applicable here. Taxicabs in Baltimore already are under Public Service Commission rules.

Effective next January 1, if it passes, all taxicabs in the city would be required to be equipped with meters and the PSC would approve rates and set the number of permits which could be issued.

Another bill introduced yesterday by Sen. Kimble would provide for the use of voting machines in Allegany County. He said this is a companion measure to one he introduced Saturday which made it mandatory for the County Commissioners to purchase the machines but authorized them to choose the method of obtaining the necessary funds to make the purchase.

Mandatory In 1948

Under the bill introduced yesterday, the use of voting machines instead of paper ballots would be mandatory in the 1948 primary election and thereafter. The County Commissioners would be directed to purchase the machines and the Board of Supervisors of Elections would determine the number and location of polling places.

Baltimore City and Montgomery County are the only sub-divisions now using voting machines. Bills are now pending that would bring them into use in Talbot and Prince George's County also.

A bill which probably would have resulted in Allegany County having seven members in the House of Delegates instead of six as at present, appeared slated for death, according to reports from Annapolis yesterday.

The county delegation met yesterday with William C. Walsh, Morgan C. Harris, D. Lindley Sloan, William A. Gunter and Charles Z. Heskett as well as with Rev. Ray M. Henthorne, Rev. B. Ralph Mark and former Delegate George Jeffries, in connection with a new retail liquor law to be prepared for Allegany County, replacing the act declared unconstitutional by the Court of Appeals.

William Blair Named Chaplain Henry Hart Post

Plan To Install Officers April 12

William Blair, 23-year-old veteran of World War II, was elected Chaplain of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, last night, in the only contested post in the annual election.

Blair, a Celanese power and auxiliary department employee, served in the United States Navy for three years as a pharmacists mate, second class, and was on duty in the Southwest Pacific.

Other officers named without opposition include James Lee Thrasher, commander; James Kloran, senior vice-commander; Verner Winner, junior vice-commander; Roy F. Everstine, quartermaster; Thomas K. Whalley, post judge advocate; Dr. Richard Williams, post surgeon; and Curtis MacA. Kime, three-year trustee.

Commander Raymond Reynolds appointed a committee to arrange for the installation of officers at the Queen City Hotel, April 12, with Department Adjutant Reginald H. Murphy of Baltimore as installing officer. Thomas B. Finan, Jr., will be master of ceremonies.

Reynolds named the following committee to take charge of the installation: John Fike, chairman, James E. Stemple, Gordon Hite, James Kloran, William Blair, Verner Winner and the post commander. Fike called a meeting of the committee for Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the post home.

Adjutant T. K. Whalley reported the post membership for 1947 is now 1,852 members.

Associate Judge George Henderson, long an active member of the post, was called upon to speak. He told the post that he is hearing good reports about the VFW. He complimented the officers of the post for maintaining "discipline within the organization and for the excellent record of good management the post enjoys."

Announcement was made that the Winter Bowling League will meet Friday, March 28, at 7:30 p. m. to make plans for their annual banquet.

Delegation Holds Up Bill To Create Sanitary Districts

Lack Of Referendum Opposed By Members

The Allegany County delegation will hold in committee a bill proposed to create sanitary districts in the county, Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., delegation chairman, said last night because the measure does not provide for a referendum of citizens of the communities involved.

Under the bill, the sanitary districts would be supervised by a three- member commission. They would provide water supply, sewage and drainage systems to county municipalities outside Cumberland desiring such systems. A bond issue, backed by taxes and service charges, would be authorized to finance construction and installations.

The delegation chairman said the delegation is not opposed to setting up sanitary districts in the county in principle, but is opposed to the measure because no provision is made for a referendum, and because powers of condemnation of the commission are so broad that it is almost mandatory for the commission to take over waterworks in municipalities outside Cumberland.

Establishment of sanitary districts was discussed at a public meeting in Cumberland some weeks ago, and delegation members said last night that they are in accord with expressions made at the hearings, that people would have the right to vote on whether or not their communities should be placed under sanitary districts. They said they thought inclusion under such districts would be optional rather than mandatory and that they believed the people should have a chance to vote on it.

One bill that passed the House yesterday was that introduced by Del. Lester B. Reed. It is an act to enable the Allegany County Commissioners to borrow $2,000,000 for construction of schools at Mt. Savage, Lonaconing and Ellerslie. Borrowing the money is not made mandatory.

Another bill passed yesterday was one introduced by Delegates See, Ankeney and Myers that would authorize issuance of angler's licenses without fee to persons 65 years of age or older.

Kelly Answer Is Filed In Tax Exemption Case

Two Other Firms Will File Today

The first answers in the tax exemption cases instituted in Circuit Court by James H. Reed, this city, against the Board of Allegany County Commissioners and three county industries, was filed yesterday by William C. Walsh, attorney for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

The Kelly, the Celanese Corporation of America and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, each with county-granted tax exemptions on machinery and equipment were the targets of the court action to have the exemptions set aside.

The three firms, through their attorneys intervened, and the Court granted them until today to file answers. The other two are expected to comply with the Court's instructions sometime today, attaches at the Court House said.

Major contention on Walsh's answer is the assertion that the company has not received two previous exemptions, as alleged by Clarence Lippel, counsel for Reed in the three equity suits.

Walsh declared that the original Kelly-Springfield Tire Company which agreed to locate its plant here in 1916 was a New Jersey corporation, and was granted a ten-year exemption by the board in 1921; than an additional 10-year exemption was granted in 1931, but that in 1933 the firm went into receivership and that an entirely new company was organized under the laws of Maryland, with approval of the U. S. District Court.

This new Maryland company, Walsh continued, was granted a ten-year exemption in 1935, beginning in 1936, and this was the first exemption granted the new firm. The reorganization of the company was made possible by the exemption, Walsh pointed out.

Says It's Second Exemption

The attorney said the five-year exemption granted January 28 this year by the commissioners was therefore only the second exemption granted the new company.

Walsh also asserted that the suit was filed by Reed under the Uniform Declaratory Judgment Act of 1945, but Reed's counsel has failed to comply with the mandatory provisions of the act requiring that a copy of all such proceedings be served on the attorney-general of Maryland.

On that ground, Walsh asked that the proceedings be stayed until Reed complies with the provision. Section 11 of Article 31A, and the attorney-general is given adequate opportunity to examine the proceedings and determine whether he wishes to be heard in the action.

The attorney also pointed out that Reed's counsel had attacked the constitutionality of Chapter 7 of the Acts of 1931 of the General Assembly, giving the county board authority to grant such tax exemptions whenever it sees fit.

RECREATION BOARD—Shown above are five of the seven members of the new City Recreation Board, as they met last night at City Hall to elect officers. John J. Long, LaSalle High School coach (extreme right) was elected chairman, and J. Suter Kegg, who was unable to attend the meeting due to illness, was named secretary. The other member not present at the meeting was Clifton Van Roby. Others shown in the picture are (left to right) John I. Spiker, Mrs. C. Erich Roeder, Clair R. Mease and Charles L. Kopp.

Long Is Elected Chairman Of City Recreation Board

J. Suter Kegg Is Named Secretary

At an organization meeting of the newly appointed City Recreation Board last night in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post, John J. Long, LaSalle High School coach, was elected chairman and J. Suter Kegg, Evening Times sports writer, was named secretary.

Kegg and Clifton Van Roby, physical director at Central YMCA, were unable to attend the meeting.

Mayor Post opened the meeting by pledging full co-operation of the various city departments with the board of seven persons. Recalling that last year's appropriation for the city's playgrounds and Constitution Park amounted to $24,500, the mayor said a similar amount or possibly more will be available during the next fiscal year.

Sub-Committee Named

At the suggestion of Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, who was appointed to a seven-year term on the board by the Mayor and Council, Long named a sub-committee to draw up a skeleton outline of an adequate recreation program and the personnel needed for its operation.

The sub-committee, comprised of Kopp, Mrs. C. Erich Roeder and Clair R. Mease, who is president of the South Cumberland Playground Association, will meet at the Board of Education Building this Saturday at 1:15 p. m. Long will act as an ex-officio member of the sub-committee.

Its recommendations and suggestions will be submitted to the entire board at a meeting next Monday, March 24, at 7 p. m. in Mayor Post's office.

On the basis of the sub-committee's report, the board will then discuss budget requirements for the next fiscal year, preparatory to submitting its recommendations to the Mayor and Council.

In the discussion on the preliminary requirements for a recreation program here, Kopp said a full-time trained director should be retained on an annual salary basis to survey all present activities and agencies having to do with recreation, and to co-ordinate the program as it is developed.

Mease objected to employing a paid director in view of the size of the playground appropriation, but the four other board members present, including John I. Spiker, agreed that such a person is needed to give his entire time to the program.

Mayor Post said that if a director and secretary are employed after the program gets underway, arrangements can be made to set up an office in City Hall for their use. He added that in future there may be a full recreation department as part of the municipal organization.

Long read letters from Durham, N. C., and Johnstown, Pa., which were sent to the mayor recently in response to queries regarding recreational programs in those cities.

Other Programs Described

Durham reported that a full-time director is in charge of the program there, on an annual salary of $3,640, working with an advisory committee. The total recreation budget last year was $89,200.

In Johnstown, a municipal recreation commission has charge of the program, with a paid full-time secretary. Expenses are shared by the city and the school board.

At Kopp's suggestion, the board decided to request Kegg to write to various cities on the Eastern Seaboard with populations of from 25,000 to 50,000 for a description of their respective recreation programs.

Mease suggested that a public meeting be held to discuss the type of recreation program to be set up here, but the board decided that the sub-committee would be able to make the necessary suggestions on the basis of their meeting next Saturday.

Long stressed the fact that a rec-

Young Sailor Taken Ill Aboard Train

Robert Frank Knipper, fireman first class, United States Navy, was removed from Baltimore and Ohio train No. 5, here last night by Baltimore and Ohio railroad police and taken to Memorial Hospital in an ambulance.

Authorities said the young man was in a hysterical and almost violent condition, and was restrained at the hospital. Police thought at first the young sailor was drunk, but at the hospital, physicians said they could not detect intoxicants on him.

Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader, local recruiter was summoned to the hospital. He said the young man according to his papers was en route to the West Coast to report to a ship, and apparently boarded the train at Washington. He has several years of service. Chief Schrader said it was difficult to say what was wrong with the young man, and he did not talk to him as the boy was unconscious. Schrader said he didn't seem to have been drinking.

Governor Includes County Asylum In His Supplementary Budget

Provides $15,000 Additional Funds

Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., has provided in his supplementary budget for an additional $15,000 allocation for expenses at Sylvan Retreat, Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., who sought the increase, said last night.

The Governor provided in his original budget for an allowance of $10,000 in 1948 and $10,000 in 1949, an increase of $2,000 over allocations of previous years, but Whitworth appealed for more funds on the grounds that Allegany County is bearing some of the state's expense in caring for mental patients.

Earlier this month, Whitworth met with the Governor and also wrote him a letter asking for the increase, but the claim was turned down, although Lane said he thought it was a just one.

Whitworth said he did not know the Governor had reconsidered until he found the provision for more money in the supplemental budget.

With the original $10,000 allotted by the Governor plus the additional $15,000 now provided, the state will allow Allegany County $25,000 in each 1948 and 1949 for expenses at the asylum.

After the Governor granted the $10,000 allowance in his original budget, Whitworth appealed for an increase of $10,000 on the basis that the county should receive from the state the amount it would cost the state to care for an equal number of patients who are treated at the asylum if they were supported in state institutions.

Allegany County would receive $209,600 in 1948 under the state administration's estimate of allocation of the gasoline tax fund under the new state roads bill giving the counties one-fifth of the proposed five-cent gasoline tax, and 20 per cent of the motor vehicle revenue fund, according to an Associated Press dispatch. Under present law the county receives $136,753.

Garrett County would get $335,464 under the new law as against $192,401 under present law.

A provision in the bill would require the state to make up the difference, if the amount allocated a county under the proposal, fell below the amount allocated under present law.

Frank Iezzi Will Sing Tenor Role In Opera Here

Frank Iezzi, will sing the tenor role of Gastone in the New York Civic Opera Company's presentation of "La Traviata" at Fort Hill High School auditorium tomorrow night. He will also sing the role of Remandato when the company presents "Carmen" Friday night.

The Opera Company is sponsored here in the two productions tomorrow and Friday and a student matinee of "Carmen" Friday, by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Iezzi, a native of the United States, spent a number of years studying voice in Italy and after returning to this country enrolled in the Juilliard School of Music. His studies were cut short by the war when he went to work in a war plant. At the end of the war he returned to school to continue his voice studies. He appeared at the New York Town Hall in a recital and within 24 hours, William Reuteman had him under contract as a regular member of the Opera Company.

The company appeared in Lexington, Ky. Friday and Saturday nights, and reported yesterday that they received seven curtain calls on Friday for "Traviata" and nine curtain calls on Saturday for "Carmen".

Telephone Company Plans New Building

Work on plans for a new three-story fireproof brick building to be located at the corner of South Centre and Union Streets on the site of the parish house of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will begin immediately, according to Lee Taylor of the firm of Taylor and Fisher, Baltimore architects.

Taylor, whose firm is retained by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, of Baltimore City, said the company plans to install the most up-to-date telephone equipment in the new structure, the cost of which was not disclosed. The building may be increased to five stories if needed, he said.

Taylor, conferred with Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, regarding water and sewer service, flood levels and other matters, and secured copies of the city building and zoning codes, as well as a zoning map.

He said it is hoped to start construction in June, after the present building at the site is demolished and plans for the new telephone building are completed.

The parish house was purchased by the telephone company several months ago at a purchase price of approximately $55,000.

Patrols Plan Trip

The Western Maryland Motor Club announced yesterday that excursion rates have been obtained from the B. and O. Railroad for approximately 300 members of the School Boy Patrol for a trip to Washington in May for a national parade of the patrol organization.

Taxi Operator Sued For $3,500 By Two Women

Claim Injuries In Collision

Two damage suits were filed in Circuit Court yesterday against Lee E. Carpenter, trading as the Yellow Top Cab Company, for $3,500.

One action was brought by Mae V. Musgrove for $2,000 for damages to cover injuries sustained while riding in one of the company's cabs, driven by Robert H. Holler, December 20, 1946, toward South Cumberland. It is alleged the driver was negligent and collided with an auto at the corner of Centre and Williams streets, throwing the passenger to the floor and injuring her.

The other suit was brought for $1,500 by Emily J. Parker, a passenger in the same cab at the same time. She claims she was also injured when she was thrown against the front seat of the vehicle at the time of the crash.

Custody Of Child

In a decree signed by Associated Judge George Henderson, Arthur Turley was granted custody of his infant son, after a lengthy hearing in court. His wife, Maxine M. L. Turley, represented by Estel C. Kelley, fought to retain the custody of the boy. At the hearing in Court, in which T. L. Richards represented Turley, a number of witnesses including members of both Mr. and Mrs. Turley's families, two physicians and a minister testified.

An effort was made by the Court and the attorneys to bring about a reconciliation of the father and mother and the hearing lasted a full afternoon. The Court finally concluded that a reconciliation was not possible and awarded custody of the child to the father when it was disclosed that the mother had left home and had no permanent home or assured means of caring for him.

Divorce Decrees

Work Is Scheduled To Start March 25

Installation of a retarder device to control the speed of cars over the hump in the eastbound yards of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here will begin March 25, H. F. Wyatt, Cumberland Division superintendent, said yesterday.

The new apparatus will expedite movement on the hump and will control cars better than they can be controlled with hand brakes, Wyatt said.

The retarder is being installed with the idea of efficiency in expediting movement and more careful handling of cars as they go over the hump, it was pointed out.

A device which graduates the speed of cars into the classification yard, the retarder is installed along the rails and is operated as a brake by an operator in the tower. The towerman in his operation raises the retarder so that it acts as a brake on the car wheel.

At the present time it is necessary for a man to ride each "cut" or car into the classification yards and handle it with a hand brake.

The retarder is designed to provide a smoother and safer operation.

An innovation in yard operation here, the retarder was patented in 1922 and was first installed on the Indiana Harbor Belt Railroad near Chicago. Since then it has been installed in numerous yards throughout the country.

B. AND O. FLAGMEN ARE INJURED WHEN MOTOR CAR CRASHES

Two Baltimore and Ohio Railroad flagmen, who were injured early last night when the motor car on which they were riding crashed against the rear of a caboose near Paw Paw, W. Va., were reported in "fairly good" condition last night in Memorial Hospital.

The injured men were listed as Belmont Cougill, 28, Okinoko, W. Va., who suffered from lacerations on the right side of the head and other injuries, and C. W. Kerns, 64, also of Okinoko, who suffered a possible fracture of the left leg and knee in the collision.

It was reported that a B. and O. train had stopped in a tunnel a short distance below Paw Paw and that the men on the motor car were unable to see the train because of smoke in the tunnel.

A report on proceedings at the Rayon Alvisory Council held over the weekend will also be presented at the meetings.

Commissioners Want Hearings On Legislation

Are Opposed To Voting Machines

County Commissioners went on record formally by motion yesterday, opposing the purchase of voting machines, opposing the proposal to increase the salary of the state's attorney and favoring abolishing the office of assistant state's attorney.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert, in a general statement and motion covering all three subjects said he favors a hearing on these measures with the County Delegation to Annapolis. His motion was seconded by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr. and unanimously passed.

Lemmert expanded upon his views by declaring that the voting machines will cost the taxpayers of the county $140,000 "and the only people who will really benefit are a few politicians who want the returns faster."

He added that only two counties in the state, Montgomery and Frederick counties have machines now. The cost will place an added tax burden on property owners, and he added, "I am especially concerned with bringing as much tax relief as possible to all property owners, especially young veterans trying to buy their homes."

On the question of an increase in the salary of the state's attorney, he explained, the board went on record several weeks ago, opposing an increase from $4,000 to $6,000 per year. He said he has been informed that a bill is about to be introduced raising the salary to a higher figure than the $6,000 opposed by the Board several weeks ago.

He declared, "I am not in favor of increasing the salary of the state's attorney at all, and if it is done, I believe he should refrain from any private or outside practice. I am also in favor of eliminating and abolishing the office of assistant state's attorney. If the state's attorney needs any legal help in handling criminal cases in this county he can call in any able attorney as needed. The office of assistant state's attorney is unnecessary, in view of the fact that both have large outside practices."

Lemmert declared that the delegation should give some consideration to the numerous county employees who are working for as little as $110 per month. "It appears," he explained, "that the legislators are always anxious to raise salaries of those in the higher salary brackets, while the low paid employes are not given any consideration."

Child's Condition Is "Very Serious"

Three-year-old James Bennett, 17 Fifth Street, who was rushed from Allegany Hospital here Monday night to University Hospital, Baltimore, for a "highly technical" emergency operation to relieve pressure on his brain and save his life, was reported in a "very serious" condition last night.

A physician at the hospital said James underwent an operation early yesterday morning but added it was too soon to tell anything of the results. The lad, he explained, will probably have to undergo further surgery.

Local doctors said the boy, a patient at the hospital here for three weeks, is suffering from an expanding lesion in the skull and explained that an immediate operation was needed to save his life. He is the victim of one of those brain diseases—a tumor, abscess or meninges, it was stated.

James, the son of Mrs. Pauline Rhodes and Frank Bennett, was rushed to the hospital in a state police ambulance, accompanied by two volunteer nurses. His grandmother, Mrs. Emma C. Reed, 122 South Street, went to Baltimore by train to be with James.

Permit Is Sought For Used Car Lot

Willard Jesse Moore filed an appeal to the Board of Zoning Appeals yesterday after his application for a permit to use a lot at 248 North Mechanic Street for a used car lot and office was denied in the city engineer's office on the ground that the lot is in a Residential C zoning district.

The one-story frame building on the premises, formerly used as a residence, will be used as an office, Moore said. He stated that the lot is now used by buses of the Blue Ridge Transportation Company for layover parking to avoid traffic congestion at the Frederick Street terminal.

An agent at the terminal said that he has heard of no arrangements to secure other layover parking facilities for the buses. The lot is owned by Morris Cline, 700 North Mechanic Street.

Mrs. Nora Hewitt was granted a building permit to construct an addition to a one-story frame residence at 25 Massachusetts Avenue, at an estimated cost of $400. The four by nine-foot addition will have a concrete block foundation, frame walls and a composition roof. Work will be done by A. L. Will.

An occupancy permit was granted to Willard Johnson to use a one-story frame building at 304 South Center Street as a repair shop for electrical equipment. The building is owned by Wallace McKaig.

Strip Mine Bill Given Favorable Committee Report

Garrett County Again Included

The Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee of the House of Delegates yesterday reported out favorably with amendments a bill that would require strip miners of bituminous coal and fire clay to backfill their mine cuts.

The bill had been recommitted to the Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee after an Allegany County delegation report encountered opposition in the House, but it was reported out yesterday with many of the provisions that it originally contained when it was introduced by Delegate William H. Geppert.

Forty-nine amendments were added to the bill, but most of them related to the inclusion of strip miners of fire clay under the measure, according to Geppert.

Must Make Backfill

He said the measure was made state-wide with the inclusion of Garrett County, which had been dropped at the request of its delegation.

As amended the bill provides for the act to be administered by the Bureau of Mines and requires operators to provide a reasonable backfill in accordance with plans to be adopted by the Bureau of Mines, Geppert said.

Operators' bond would range from a minimum of $5,000 to a maximum of $20,000 and would have to be posted before beginning an operation. The amount would be determined by the Bureau of Mines.

The measure provides a penalty ranging from $5,000 to $10,000 for non-compliance with the regulations.

While operators would be required to make a reasonable backfill, they would not be required to plant trees, shrubs or grasses on the mined area as previously provided.

Also stricken from the measure as first amended was a provision that it would be administered by the County Commissioners. A five cents per ton tax likewise was eliminated.

License Bill Passes

The House of Delegates suspended rules yesterday to pass Senate Bill 396, introduced by Sen. Robert B. Kimble last week to validate present liquor licenses until midnight April 30. This bill was introduced after the Court of Appeals declared the county liquor law unconstitutional.

The House also passed yesterday a measure to exempt this county from a law providing that the tax collector stamp deeds to show taxes paid before the deeds are recorded.

Favorable report of the Judiciary Committee was given to a bill introduced by Delegate Geppert designed to protect the widow and children of persons killed in another state. The act deals with suits for damages under the "wrongful death" statute.

Two Men Injured, 3 Cars Damaged In Crash Here

Two persons were injured and three automobiles badly damaged in a three-car collision at the intersection of Decatur and Frederick Streets at 5:15 p. m. yesterday.

City Detective Edwin Lilya, who investigated, said three charges of violating the motor vehicle law were filed against Milson D. Leasure, Frostburg, driver of one of the automobiles involved.

According to Lilya, Leasure, driving north on Frederick Street, failed to stop for a stop sign and crashed against the side of a taxicab operated by Thomas Litten, 529 North Centre Street.

Shoved Against Car

Litten's cab, headed east on Decatur Street, was shoved against the westbound automobile driven by Harry W. Larrick, 448 Pennsylvania Avenue, according to the officers. He said Litten and Larrick, headed in opposite directions, were passing each other when the crash occurred.

Injured in the accident were Richard Kinser, 29, Bedford Valley, Pa., who was a passenger in Leasure's car, and Litten, 46.

Kinser, admitted to Allegany Hospital a block away, was treated for several abrasions on the head and knees and a possible back injury will be X-rayed today. His condition was said to be good.

Litten was treated for abrasions about the knees and will return to the hospital for X-rays.

One-Way Traffic

After the crash, the three vehicles came to a stop on the north side of Decatur Street and one-way traffic was directed around the wreckage by Officers John G. Powers and J. H. Stitcher.

Several hundred persons gathered at the scene of the crash, which took place during the close of business rush, and some of them narrowly escaped being run down by a coal truck which sped west on Decatur Street after some of the wreckage had been moved, Detective Lilya said. He added that officers tried to stop the driver with their whistles but he failed to halt. An investigation is being made to locate him, Lilya said.
